OUTBOUND.

A lonely sail in the vast sea room,
I have put out for the port of gloom.
The voyage is far on a trackless tide,
The watch is long and the seas are wide.
The headlands blue in the sinking day
Kiss me a hand on the outbound way.
The gale winds come, and the heaving sea,
The red mother, is calling me.
The cry her heart is lone and wild,
Searching the mist for her wandering child.
Beautiful, scarless mother of mine,
In drift of gloom I am here, I am thine.
Beyond the fathom of hope or fear,
From bourne to bourne of dusk I steer.
Swept on in the wake of stars, in the stream
Of a roving tide from dream to dream.

A battle of the clouds was one of the impressive atmospheric features of the morning.

graved and second prize a pearl handled pen. Ladies first prize is a set of cut glass vases, highly ornamented, and second prize a silver pickle castor.

Prof. A. LeRoy will deliver an illustrative lecture on "A Peculiar People" next Monday night at the court house. This lecture will be free and is spoken of very highly by the press.

During the hop picking season a large number of Indians of several tribes went to the Yakima country to pick hops, and about the time they were to receive their pay a drove of hoboes, tin horn gamblers and all kinds of petty rascals went from the Sound and other places to relieve the Indians of their wages by selling them whisky, gambling with them, etc. The result was that 76 of them were arrested and all but one convicted and sentenced by Judge Gilbert variously from ten days to two years.

RECEIVED FATAL INJURIES.

John King While Hauling Wheat Run Over by the Wagon.

John King received fatal injuries Saturday afternoon while hauling wheat into Biggs by being run over by the wagon. There were six horses attached to the wagon, which were a little wild, and while going down the grade he lost control of them and they started running. Becoming frightened he jumped from the wagon on the up hill side, but got tangled in the lines, and then the brake block caught him throwing him under the wheels. Both legs were broken—besides other injuries. When the runaway team reached Biggs a number of men hurried up the road in search of the driver and found him at 6 o'clock, about an hour after the accident, still conscious but very cold. He was conveyed to Biggs and the following morning was taken to his home in Moro. But about the time he reached his home he became unconscious and did not rally. He died Monday morning about 5 o'clock. King's wife is very poorly, being afflicted with consumption, and besides his wife two small children are left. The family moved to Moro but a short time ago from their farm near Erskineville.

The party who sent me a demolished lot of eye glasses through the postoffice for repairs, omitted their name. If they will call at the store and pay charges they can have the same.

AN ILL-STARRED BOAT.

Captain Kennedy Claims His Boat Has Not Changed Ownership.

Captain Kennedy claims that the sale of the Inland Star will not hold. Asked for his reason he said the boat did not belong to him, that he had sold it to Miss Marion Kennedy, his daughter, last summer for $2,500. He said the deed would not show at the county clerk's office but the notice of the sale would appear in the next shipping papers which he receives every year. He also says that he proposes to sue Park & Lacey, Portland, for $200 a month damages since September, saying they tied up his boat, and thus not giving him a chance to earn the money he owed them, $60.

Mr. Kennedy was asked if he did any business with the boat when he was running. "No," said he, "but we did not give it a fair test. We should have started out and returned at a given hour every day, whether we had any freight or not, and after a while the business would have come. Instead of that we went out almost any time. The boys didn't like to get up in the morning and I couldn't run it alone. The first morning we went out at quarter to 7, the next morning it was half past 8, the next quarter to nine, and the next half past 9. The nearest to an order we ever saw was one day we stopped at Lyle, and a fellow there asked us if we had that freight from Mays & Crowe, which was ordered by the Star. We said that was the first we had heard of it, and that was the nearest to any real business we did with the Inland Star."

Mr. Kennedy said that the boat cost nearly $5,000 and was very much dissatisfied that it brought only $110. "If it had sold for $1,000, I would have said let it go," said he. "I was getting tired of it anyway and the money would have gone a long way towards paying some debts I owe. Park & Lacey have no more got their money than they had before, and they have hindered other creditors from getting theirs. Who is the defrauder?" asked the captain, with that comical look of his, which is inimitable. Mr. Kennedy thought the better plan would have been to appoint a receiver, so that the river traffic of the Inland Star would not have been stopped, and that is the way they do with other public carriers, like the Union Pacific and so on.

Protection from Malaria.

The preventative is the far-famed Southern remedy, Simons Liver Regulator, a purely vegetable tonic, cathartic and alterative. It acts more promptly than calomel or quinine.

Separating Lightning.

Mr. H. A. Falk of Mitchell came in town this morning. Mr. Falk's brother was killed by lightning last summer near Prineville, as was his dog, while both were under a tree waiting for the fury of the storm to pass. The victim of the storm king's wrath wore a gold watch, the case of which was melted, and the movement charged with electricity. The watch was taken to Mr. W. E. Garretson, of this city, by Mr. Falk, who is in town today, in the hope that he might be able to fix it up, to be presented to their father as a keepsake. This Mr. Garretson did, making the case look as perfect as before the lightning stroke, also demagnetizing the works, which were so thoroughly charged with electricity that they would not move. The watch is in all respects as good as it formerly was, and will be preserved by Mr. Falk as long as he lives.

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO EVERYBODY.

Christmas is over. We are glad we did what we could to make it a holiday worth remembering. It is not for us to say aught of our success. Let the HUNDREDS who thronged our store and carried thence the many bundles that gladdened so many homes and hearts; let the people to whom every dollar means a hundred hard-earned cents; let all to whom we were a Santa Claus in deed and truth---let these say whether or not we succeeded.

NOW FOR NEXT YEAR PEASE & MAYS.
