THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

Be it demagogueism or destiny, there scems larger opportunity of blessing in the hands of one man than was ever conferred on human executive before, says Clapp & Co. Crises of affairs have before placed great responsibility of action, never before did crisis place such heavy premium on inaction. To do or not to do is the question of the hour. Whether it were better to do the thing for which called and chosen, and doing die, and dying cause misery untold, or daring to be braver than to do, and leave undone, and by that inconsistency confer a blessing. Such is the problem of a party whose experience in obstruction is only equalled by its inexperience in construction. The moment is pregnant with great cause for quick decision and decisive announcement. The financial world is politically controlled. Credit of unnoticed evolution taken precedence of money, but is as a broken reed unable to perform its amply sufficient function, without confidence based on laws now in force is reinforced by promise of nonquick performance. Men who fear much forget the enginery of public opinion, aided and focalized by an all-powerful public press. The man who has faith in the power of these may fear nothing, except delays of emergency demanding their full exercise. To doubt the exerclear, would be to doubt the diffused intelligence and fairly well distributed wealth of productive powers and consumptive demand, which makes this commonwealth remarkable as the acknowledged leader among the world's governments. The progressive men of America look with confidence to the captain of the ship of state for quick rescue at the risk of his political life, and that of the crew in charge of the vessel. The dead calm of present or of peace. What is done should be. and probably will be, done quickly. The country enters upon 1894 in waiting mood, that will torn to quick reprisal if it waits in vain. The people will de-

HOW TRAMPS TRAVEL. Truck-Riding Necessary in the Country West of the Mississippi.

The November Century contains a unique article entitled: "Tramping with Tramps," being a record of the actual adventures of a young American who disguised himself as a tramp and took to the road. The following is an extract from the article: Of the states in the western district,

I think that Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado, Washington and a part of California are the best for tramps. Illinois is thought especially well of by vagabonds because of its "good" railroads. The Illinois Central, for instance, is known the country over as the best for a journey south, and I have known tramps to travel from New York city to Chicago, and go south by this line rather than start from New York direct for New Orleans. The "C. B. & Q." is also a great "snap;" in fact, so much so that, when I was on the road, it was called "the bums' line." In Nebraska, where the "Q." becomes the "B. & M. R.," the lines are more tightly drawn, and it behooves a roadster to take to the trucks if he is anxious to make good time. COLUMN STATES

Truck-riding is necessary almost everywhere west of the Mississippi. Of course one can "fool around" freight trains, but he is liable to be knocked off when the train is at full speed, and unless this occurs on the desert, or where the ground is rather soft, it may prove dangerous. I once attempted to ride a "freight" on the Southern Pagovernment and business public has by cific road, and it was the hardest experience I ever encountered. I hung on to the side of a cattle-car in order to keep out of the brakeman's way, but he eventually found me, and ordered me to get up on top. There I was made to turn my pockets inside interference, or if change must follow, of out to convince him that I had no money. Being angered that I could not give him a dime, he said: "Well, hit the gravel! I can't carry you on this train." I told him that I would never hit the gravel unless he stopped the train. "You won't, eh!" he said; "well, now, we'll see." So he chased me over his train for about fifteen cise of such power if emergency becomes minutes. I dodged him here and there. and found that I was quite all: to elude him as long as he alone followed me; but soon the "Con" appeared, and then the chase began in earnest. They finally pressed so near that I was compelled to climb down the side of a cattlecar. They then tantalized me by, spitting and swearing. Finally the "Con" climbed down also, and stepped on my fingers, so I had to let go. Fortunately, the train was slackening its speed just then-I really think the engineer had a hand in the matter, for he is usually a good fellow-and I got off moments may portend a storm of passion | safely enough. But I had to "drill' miles bite to cat or a drink of water. In the far west after that experience I always made use of the trucks. * * * The usual time for eastern and western tramps to start south is in mand a quick salvation, equal to their faith and expressive of their fullest nower. Cctober. During this month large squads of vagabonds will be ...und traveling toward "Orleans." 1 once was on an Illinois Central freight train when seventy-three tramps were fellow passengers, and nearly every one was bound for either Florida or Louisiana.

PEOPLE OF WASHINGTON.

MRS. YE CHA YUN, wife of the first secretary of the Korean legation at Washington. is the first Korean lady of the nobility who ever left her native land.

SECRETARY HOKE SMITH is said to be the hardest worker in the cabinet. He gets up at seven o'clock in the morning and does not go to bed earlier than midnight.

FIRST AUDITOR BALDWIN, the youngest of the treasury auditors, can be found at his desk at any hour of the day industriously engaged on accounts in which a corncob pipe invariably cuts quite a figure.

MRS. CLEVELAND has had only one photograph taken for several years, and only about half a dozen prints were made from it. To a publisher who asked leave to reproduce it she replied that since her marriage she had had no picture that was not public property and she wished to keep this for her own.

THE ex-Empress Eugenie will spend the winter at her villa near Mentone on the Mediterranean.

THE empress of Russia's physician when in attendance upon his imperial patient receives a fee of three hundred and fifty dollars a day (seven hundred rubles).

QUEEN MARGARET of Italy is about to publish a series of popular stories in one of the Roman reviews, to be put in book form later-doubtless in royal octavo form.

HENRY LABOUCHERE, of London Truth, has an inordinate love of tobacco, an inexhaustible fund of anecdotes, and an income of about fifty thousand dollars a year.

About a year ago I took a violent at tack of la grippe. I coughed day and night for about six weeks; my wife then suggested that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. At first I could see no difference, but still kept trying it, and soon found that it was what I needed. If I got no relief from 'one dose I took another, and it was only a few days until I was free from the cough. I think people in general ought to know the value of this remedy, and I take pleasure in acknowledging the benefit I have received from it. MADISON MUSTARD, Otway, Ohio. Those who believe that thirteen is an unlucky number should fight shy of the American 25-cent piece. It has thirteen stars, thirteen letters in the scroll held in the eagle's beak, thirteen marginal feathers on each wing, thirteen tail feathers, thirteen parallel lines in the shield, thirteen horizontal bars, thirteen arrowheads, and thirteen letters in the "quarter dollar." But most of us are mighty glad to get them, thirteen or no thirteen.

The persistent cough which usually follows an attack of the grip can be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. W. A. McGuire, of McKay, Ohio, says: "La Grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure. I have also found it to be without an equal for children when troubled with colds or croup. Fifty-cent bottles for sale by Blakely & Houghton, druggists,

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.
