DECEMBER DOTS.

Spicy Newslets Gleaned from a Reporter's Note Book.

She told him that she would be his, "The cunning little fox," but the reason that she loved him was because he had the rocks.

D. J. Cooper shipped 100 head of wethers to Portland this morning by steamer Regulator.

The first edition of the December Cosmopolitan was 350,000 copies, more than double any magazine in the world.

Don't forget the clam chowder to be served by the ladies of the M. E. church in the vacant store next the First National bank. Come and bring your friends.

The D. P. & A. N. Co. steamers delivered ten tons of machinery at Onenoweth Landing for the Oregon Lumbering company yesterday.

The Stutz company will play in this city Friday and Saturday evening and will play successively: "Under Two Flags" and "Pearl of Savoy." It will be a benefit performance for the K. of P.

The Columbia has risen six inches since last night, and the D. P. & A. N. Co.'s dock is all under water. Messrs. Peters & Co. were obliged to place a boom around their large wood ricks to save them.

A special meeting of the city council was held last evening to consider the matter of constructing the Lincoln street sewer. It was decided to advertise at once for bids, notice of which appears in another column.

Fierce Mays is about the only individual connected with the old regime of officers who is free from the taint of suspicion in the Portland smuggling cases. One of the government inspectors says that Mays' skirts are clear, and that he has acted honorably to the government and himself.

Mrs. Helen Stafford's class of ladies for physical culture meets each afternoon at 3 p. m. at the court house. It is learned that these exercises, originated by Delsarte, are varied, and are designed to strengthen every muscle in the body. Unused and inert muscles invite many disorders, which Delsarte believed could best be combated by mens sana in corpore sano.

There is a report circulated at Lewiston, Idaho, that some miners have rescued Geo. Colgate, the old man who was with, and left to die alone in the mountains by the Carlin party. The Walla Walla Statesman telephoned to get particulars but could only get back word that it was only a rumor, but news from the mountains was looked for daily.

Mr. J. C. Lucky exhibited the model of a patent dump wagon this morning, which ought to revolutionize gravel hauling or other loads requiring to be dumped. A lever can be thrown which lets the bottom of the wagon down at an incline, dispensing with the use of the shovel and saving much time and labor. It is the invention of Mr. W. T. Hatton of Warm Springs, and a wagon bed can be constructed for less than $20, including payment of royalty.

Counterfeit $10 Bills.

Some special agents of the treasury department report the discovery of counterfeit $10 greenbacks. It was ascertained that the Anglo-Californian bank of San Francisco had accepted quite an amount before detection was recognized. The bills are printed from an old plate which was stolen a few years ago. About the only way to detect the fraud is by the paper which is deficient in the silk threads, which define the genuine bills. Look out for them.

Henderson in the County Jail.

Ed Henderson is caught at last, and is safely lodged behind the bars of the Wasco county jail. In response to a telegram from Sheriff Woolery at Spokane, Deputy Sheriff Phirman left for that point Saturday night, arriving with his prisoner today noon. A reporter saw Henderson at the court house today, who declined to say anything about his travels since leaving Wasco county. His father-in-law, Mr. J. W. Moad, was present and said we could say he is going to fight this thing out to the end. He claims to be conversant with all the circumstances and acts of his son-in-law and says he is satisfied of Henderson's innocence. Be this as it may, it does not look very well for a man to resist arrest by force of arms the way Henderson did, and afterwards make himself scarce.

A Hundred Ton Magazine Order.

An event in periodical literature, not without its significance to the general public as showing the growth of the reading classes, was the receipt on the 9th of November by The Cosmopolitan Magazine of the order given below. A single order from a news company for one hundred tons of magazines! That is almost an event in the history of the world. A like order has never before been made, and if past ratios be maintained it means considerably more than half a million circulation for the December Cosmopolitan. Yet, when the list of authors and artists in the December number is examined, one is not so much surprised. It contains the only known unpublished manuscript of De Maupassant, illustrated by Vierge, perhaps the most famous of European illustrators. After the World's Fair, by Paul Bourget, John J. Ingalls, William Dean Howells, Lyman J. Gage, Arthur Sherburne Hardy, Mark Twain, Robert Grant and others nearly as famous, and nearly two hundred illustrations, to which the following artists contribute: Hopkinson Smith, Kemble, Harry Fenn, F. O. Small, Attwood, Henckel, Dan Beard, Reinhart and Remington. Think of having the World's Fair done by such expensive men as Howells, Mark Twain and Paul Bourget, and sending such artists as Charles S. Reinhart to Chicago for a single number of a magazine to be sold for 15 cents, or by subscription 12½ cents. A book publisher, preparing such a book would not dare incur these expenses short of $5,000 a copy. Is it not a revolution that is an improvement upon old methods, a revolution of vast importance to the reading public? The order to which reference is made reads as follows:

"Publisher Cosmopolitan. Dear Sir:—Of the 200,000 copies of December number to be sent us, please send as follows: 172,650 copies regular edition, 27,250 copies R. R. edition. Yours respectfully, The American News Company."
