A pleasant time was had last evening at Ernest Jensen's by some of our young people, with prize games, etc., first prize being a handsome napkin ring.

A sheriff's sale of the real property of W. A. Allen, deceased, of which Geo. A. Liebe is administrator, was postponed until Saturday week for lack of bidders.

A. LeRoy, D. D., will deliver an address at the court house on Sunday, Jan. 7th, at 3:30 p. m. Subject—"The Origin of the Kingdoms." All are invited.

A wagonload of apples was upset today in front of Joles Bros. old stand, furnishing a winter picnic for the small boy, who filled hat, pockets and arms with the fruit, to the consternation of the owner.

Ex. U. S. Minister D. P. Thompson will deliver his lecture on Turkey at The Dalles on Tuesday, Jan. 16th, instead of Jan. 9th as previously announced. An engagement at Baker City on the latter date will prevent his being here.

Car No. 73 of East Ankeny and North Mount Tabor line, James Morgan motorman, and George MacBrien conductor, was robbed Thursday evening about 9:30 o'clock when it reached the terminus of the road. The conductor and motorman were held up and about $25 in cash secured.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith French entertained about a score of their friends at their residence last evening in a very pleasant manner. Added to the usual social features an elegant lunch was served at 10:30 o'clock. After an evening of thorough enjoyment in social converse, music and games, the guests reluctantly bade their entertainers a kind "good night."

County court will convene again Monday, as there is still a great deal of business to be transacted. At the January term is considered the reports of the road supervisors of all the districts for the preceding year and their successors are to be appointed.

Christmas at 15-Mile.

LOWER 15-MILE, Jan. 3, 1894.
Editor Chronicle:
Seeing accounts of the holiday festivities in other localities and as there has been quite a number of entertainments in this neighborhood, with your kind permission we will chronicle a few of them. On Saturday evening, Dec. 23d, the pupils of the Fairfield school, under the able management of their teacher, Miss E. House, gave a literary entertainment consisting of speaking, vocal and instrumental music and Christmas tree. The recitations were all well spoken, and the songs by the school were very nice and well sung, and some of the pupils displayed considerable talent, especially Miss Lena Henrich in her recitation of "The Christmas Tree at Fairfield," Miss Grace Holgate on "Chewing Tobacco and Swallowing the Juice," which would have done credit to professionals, and little Viola Young, a tot of four years, came out with a smile and spoke in so clear a tone she could be heard in all parts of the room. But it is impossible to mention all.

Outside of the school, those who contributed not a little to the enjoyment of the evening, were Lloyd Bolton in his German accented recitation of "Red Pepper-Sauce Tomatoes," which was very amusing. T. Willman sang a comic song entitled the "Tippary Christening," which was applauded until he returned and repeated the chorus, and his recitation of "Shamus O'Brien," an Irish patriotic selection, held the house in silence until its close, when the cheers were loud and long. Mr. L. Farrington recited a poem from Longfellow in a very pleasing manner, which was a pleasant contrast to the comical parts, and I am sure those present will ever remember the evening as one of the most pleasant of their lives.

On Christmas night there was a dance at the residence of Dell Wilder. There were eighteen couples present, beside several gentlemen without partners. Mr. T. W. says it is all right if he did get cheated out of his partner, he would not be sandwiched. The music was furnished by Messrs. Stone and Ruark of The Dalles. Every one enjoyed themselves and went home well pleased. There were also the same night a Christmas tree at the residence of J. Pennington and a dance at the residence of Mr. Egbert; but as I was not present at either, can only say the report is a very nice time, and at Mr. Egbert's they had a beautiful tableau of the Sandwich Islands.

On New Year's night a party of ten couples, with several extra gentlemen, assembled at the residence of Mr. C. C. English and enjoyed a most pleasant evening visiting and dancing. Music by Mr. Ruark of The Dalles and G. Haskell of Celilo. The inclement state of the weather prevented some ladies from attending, but those who were there all enjoyed themselves. One pleasant feature of our dances is the able management and calling of Mr. A. Wilson, whose equal cannot be found in this county. And another pleasure is the absence of intoxicating drinks.

The Misses Carrie and Jennie Young are visiting friends in this neighborhood. This is all the events that have transpired lately, but more are expected. So if you excuse the length of this, and find room for it outside the waste basket, if any one is born or gets married or dies, perhaps you may hear from me again. Lew.

Intricate Questions.

A few weeks since Inventor Edison, wishing to ascertain the cubic contents of an incandescent lamp, submitted the problem to his corps of assistants, among whom were several mathematical experts. They devoted about half a day, submitting answers from time to time only to be told they were wrong. Finally the "Wizard" unscrewed the cap, filled the lamp with water and poured it into a graduated cup. "There, gentlemen, is the correct answer," he said, pointing to the notch indicated by the water line. The above story illustrates a principle, that there are simple ways to do things which may apparently seem difficult, or that there are more ways to kill a dog than choking him to death. Coming nearer home, there are more ways to keep the rock crusher boiler from bursting by a freeze than to keep a fireman on the grounds poking in wood and keeping the water hot. A simpler way is to exhaust the boiler of its water, and when in the course of two or three weeks, after the cold snap, it is desirable to start it up again, it takes but a very few minutes to refill it. The engine will not be used today and tomorrow anyway, and it will pay to adopt this course even for that length of time.

Revival Meetings.

Commencing Sunday, Jan. 7th, special revival meetings will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church each evening, except Saturday, at 7:30 o'clock. A chorus choir of about thirty voices will be an interesting feature. All are cordially invited.

MITCHELL NEWS.

An Old Lady Works Out the Road Tax--Notes.

Weather cold and foggy the 24th and 25th.

Mrs. Bettune of this place is thoroughly woman's rights in practice. One day last week the road supervisor warned her to work on the road. Not in the least daunted she took a pick and shovel and made an attempt to do her work, although she is more than seventy years old, and would have worked the day out but some one relieved her for part of the day.

One day of last week a man by the name of Coy broke jail at Canyon City and made his escape good.

A. L. Shrum is quite sick at present of a slight attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Wells, A. J. Shrum's mother-in-law, has been seriously ill the past ten days.

The past five days have been almost as lovely as May, bright, clear and warm. The hills are as green as in spring-time.

Christmas was unusually quiet. There were no amusements except a ball in the evening, which passed off without the least disturbance.

Roads from here to Canyon City are unusually good for this time of the year; so good that the mail carrier has resumed his wagon.

Gordon Showen and Miss Linville were married December 25th. Something near fifty guests were invited. An excellent dinner was served at 2 o'clock, after which a general good time was had until a late hour.

Died, on Waterman Flat, December 26th, the wife of William Wells. Once more a wife and mother is called across the bright waters and dear ones are left to mourn their loss.

Mitchell, Dec. 31, 1893.

Mr. R. I. Young and D. Farrington of 15-Mile are in the city today.

Mr. S. G. Campbell returned last night from a short trip to Portland.

On His Mind.

Blaggins is one of the men who speaks disrespectfully of eminent people. A great pianist was pointed out to him recently, with the remark: "Do you see the very expression of his face? He seems to have a great deal on his mind, doesn't he?"

"A great deal on his mind?" repeated Blaggins, scornfully; "O yes, you mean hair."—Washington Star.
