JANUARY JOTTINGS.

Minor Events Which Pertain to City and Country.

Heaping coals of fire is well enough to talk; But if you love your neighbor Place ashes on the walk. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

The cabinet of the Epworth League will meet this evening at their room at 8:30 sharp.

A robin this morning sang merrily on the denuded limbs of a poplar. We regard the event as prophetic of an early spring.

Topic for the meeting tonight at the Congregational church—"A Prayer of David" (1 Chron. xxix-10-19.) All persons not attending elsewhere are cordially invited.

The Harney Times says it is believed that the Harney county populists will nominate an entirely independent ticket at the coming election, that party having become sufficiently strong to risk a triangular battle with the two old parties.

The East End Hose company have decided to give a Valentine ball on the 14th of February. The board of managers are H. Kuck, R. E. Saltmarsh, W. H. Lechhead, Chas. Adams and Ben Wilson. The company are determined to make this the event of the season.

The contract for carrying the mail on the Ontario and Burns stage line has been let for the four years following June 30, 1894, to W. E. Travis, of Chicago, for $8,888.00 per annum. The Canyon City and Burns line was let to C. F. Davis of Burnt Ranch, Nevada, for $8,840.00 per annum. Both contracts are too low for the service.

The following names appear on the Umatilla House register, who are delegates from Portland to the democratic convention: H. C. Grady, E. L. Gates, Chas. A. Petran, Chas. N. Ward, A. C. Thompson, Eugene Shelby, W. R. O'Neill, H. P. McGuire, H. L. Traver, J. B. Mulky, Sam'l B. Westcott, Ed. Killeather, John O'Brien, J. D. Meyer, J. E. Worth, John Freilinger, W. J. Kelley, W. H. Mead.

The committee of physicians who were sent out to pass on the sanitary conditions of the branch asylum made their report yesterday. It covers sixteen pages of type written matter and goes into the subject in an exhaustive manner. After a thorough examination by the board which will require some length of time several days will elapse before a decision is reached.

At a meeting of the East Dalles Hose Co., held last night a committee was appointed to wait on the city council at their next regular meeting and represent to them the necessity of procuring a bell for the company hose house. The one now in use is so badly cracked that it cannot be heard two blocks away and the tone of it at that distance could hardly be taken for a fire bell. A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for their first annual ball, which will be held on Feb. 14th, notice of which will be given soon.

F. H. Lewis, the defaulting telegrapher who made himself conspicuous in this city, and was arrested by the Western Union Telegraph company last fall, has at last accounts turned up in Denver. He went to St. Louis and worked on the sympathies of the telegraph union telling them his wife had just died in Oregon and he needed money to bring the remains east and the result of this plea was effectual. The deception worked to a charm and he got the money. His wife was not dead, but really was in Portland waiting for a remittance to take her to him.

Eminent geologists have maintained for many years that the Inland Empire was once covered by a great inland sea, the water being held by some obstruction near what is known to us as the "Cascades." Our authority in such matter, Col. Sinnott, disputes part of this theory and claims that when he first came to this country the salmon ascended the river in such numbers during the spawning season as to raise the water thousands of feet on the mountain sides. We have found no one who disputes this fact.

One night last week a big lynx made a raid on a band of Phil Brogan's sheep, and before the herders discovered it the brute had killed and smothered twenty head of fine ewes. Hearing the racket, Alfred Grassner, the herder, took a lantern and a shot gun and hid himself hither. The light of the lantern blinded the eyes of the lynx and he became an easy victim for Mr. Grassner's gun. It was the largest animal of this species ever seen in this country, and is supposed to be the same that has killed so many sheep and chickens in Lower Antelope during the past couple of years.—Antelope Herald.

PROMISES HELP.

Antelope Anxious to Have a Scouring Mill at The Dalles.

A scouring mill will soon be established at Pendleton, and the sheepmen of Umatilla county are considerably agitated over the project. It will enable them to make their industry a great deal more lucrative in the future, inasmuch as they will not be compelled to ship so many tons of dirt and grease to the eastern markets with their wool every year. A similar institution should be erected at The Dalles by all means, and we believe that if the tariff is left on wool every sheep owner in this part of the country would be glad to take shares of stock in it. Thousands and thousands of pounds of wool are shipped from The Dalles every season, about 68 per cent. of which is dirt and grease. Why not establish a scouring mill at that place and keep the money which is now paid to the railroad companies, at home, where it will be circulated amongst our people and invested in local enterprises. If some responsible party or parties would take the lead in this matter, the project could easily be accomplished. We hope to see this kind of an institution established in the near future.—Antelope Herald.

The majority of all the wool raised in Eastern Oregon is handled at this point, and with the erection of a scouring mill there would be more. It will be only a matter of a short time till the river is opened, when by competition freight tariffs will be merely nominal, which will be a perpetual advantage that The Dalles will enjoy over Pendleton. With all these considerations it would seem that a scouring mill is almost thrust upon us. We should be glad to have some of our capitalists consider this question and if there is anything in it, establish the industry. When the locks are opened, The Dalles will take rank as an inland seaport, and is capable of immense growth.

LITTLE CURIOUS THINGS.

Jumbo's bones weighed exactly 2,400 pounds after every shred of flesh had been cleaned from them.

The hat worn by Napoleon at the battle of Eylau was sold in Paris in 1835 for a sum equal to $400 in United States currency.

One of the most prized relics belonging to the New York Historical society is the tail of King George III's horse. It was taken at Bowling Green.

The poet Shelly feared being buried alive. In order to guard against it he ordered his heart removed. This queer relic is still preserved at Bascombe manor, Bournemouth, England.

The thimble was first called the "thumb bell" because used on the thumb instead of upon the finger, as at present. "Thimble," therefore, is obviously a contraction of "thumb bell." The sultan of Turkey is a monomaniac on the subject of carriages. He has been steadily engaged in making a collection of such vehicles for the past twenty years and now has nearly five hundred of all makes and kinds.

TRAJAN, the Roman emperor, had a palace sunken under Lake Nemi. It was five hundred feet long, two hundred and seventy feet wide and sixty feet high. There was an arched tunnel leading from the shore to the main entrance.

Managed It Between Them.

It used to be the custom in England for pheasants to feed from boxes which opened when the bird stood on a rail in front, the box shutting to again as soon as the bird left the rail. By this device the food was protected from all manner of thieves. It so happened, according to Bishop Stanley, of Norwich, that a coot or water-hen had studied the movements of the pheasants, and being anxious to get its meals as easily as they got theirs it tried the box one day. As it was not heavy enough to raise the lid, it kept jumping on the rail to give extra force to its weight; still the result was not satisfactory. Accordingly, it went away, but returned soon with another coot. The weight of the two birds was now sufficient to cause the box to open.

ADJOURN OR FIGHT.

That Was the Problem at the Convention Today.

The Regulation Democratic Harmony with the Usual Accessories—Warm Words Over Trivial Matters.

About seventy-five delegates to the democratic state convention are in the city today. Many arrived during the night from points east and west, but the greater number arrived today from Portland, Forest Grove, McMinnville, etc., on the accommodation train. These were met at the Umatilla house by the city band, and were welcomed by many leading democrats of the city. Members of Tammany and Jefferson clubs of Portland were distinguishable by their silk badges, but others were merely decorated by tall hats and a genial smile.

The procession headed by The Dalles band formed in the rain and marched to the court house. Justice Schutz advanced to the front and gave an address of welcome on behalf of Wasco county democrats. J. L. Story spoke for the Cleveland club. Both speeches were well received and hearty applause followed each. Secretary C. N. Wait, of Portland called the convention to order and called for nominations for temporary chairman. There was a lull before the storm and then it broke. A youth named Gates was first on the floor and in a very pretty speech nominated M. V. Harrison of Hood River, and extolled his virtues. R. L. Head of Portland, seconded it. R. L. Hayden, editor of the Portland Catholic Sentinel, nominated W. F. Butcher, late candidate for presidential elector. After much discussion as to how they should vote, the viva voce method was finally adopted. M. V. Harrison received 26 votes while Mr. Butcher had only 17, and so they escorted Mr. Harrison to the chair. He made a neat speech of thanks. R. L. Hayden of Portland was elected secretary. Mr. Hayden is a man who can't be bluffd.

The chair appointed as a committee on credentials Pat Powers, J. H. Cradlebaugh, H. P. McGuire, R. L. Head and Emil Schutz. At this point the fun commenced. The bomb shell was thrown and the fuse lighted by Secretary Hayden, who questioned the right of R. L. Head to sit in the convention and serve on the committee of credentials. The discussion waxed warm and warmer in spite of all conciliatory speeches, such as calling all opponents "Those damned republicans who have been usurping the office of righteous democrats." Flowery speeches wafted through the air till the whole atmosphere had a floral tinge. The bottles of eloquence were uncorked and words flowed in mellifluous streams. There was one gentleman whose portrait at particular points in his speech we would like to show. W. F. Butcher declared that "The republicans are here watching us make asses of ourselves." It was lots of fun for the republicans.

Mr. Head, when his eligibility was questioned withdrew from the committee. His friends refused to allow him. Chas. A. Petran moved that the committee as appointed by the chair be approved by the convention. More discussion and more discussion, and still more discussion followed, till the prospects for an all night session were bright. Finally J. H. Cradlebaugh settled things by moving to adjourn till 4 o'clock. This opinion prevailed and the convention broke up. Tomorrow we will tell you what they did after 4 o'clock.

Rather Excited.

"We've got the asylum! They're coming!" said a wildly excited individual, as he rushed into the sanctum today.

"How do you know, and who's coming?" gasped the editor, as he fell back in his chair.

"Why, we've got the asylum, because a train full of inmates are coming; hear her whistle?" and he rushed down to the Umatilla house to satisfy his curiosity as to what the democrats, who are visiting us today, look like.

It is a large eight-page paper, and contains 56 columns of the choicest agricultural and literary matter, plentifully embellished with fine illustrations. It is NATIONAL IN CHARACTER, and deals with farming and farmer's interests on broad, practical lines. It EMPLOYS THE BEST WRITERS IN THE COUNTRY, and everything that appears in its columns is of the highest character. Every department of the farmer's business is discussed in an earnest, practical way, looking to the greatest profit and benefit to the farmer and his family. It appears on the 1st and 15th of each month, and is furnished at the low price of 50 CENTS A YEAR in advance. This makes it the cheapest agricultural paper in the country.

During the coming year there will be an immense number of matters of the most vital interest to farmers dealt with by Congress and the Executive Departments at Washington. It is highly important that the farmers be kept promptly and fully informed as to what is being planned and done affecting them at the National Capital. They should all, therefore, take THE AMERICAN FARMER, which, being on the ground, has better facilities than any other paper for getting this information, and devotes itself to this duty. They will find in it constantly a great amount of valuable information that they can get in no other paper.

THE AMERICAN FARMER AND THE CHRONICLE will be sent one year for $1.75.
