MONDAY, . . . DEC. 11, 1893

The best time for workmen to strike is when business is brisk and when, consequently, labor is in great demand; when, for the same reason, employers cannot afford to shut up their mills or railway companies to reduce their scale of operations. The worst time to strike is when business is dull, for then there are always plenty of men ready to take vacant places and employers find it more profitable to quit business or curtail it than to continue in full force. Ergo, the present is a hard time to strike.

Anarchism is cowardly and besides productive of no good. The bomb thrown Saturday in the chamber of deputies at Georgia bar. Paris will have no effect on the government but to strengthen it, and will correspondingly weaken the cause of the anarchists and the socialists, who are inwhich killed Lincoln and Garfield, or the bomb which killed the Chicago policemen in Haymarket, have resulted in Mr. J. J. KEIL Sharpsburg, Pa., any benefit it has yet to be demonstrated. The mission of some men born in this world is to destroy, not to upbuild, and these are mortal devils.

Salem wants everything. The average life of a domestic hog is less than a year. When they fatten to a certain extent they cease to be profitable and are slaughtered. Salem is trying to devour all the swill, to the exclusion of the other towns in the state, which should have their rightful portion. Salem must be slaughtered. An injunction on the branch asylum would so delay that project that there would be no hope of building it anywhere in Eastern Oregon under the provisions of the act of the legislature, and the construction would be delayed at least two years, and perhaps longer. Meanwhile the number of insane persons taken to Salem are daily increasing, and the state asylum, already crowded to its fullest capacity, becomes more so, interfering with sanitation and making the whole routine of work burdensome and unsatisfactory. Why should Salem keep interposing obstacles to prevent what the legislature, the only representation of the people, enacts. Salem is offensive, she hath become gross with mercenary passions, caring nothing for her neighbor and nothing for humanity. She should be given a salutary lesson. Let the next Eastern and Southern Oregon representatives be elected who will favor moving the capital to Portland, the great heart center of the state, and here let it remain.

CURRENT PRESS COMMENT.

The president's hand has lost its cunning. He has not succeeded in inventing a new catch phrase in his message.

The newest political party will have to find better endorsers than Mrs. Lease and Jerry Simpson before it is taken seriously by the country.

The workingmen of the country under democratic administration are like the lilies of the field. "They toil not; neither do they spin;" and the mugwumps tell them that "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed" as they are. Which is true.

Minister Willis reports to the president that he does not find conditions in Hawaii as they were supposed to be when he left Washington, which is merely the diplomatic way of calling "My Commissioner" Blount a liar.

It is said that it was Colorado's bachelor miners who carried the state for woman suffrage. It was a sly scheme to inveigle some of the superfluous female population of the east to the Evelees Eden of the wild and wooly west. Colorado will make a surprising showing at the next census.

J. J. Van Allen declines the Italian mission in a neat letter to Secretary of State Gresham, that reads very much as though it was dictated by the president himself. It is the most perfect example of making the best of a bad bargain that has yet been given to the public. Van

----AND ----

During the coming year there will be an immense number of matters of the most vital interest to farmers dealt with by Congress and the Executive Departments at Washington. It is highly important that the farmers be kept promptly and fully informed as to what is being planned and done affecting them at the National Capital. They should all, therefore, take The American Farmer, which, being on the ground, has bester facilities than any other papers for getting this information, and devotes itself to this duty. They will find in it constantly a great amount of valuable information that they can get in no other paper. The American Farmer, and The Chronicle will be sentency year for $1.70.
