Mr. R. H. Thornton, in the Oregonian, recommends that the ministers of the state preach a sermon on the subject of Penney's last letter, taking as a text I Kings, xliii, 18, 'But He Lied.'

Alexander Ronkaday, who lives in Harrison county, Ind., celebrated his one hundred and fourteenth birthday recently. He says he has voted at every presidential election since 1800, a period of ninety-three years, and has always cast his vote for the democratic nominee.

We notice that the Forum and many newspapers of the East speak of the unusual dullness during the Christmas season, and that a comparatively small amount of money has been expended for Christmas remembrances. In contrast to these reports as well as the letter of Gov. Penney is the holiday business done this season in The Dalles.

The calling of a road convention to devise ways and means to improve the roads, is a step in the right direction. The subject of good roads is creating a good deal of attention everywhere. In Ohio, especially, a man has little chance to be elected to any public position unless he is prepared to advocate and vote for good roads.

CURRENT PRESS COMMENT.

The government receipts are running about $5,000,000 a month behind the expenditures. This is democratic economy.

When Professor Garner has succeeded in acquiring an accurate knowledge of the chimpanzee language and can converse with the wild simians of Africa, he will have the proud distinction of being known as the "missing link."

Women now have full suffrage in Colorado, Wyoming, New Zealand, Iceland, Isle of Man, Jersey and Pitcairn island. This territory has an area of 345,723 square miles, and 1,287,200 people.

The Oregonian says: Very little discussion of the tariff question is needed. We know what the conditions have been under protection during more than 30 years. We know what the conditions under "the change," or under the menace or shadow of it, are now.

The persistent cough which usually follows an attack of the grip can be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. W. A. McGuire, of McKay, Ohio, says: 'La Grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure. I have also found it to be without an equal for children when troubled with colds or croup.'

TO HONOR KOSCIUSKO.

Monument in Honor of One of the Greatest of Heroes.

It Will Be Erected in Chicago by the Polish Residents of the United States—The Work of Barones, the Famous Sculptor.

A little over a year ago the secretary of state for Illinois issued a charter to the "Kosciusko Monument Association." Little was then said of this new association and perhaps less was expected, but still the members of the association have continued to work in a quiet way until to-day they promise to present to Chicago a monument which will be second, perhaps, only to the Grant monument in Lincoln park.

As dear as the name of George Washington is to every American, so the name of Kosciusko is to every true Polish and every liberty-loving man. He was a man whose whole object was the defense of the weak against the strong, the oppressed against the oppressor. Having fought through the war of independence of the United States against England, where his bravery gained for him the rank of general and the personal friendship of Washington, he returned to Poland, which at that time was oppressed from all sides by its powerful neighbors.

As the general desire was that the monument should be made by a Polish artist, the contest was published in Europe. In the city of Lemberg, an ancient Polish city. Nearly all the Polish sculptors competed for the prize. Awards were offered of $1,000 for the first prize, $750 for the second prize and $500 for the third prize. The contest was conducted under the direction of Prof. Emil Habdank Danikowski, dean of the Lemberg university. The jury was composed of Julius Hossak, a prominent painter; Vincent Rawski, an architect of high reputation; Julian Markowski, a sculptor; Katchor Batowski, an artist painter; Dann, professor of sculpture at the University of Fine Arts; Talowski, a prominent architect; Hochberger, a civil engineer; Count George Borokowski, president of the Society of Fine Arts and Prof. Emil Habdank Danikowski.

All models sent for competition were placed in the city hall of Lemberg, where the jury convened May 18 last, and after careful study and deliberation announced its decision.

The first prize was awarded to Thaddeus Baronez, a sculptor of reputation and ability. His model represents Kosciusko in the uniform of an American general of the revolution sitting upon a spirited horse holding aloft in his right hand the banner of freedom, with the inscription: "Free, Sovereign, Independent." The rider has brought his horse to a sudden standstill, and, rising in the stirrups with head erect and inspired face, raised high the standard of liberty he so dearly loved. The horse, with his front legs dug into the ground, and through the sudden stop thrown upon his hind legs, with the rider standing erect in the stirrups, represents a unique and striking figure, bearing a character historically and strikingly monumental. The model arrived in Chicago a few days ago and has been set up in the Polish hall, Bradley and Noble streets.

The pedestal of Mr. Baronez's monument is a marvel of beauty and symmetry, on one side of which is represented in bas relief the meeting of Kosciusko with Gen. George Washington, surrounded by Gens. Green and Lafayette, President Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, Pulaski and other famous men of that time; on the other side one of the battles in which Kosciusko was victorious. The whole pedestal is in excellent harmony with the figure and is strikingly light, fresh and original. The monument will cost $40,000, of which the committee have collected $10,000, and the balance is now being raised by subscriptions. It is estimated that two years more will be necessary to complete the monument.

The Output of Soft Coal. The bituminous or soft coal output in the United States now aggregates 100,000,000 tons annually.

Masons and Odd Fellows. In the United States there are said to be 870,000 free masons and 650,000 odd fellows.

CHRISTMAS CANDIES.

HICKORY-NUT CREAMS.—Boil sugar and water as for peppermint cream. Cool, beat, and when the mixture is white stir in one cup of hickory-nut meats. Turn into a flat, warm tin and cut into squares.

COFFEE CREAM NUT CANDY.—Boil together without stirring half a cup of strong coffee and two cups of sugar until thick enough to spin a thread. Remove the pan to a dish of cold water, and beat the mixture rapidly until it creams. Stir in a cup of chopped nut meats, pour into a warm, flat tin and cut into squares.

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS.—Dissolve over a fire one cupful of molasses and two teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one-quarter of a pound of grated chocolate and a piece of butter the size of an egg. Boil for fifteen or twenty minutes. Pour into flat, buttered dishes to the depth of a quarter inch, and when cold cut into squares an inch in size.

BUTTER-SCOTCH.—Good butter-scotch is as rare as it is simply made. Here is an infallible receipt: Boil without stirring two cups of sugar, butter the size of an egg, and two tablespoonfuls of water, until the mixture hardens and crisps when dropped from a spoon into cold water. Remove from the fire and pour on buttered plates to cool.

PEPPERMINT CREAMS.—Boil together, without stirring, two cups of sugar and half a cup of water. When thick enough to spin a thread remove the tin to a basin of cold water and beat the mixture rapidly until it becomes of a white, creamy consistency. Flavor with peppermint and squeeze through a pastry tube into quarter-dollar sized drops on waxed paper.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The minister sent the message and the name given in the colonel's reply was Chevert. He received his promotion at once.

Chevert found an appreciative friend in Marshal Saxe. The marshal heard some titled officers speaking of their fellow-officer Chevert.

"The fellow rose from the ranks," said one, contemptuously. Saxe turned to the speaker and said, severely: "Sir, I always esteemed Chevert; now that I learn from you that he rose from the ranks, I find that I owe him respect and admiration."

THE DALLES

Wasco County, - - - Oregon.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY. It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market. The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS. The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH. It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
