THE NEW BILL.

Just as the people were congratulating themselves that the tide of the financial stringency was turning it is swelling again since the news of the new tariff bill, prepared by the democratic majority of the ways and means committee. From its very announcement the symptoms of depression, so pronounced in the early summer, are again apparent. This is no free trade country. Again and again the voice of the people has pronounced against it, but, undismayed, the democrats keep bringing it up for perennial inspection. They should let it alone, and if they cannot resurrect some other old issue that stands a better chance of adoption, set their wits to work and make a new one. In consequence of the projected bill, wool immediately tumbled to nothing. Free wool was of course looked for and is much regretted, but free wool means a complete transformation of the industry, the re-learning of the whole business, and the re-equipment of our mills. Before the domestic manufacturers can adjust themselves to these new conditions under these proposed rates of duty the foreigners will have had opportunity to possess themselves of the domestic market. There will be an interval of a year or two in which they will have things all their own way in this market, and in the meanwhile a considerable percentage of existing machinery will retire permanently from business in despair at the future prospects. The rate of wages in those mills which do operate will be lowered from 20 to 30 per cent. The bill is a terrible blow to the wool industry. The New York Mail and Express says: "The South is beginning to comprehend that it has great interests in maintaining protection. Louisiana, with its sugar plantations; Georgia and Tennessee, with their marble and other deposits; Virginia and West Virginia with their coal mines, and Alabama, with its great iron resources, are greatly benefited by the McKinley law. The Louisiana sugar planters and the West Virginia coal mine owners have already asked the house ways and means committee to consider their interests, and the business men of Birmingham, Ala., have invited the congressional delegation of the state to visit the place and learn that free coal and iron will mean its ruin.

The Oregon National bank of Portland has failed, this time for good, and will at once go into the hands of receivers.

Col. North says the new tariff bill is not on a line with the Chicago platform. Who said it was?

Congressman Ellis for a novice is doing grand work. He is the father of the house bill granting further time to settlers, and has stuck to it with bull dog tenacity until the end was accomplished. Incidentally it is noteworthy to say that it was one of the first bills to pass both houses, and went through without alteration or modification. If the president has not yet signed the bill we will warrant the assertion that Ellis can't help it.

Freaks of Memory.

A smart young cavalry officer was recently exercising his regiment upon the drill ground when the familiar words of command suddenly slipped from his mind, and the strenuous effort made to recall them was utterly futile. In order to cover his embarrassment he was compelled to retire from command under the plea of illness. The fugitive sentence came to him when he reached his rooms. A still more singular case is that of a well-known and esteemed merchant, whose memory so treacherously failed him one morning after leaving home that he was totally unable to locate his offices, and was actually compelled to inquire as to their whereabouts. Another interesting example is that of a popular novelist who had nearly finished an important work upon which he was engaged when a sudden failure of memory deprived him of his plot and necessitated the laying aside of the book for more than a week; then the association of ideas recalled the missing plot, the novel was brought to a successful issue and enjoyed a wide circulation.—Boston Globe.

PUBLISHING THE BANNIS.

The Peculiar Mistake of a Sexton Causes the Postponement of a Wedding.

A few years ago a ludicrous, albeit vexatious, incident occurred at a church in Larkhall. A rustic couple, after having had the banns published the prescribed number of times, proceeded to the church to be joined in holy wedlock. The service was conducted without a hitch until the officiating clergyman arrived at that part where he asked: "William Wisner, wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" when the bridegroom replied with some astonishment that his name was not William Wisner.

The ceremony was, of course, suspended, and on investigation being made as to the cause of the mistake it transpired that the sexton of the church had written to the sexton of the church requesting him to have the banns published, and concluded his letter thus: "So no more from your well wisher and Mary Williams." The sexton, thinking that William Wisner was the name of the intending benedict, published the banns accordingly, and the disappointed couple were compelled to await the publication of the banns in their proper names.

Some years ago a middle-aged agricultural laborer called upon the session clerk of Allou and asked him what the charge was for publishing the "series"—i. e., banns of marriage—three times on the same Sunday. "A pound," replied the clerk. "Aye," said the other, "an' what d'ye tak' when ye tak' two Sundays to do it?" "Half a guinea," was the reply. "An' what d'ye charge when ye tak' three Sundays to do it?" "Seven and six," answered the clerk, with an amused air. "Aye, man," rejoined the querist, "I see; the langer ye tak' to do it the cheaper it gets. Just cry awa' till ye pay yerself!"

And he took his departure without more ado.—London Tid-Bits.

THE BLACK SHEEP.

John Turned Out Bad—He Went to the Legislature.

"On one occasion," said a story-telling congressman to a group of newspaper men, "I was in the mountains of Kentucky and stayed all night with an old farmer who was considerably above the average for that section. After supper we talked politics and religion for awhile, and finally worked around to personal subjects. He didn't know who I was, but I was going to spring it on him, just to see how it would affect him when he found he was entertaining a congressman unawares. "How many sons have you?" I asked, when he had been talking family a little.

"Six." "Ah! that's a fine lot of boys." "Yes, and they are fine boys." "Have they all turned out well?" "All but one," and the old man's voice saddened somewhat. "Ah! I said, not wishing to ask him about the black sheep directly. "Yes, John is the one; he went to the legislature." "Oh! I laughed, 'he might have done worse.' "Yes," replied the father, gloomily, "I s'pose he might. They wanted him to run for congress, but he wouldn't do it."—Detroit Free Press.

No Wonder He Lost His Temper.

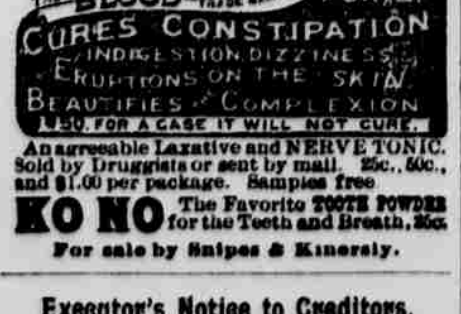

I heard a story the other day that may be new to most of you. An active young woman entered a large shop recently and seeking out the silk department camped there for a real pleasant time. The salesman was amiable and glad to show her the different shades and qualities. At least he said he was. But he had not calculated upon the "staying qualities" of his caller. For fully one-half hour she compelled him to hop up and down a ladder, laden with rolls of silk, but none could she find that suited her. At last he had taken down all but two rolls, and, as he leaned against his ladder and wiped away the beads of perspiration, he said: "Well, really, madam, I don't see that we can suit you." Excuse me for saying it, but you really don't seem to know what you want."

To which she responded: "Well, I don't want to buy anything to-day. I was just looking for a couple of friends and—"

Here the exasperated clerk broke in: "Looking for a couple of friends? Well, madam, if you think they're in those two rolls on the shelf I'll take those down, too."—Chicago Tribune.

THE GETTING IT DOWN

is bad enough, with the ordinary pill. But the having it down is worse. And, after all the disturbance, there's only a little temporary good. From beginning to end, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are better. They're the smallest and easiest to take—tiny, sugar-coated granules that any child is ready for. Then they do their work so easily and so naturally that it lasts. They absolutely and permanently cure Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. They don't shock and weaken the system, like the huge, old-fashioned pills. And they're more effective. One little Pellet for a corrective or laxative—three for a cathartic. They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

The MAKERS of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say: "If we can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Now you can see what is said of other remedies, and decide which is most likely to cure you. Costs only 50 cents.
