Joys have three stages. Hoping, Having and Having is sad. For the joy we take in the taking dies; and the joy we had in its ghost. Now, which is the better—the joy unknown, or the joy we have clasped and lost? —John Boyle O'Reilly.

The old year is nearly gone. Prepare your resolutions for 1894.

The Inland Star brought $110, about a third of what the engine inside of her is worth.

The state asylum board will meet next Monday, and the location of the asylum will then probably be announced.

Messrs. John Blaser and F. W. L. Skibbe are selling tickets today for the firemen's ball. They are going very fast.

There are those who wish there would come a genuine freeze and thus dispose of the great quantity of soft mud on the streets.

Brazilian rebels and government forces each claim their opponents are nearly whipped. Perhaps they are like the Kilkenny cats.

The Stutz Co. will entertain the Portland public this evening with "A Celebrated Case," opening Cordray's theater for the season.

Christmas it snowed on Tygh Ridge the whole day, and yesterday there was six inches of snow there. The ground is covered all the way to 8-Mile.

Mrs. M. A. Paulson, a medical electrician, will give a free private lecture to ladies at the court house on Thursday at 2 p. m. All are cordially invited.

Dan Maloney's horse was sold today at sheriff's sale, to satisfy an execution brought by Prinz & Nitschke. The valuable animal brought only $36.

Marriage licenses have been granted to Henry Peterson and Katie Wieberg, John W. Ayres and Almira Root, and Foster Winslow and Effie E. Thompson.

The Inland Star was sold yesterday to Mr. B. S. Huntington in pursuance of a writ of execution. Captain Kennedy, the designer and builder of the boat, objected, but the claims of the unfortunate owner were not heeded.

McGinnis—It seems to me that there are fewer marriages than ever before. I wonder what is the cause of it? Smith—If young ladies would learn to stick a pin in their apron strings so that it wouldn't scratch a fellow's wrists there would be more marriages.—Texas Sittings.

Hon. F. P. Mays returned Monday evening from Fossil, where he has been engaged in prosecuting the case against the cattle thieves there.—The Dalles Chronicle. Partly correct. He prosecuted part of them and defended the other part—served God and Mammon, as it were.—Fossil Journal.

The ladies of the Good Intent Society are going to a great deal of trouble in preparing their New Year's entertainment for Saturday evening, Dec. 30th. Hot chicken pie supper will be served from 5 till 8 p. m. for 50 cents, including a ticket to the entertainment. Supper will also be served after the program to those who wish it.

The grand masquerade ball to be given next Monday evening by Jackson Engine Co. will be the dancing event of the season. The annual balls given by this company have always been successful and are always well attended. Jackson Hose Co. comprises many of the oldest and best citizens of the town, who have been members of the company ever since they were young men.

The public auction sale of the Frank Vogt stock will be resumed at 7 o'clock this evening. Bargains at private sale will be offered tomorrow and Friday and on Saturday during the entire day and evening a public sale will be held at which it is hoped the stock will be entirely disposed of. The necessity of closing out this stock as rapidly as possible is forcing prices down so that every sale is a bargain.

A SCALE SPRAY.

The One Recommended by the State Board of Agriculture.

Mr. Emil Schanno has furnished us with Bulletin No. 8 of the Oregon State Board of Horticulture containing valuable detailed information on all subjects which the fruit-grower should know. A number of these books will shortly be sent to THE CHRONICLE for distribution, and anyone needing a copy may obtain it upon application at this office. Its importance may be realized by one of its opening statements, as follows:

In submitting this bulletin to the fruit-growers of Oregon, the members of the state board of horticulture earnestly hope it will awaken an interest in matters that hitherto have been neglected by many who are engaged in fruit growing, and that it will cause those intending to engage in the business to make a careful study of the subject before setting out a tree. They feel that many mistakes are being made, and the result will be many failures in the orchard business, thus causing a severe blow to the great prospective fruit industry in Oregon.

The following formula for a winter spray is recommended by the board and should be applied now:

INGREDIENTS:
Lime, unslacked, 30 lbs.
Sulphur, powdered, 20 lbs.
Salt, stock, 15 lbs.
Water, 60 gals.

DIRECTIONS:
Place 10 pounds of lime and 20 pounds of sulphur in a boiler with 20 gallons of water, and boil over a brisk fire for two hours, until the sulphur is thoroughly dissolved. It will then be amber colored. Next, place 20 pounds of lime in a cask and pour water enough over it to thoroughly slack it. Add the salt. When dissolved add to the lime and sulphur and boil half an hour longer. Add enough water to make 60 gallons. Apply lukewarm.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON.

The Fall Term Just Closed.—New Features of the Institution.

EUGENE, Dec. 23, 1893.

TO THE CHRONICLE:
The fall term of the University of Oregon closed yesterday. Notwithstanding the hard times, it has proved one of the most successful. The attendance fully equals that of last year at this time.

Since Dr. Chapman arrived the courses of study have been thoroughly revised. The system of credits which has proved so successful in Eastern schools is in full operation. The effort to mould all minds to precisely the same pattern has been definitely abandoned, and a large choice of electives is offered to those who wish to take up specialties in engineering, the languages, or any of the sciences. The laboratory courses in both physics and chemistry have been so extended as to offer just the advantages needed by the high school students of Oregon. The gymnasium, also, which has so long been left to the desultory use of the students, has at last secured the competent instructor, Mr. J. R. Wetherbee of Salem. Now the studious atmosphere of the university will be happily supplemented by physical culture. The new dormitory is now under full patronage by students, who are moving in to secure the reduced rates of $2.50 a week. The young men and women who come from abroad are there put under the wholesome discipline.

During the past few months these and many other changes have been going on, which upon the arrival of the new president, met with obstacles unseen by the public. Prof. Johnson still retains the chair of Latin in the university, and Dr. Chapman finds in the aged ex-president one of his ablest and most faithful co-workers. Besides having done some successful work in university extension, the president has succeeded in arranging a course of popular lectures, which is one of the features that add so much to an educational center. Among the representative persons whom we find among these lectures are: Lydell Baker of Portland, son of the famous Col. Edward Baker, Mrs. E. M. Wilson of The Dalles, Hon. L. L. McArthur and Judge Bellingier of Portland, and several others from different parts of the state.

While the university of Oregon offers such advantages to the young people of the state, let those in such towns as Dufur and Hood River, who have no academic school, turn their attention this way, and a place will be given them. QUIDAM.

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO EVERYBODY.

Christmas is over. We are glad we did what we could to make it a holiday worth remembering. It is not for us to say aught of our success. Let the HUNDREDS who thronged our store and carried thence the many bundles that gladdened so many homes and hearts; let the people to whom every dollar means a hundred hard-earned cents; let all to whom we were a Santa Claus in deed and truth--- let these say whether or not we succeeded.

NOW FOR NEXT YEAR PEASE & MAYS.
