Of Des Moines, Iowa, writes under date of March 23, 1893:

S. B. MED. MFG. CO., Dufur, Oregon.

Gentlemen: On arriving home last week, I found all well and anxiously awaiting. Our little girl, eight and one-half years old, who had wasted away to 38 pounds, is now well, strong and vigorous, and well fleshed up. S. B. Cough Cure has done its work well. Both of the children like it. Your S. B. Cough Cure has cured and kept away all hoarseness from me. So give it to every one, with greetings for all. Wishing you prosperity, we are Yours, Mr. & Mrs. J. F. Ford.

If you wish to feel fresh and cheerful, and ready for the Spring's work, cleanse your system with the Headache and Liver Cure, by taking two or three doses each week.

Sold under a positive guarantee. 50 cents per bottle by all druggists.

FIRING ON RIO AGAIN

Me's Successor Has Commenced Hostilities.

BOMBARDING THE CUSTOM-HOUSE

Chauncey Depew Tells the Londoners About Cleveland-Says the President Was Right.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The navy department has received a cable from Rio de Janeiro which says the big battle expected in the harbor has begun. Admiral de Gama, the insurgent commander, Copas island and Enchadas are continually firing on the custom-house and naval arsenal.

Depew Upholds Cleveland.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The Financial Times publishes an interview with Chauncey M. Depew, who is quoted as saying:

"President Cleveland was right and silver was wrong. The tariff need not cause any fear in regard to American railroads. They will get along all right." Explaining the recent crisis, Depew said: "Business before the panic of 1893 was being conducted in the most conservative way within living memory. The panic is due to the fact that for the first time in 30 years the president was elected with a free-trade policy and a possible majority of both houses. The majority which put Cleveland in was composed of all the heterogeneous elements of a populace wanting to change the existing order of things."

The Administration's Backdown.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—A Washington special says: "There is a well defined belief in diplomatic circles that the attempt of the Cleveland administration to restore the Hawaiian queen to the throne has been abandoned. This belief is not based on idle rumor, but on official information received at one of the embassies from that embassy's home government. It is said the home government is understood to have received its information from its minister at Honolulu, and to have immediately acquainted its representative here with that information. According to this information there is just one possible chance of the queen's being restored. That chance consists of the queen's coming off her high horse and of the provisional government relinquishing its grip in return for the good will of the Cleveland administration, with the understanding that the United States will offer no hindrance to the annexationists' overthrowing the queen immediately she is restored."

Titles to Lands.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The committee on public lands reported favorably Representative Hermann's bill prescribing limitations for the completion of titles of lands in Oregon and Washington, claimed under the law commonly known as the "donation act." The first day of January, 1895, is fixed as the period within which final proofs can be made, and thereafter all such lands under incomplete proof will be held abandoned. Such land as may have been claimed by purchase from the original claimant, or occupied in undisturbed possession for 20 years by such purchasers and occupants, or heirs-at-law, or devisees, shall have preference of right of title by purchase or payment of $1.25 per acre within 90 days after January 1, 1895.

It isn't in the ordinary way that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes to the weak and suffering woman who needs it. It's guaranteed. Not with words merely; any medicine can make claims and promises. What is done with the "Favorite prescription" is this: if it fails to benefit or cure, in any case, your money is returned. Can you ask any better proof that a medicine will do what it promises?

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nerve, and a certain remedy for the ills and ailments that beset a woman. In "female complaints" of every kind, periodical pains, internal inflammation or ulceration, bearing-down sensations, and all chronic weaknesses and irregularities, it is a positive and complete cure.

To every tired, overworked woman, and to every weak, nervous and ailing one, it is guaranteed to bring health and strength.

BLUM'S DISCLOSURES.

Startling Testimony in the Portland Conspiracy Case.

Some startling evidence was given in the Portland smuggling cases yesterday by Nat Blum, who is giving state's evidence. He testified that Dunbar, Jackling, Thompson and himself entered into an agreement to bring Chinese laborers from British Columbia to Portland, to have fraudulent certificates issued, and to get the Chinese laborers landed. They made arrangements with parties in Victoria and with Chinese merchants here to furnish them pictures; arranged with Bannan, Holman and others to have blank certificates issued; to have them filled out, and fictitious names signed to them, and they decided to land them for $120 per head. Blum gave Bannan two or three forms of certificates, and Bannan had 500 blanks printed. The first certificates made out were from pictures furnished by Ching Chong Que, and were given to the Chinese cook on the steamer Wilmington, with instructions to find the Chinamen whose pictures were attached at Victoria. Blum went to Victoria about July 1, 1892, and saw Major John Wilson and explained to him the conspiracy. He took with him about 20 certificates, the notarial seals of P. J. Bannan and H. L. Reese, who Bannan told Blum had gone away, leaving his seal with Bannan. These seals were used from time to time thereafter. Jackling had Reese's seal on board the Haytian Republic for some time. He always carried certificates both signed and unsigned, with him, to be filled out in case of extra Chinese applicants for passage. Wilson got some of the pictures in Victoria, and sent them to Dunbar. Some were obtained from Chinese merchants in Portland, and all were taken to Bannan, Holman or other notaries and the certificates issued. Blum and Dunbar kept a list of these certificates, so that upon the arrival of the Chinamen they could check them off the list and notify Wilson to collect that part of the passage rate which was withheld until after the landing. Fifty dollars was paid at the time the Chinamen went aboard the ship, and $70 after they were landed.

Blum first met Mulkey one Sunday aboard the Haytian Republic, which was lying at the Union Pacific dock here. They went from there to the Reception saloon, where they opened a bottle of wine. Blum said to Mulkey: "You have been bothering our Chinese and opium business a good deal, and I want to have a little talk with you." They made an appointment to meet in Mulkey's room at the Hotel Portland on the following day, which they did. In the meantime, Blum conferred with Dunbar and Jackling and they agreed they could afford to pay Mulkey some money to go into the deal with them. Blum met Mulkey at the Hotel Portland, and the latter agreed not to interfere with Blum and Dunbar's business in consideration of Blum's agreeing to pay him $1,200 per month in advance, the first payment to be made right then. Blum paid him $600 in currency for the balance of the month of October. Mulkey agreed to have Dillon, a government "spotter" at Vancouver, called off.

Several letters from Mulkey to Blum were introduced in evidence, of which the following is a fair sample: "If no bad luck the 72-pound casting (opium) will be in Portland tonight or tomorrow morning. Will you please come over here tomorrow night? Bring the 400 or 500. I will go to John Burke's room. It will not do to monkey with the buzz-saw the way times are now. Go slow."

For a sore throat there is nothing better than a hill spring was so adjusted as to furnish a series of little spouts, each about the thickness of one's little finger. Opposite each spout was a kind of earth pillow, and a little trough to carry away the water. Each child was so laid that one of the water-spouts played on the top of its head, and the water then ran off into the trough.

I can testify that the process was most successful. There never were such quiet and untroublesome babies as those under the spouts. The people were unanimous in asserting that the water did the children no harm, but on the contrary, benefited and invigorated them. In fact, they seemed to think that a child not subjected to this process must grow up soft-brained and good-for-nothing.

Certainly their appearance showed no signs that this singular method of bracing the intellectual part of their bodies had done them any harm.
