A DYNAMITE SCHEME

London Police Make An Important Discovery.

THEY FIND A TIN CAN FULL

The Owner Came From The United States—French Troops on the Frontier.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—In connection with the arrest of a man at Hamstead yesterday, the police searched the rooms of a man named Schneider, just arrived from the United States. He saw them coming and decamped. They found in the room a tin can containing 24 pounds of dynamite in cakes. Before opening it, it was immersed in a cistern, where it floated and foamed over the sides of the receptacle. It was then dispatched to the government explosive laboratory. There it was ascertained that it contained fuses and all the apparatus necessary for explosions, and that it would have had a terribly destructive effect. The police expect to make a large number of arrests in connection with the affair, as they believe they have discovered a genuine dynamite plot.

The Irish nationalists scout the idea that Schneider had anything to do with the Irish physical force section. They say his name is enough to stamp him as a German anarchist, probably from New York or Chicago, supplying anarchists of France, Austria or Spain with explosives.

The Evening Standard adds to the excitement by announcing that the police have discovered several bombs in a swell cafe in the West End.

DOLPH AFTER GROVER.

The President Arraigned on the Hawaiian Affair.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—In the senate yesterday Senator Dolph addressed that body on that part of the president's message relating to Hawaii. He began by expressing his surprise at the utterance of the president in his message. Dolph said he could not conceive it possible the administration had determined upon the forcible overthrow of the existing government and the restoration of a corrupt and licentious queen. If such had been the intention of the administration, the expression by the press of the country of almost unanimous public opinion against such a course, he believed, would have changed the purpose of the administration and have caused the president to modify his instructions to the American minister to Hawaii. Dolph read a part of the reference of the president in his message to Hawaii and asked whether the report of the personal representative of the president acting under secret instructions and conducting an ex parte examination was entitled to more credence than the official report of the former American minister to Hawaii, and of American naval officers and representatives of the Hawaiian government to this country, and of information received from the Christian and intelligent persons of Hawaii since the revolution.

Troops on the Italian Frontier.

ROME, Dec. 5.—Riforma publishes a letter which affirms that there are 40,000 French troops echeloned between Nice and Barcelonnette, with large advance posts within a few yards of the Italian frontier. Along the same line the French forces are being gradually advanced toward the frontier. There are immense quantities of war material at their disposal, and they appear to be prepared for a sudden attack. The writer calls the attention of the Italian government to the seriousness of this situation.

Easy to take—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Smallest, easiest, cheapest. They're tiny, sugar-coated, antibilious granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts. Without disturbance or trouble, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved and cured. Permanently cured, too. By their mild and natural action, these little Pellets lead the system into natural ways again. Their influence lasts.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Disaster that Would Result from the Tariff Bill.

From our Regular Correspondent.] WASHINGTON, Dec. 1, 1893.

The Cleveland tariff bill has been before the public four days and the most careful study fails to find one single redeeming feature therein. It would, if enacted a law, turn over the cream of the American market, the finest in the world, to Americans in exchange therefor are glittering promises of an increase in the foreign trade of the United States, promises which are not believed in even by those who have made them. It is admitted that free wool would put an end to the production of wool in this country and that free iron ore and coal will cause foreign coal and iron ore to be used exclusively in the neighborhood of every Atlantic seaport and that American iron ore and coal will be used nowhere except at places so far in the interior that the freight rates will allow them to compete with foreign products.

These are only specimens of the manner in which American industries have been treated by this bill. The same holds good throughout the bill. There is hardly a single industry of any consequence in the United States that is not struck at in some way. And as if that were not evil enough to be contained in a single bill, this one changes the method of imposing the duty upon many of the articles which it leaves upon the dutiable list from specific to ad valorem, a system which has been condemned by nearly every secretary of the treasury the country has had as one that encourages fraud and puts a premium upon deception. The bill is dishonest in every way. While purporting to be a tariff for revenue its makers estimate that it would produce $50,000,000 a year less than the McKinley law. It leaves the sugar bounty, which the democrats claimed to oppose on constitutional grounds and provides for its continuance eight years, dropping a quarter of a cent each year. The question naturally arises, how can a bounty of 13 cents be constitutional if a bounty of 2 cents be unconstitutional?

There is, however, one consoling thing about this bill. It is so utterly bad and vicious that it cannot possibly become a law in its present shape, although Mr. Cleveland's power may be sufficiently strong to force it through the house without amendment, but of that there are doubts. The constituents of democratic members who will feel the reductions in wages and loss of employment will make themselves heard and felt as soon as they are brought to a realizing sense of the injury to themselves that is contained in the bill. Many believe that the bill has been made public in its present shape to feel the public pulse and that the feature which prove most obnoxious will later on be eliminated or modified by a democratic caucus. The report of the republican minority of the house ways and means committee, upon which work is now being pushed, promises to be a document that will make republican converts by the thousand. It will probably be ready by the last of next or the first of the week after.

The democrats of the ways and means committee are still undecided about a single feature of the internal revenue bill, which they will have to prepare to meet the big deficiency created by their tariff bill. They wish to include the income tax, but so many vigorous protests have been filed against it by leading democrats that it is not certain they will.

Secretary Herbert, not having a son to take care of, has introduced a new variety of nepotism by appointing his son-in-law chief clerk of the navy department.

It is certain that Mr. G. D. Johnson, of Louisiana, who was the only democratic member of the civil service commission, did not enjoy his Thanksgiving dinner. Cause why? He was prematurely removed from office by Mr. Cleveland this week. Mr. Johnson has ever since the democratic administration came into office acted as though he thought it was his duty to stand by the most outrageous violations of the civil service law, in favor of democrats, rather than to enforce that law. He has been going from bad to worse in that direction, and when the time came to prepare the annual report of the commission, which is now in the hands of Mr. Cleveland, there was an open rupture between him and his republican colleagues, and he refused to sign their report and wrote one of his own. That brought matters to a crisis and Commissioner Roosevelt told Mr. Cleveland that he would not remain on the commission if Johnson did. And Johnson didn't. Prof. Proctor, of Kentucky, has been appointed to the vacancy. CAR.

A New Argument Against Corsets.

This is the shape of a woman's waist on which a corset tight is laced. The ribs deformed by being squeezed press on the lungs, till they're diseased. The heart is jammed and cannot pump; the liver is a torpid lump; the stomach crushed, cannot digest; and in a mess are all compressed. Therefore this silly woman grows to be a fearful mess of woes, but thinks she has a lovely shape, though hideous as a crippled ape.

This is a woman's natural waist which corsets never yet discharged. Inside it is a mine of health. Outside of charms it has a wealth. It is a thing of beauty true, and a sweet joy forever new. It needs no artful padding vile, or bustle big "to give it style." Its strong and solid, plump and sound, and hard to get one arm around. Alas, if women only knew the mischief that these corsets do, they'd let Dame Nature have her way, and never let her waste to "stay."

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of Iowa during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day he was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.
