Josh Billings said the reason he liked a monkey was because he didn't know what it was going to do next. He ought to have attended the 1894 democratic convention at The Dalles.

If Chairman Wilson believes, that it don't cost anything to raise sheep in this country, let him come out to Oregon and invest a few thousand, and watch it melt to the tune of his new bill.

"I'm a democrat!" yelled a man in the convention last evening. "Yes, but damn you, you voted the republican ticket," was the answer from a neighboring seat. To vote the republican ticket is not very good evidence of damnation.

How the democratic convention could have endorsed the Chicago platform and the Cleveland administration in the same sentence is inexplicable. They are as opposed as the poles of the earth.

The Ochoco Review, in commenting on an article in the Salem Statesman, which says Binger Hermann will accept the nomination of governor of Oregon if tendered him, says:

The republicans of Oregon had just as well leave Mr. Hermann where he is. They are not likely to get a better man in congress than he, and might get one a whole lot worse.

Mr. Hermann is where he can do more good for Oregon, than by placing him in Governor Penoyer's shoes.

Mr. Wilson in his speech before the house yesterday in support of his bill, argued against the "iniquitous" tax of woolen manufactured goods. His bill, however, taxes sugar, and there is $10 worth of sugar bought in the United States to $1 of woolen goods.

The rush of a big delegation at this time from Umatilla county to try to force the location of the insane asylum at Pendleton when it is considered that Umatilla is the only county in Eastern Oregon that has a state institution—the state normal school—for which a big appropriation was made by the last legislature, shows a greediness that is not commendable.

The gentlemen who compose the majority of the ways and means committee are many of them from the southern states. Several of them are from obscure towns which never contained a woolen mule or a cotton spindle.

The American Wool and Cotton Reporter speaks in unmistakable terms upon the idocy of the Wilson bill, and says it is the workingman's battle. If they wish to regain their lost prosperity they must rise en masse not to petition their representatives in congress, but to demand that they shall desist from all attempts at legislation which will result in their degradation.

plunged in up to the hilt, ending forever the political career of the unworthy servants who betrayed them. Let the workmen convey this message in unmistakable terms to their representatives, and the infamous Wilson bill will be defeated.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES. The patronage of bicycle riders is nowadays no inconsiderable part of the custom of country hotels in districts where the roads are good.

Miss Dod, the best of English women tennis players, won the west of England championship when she was only fifteen years old.

A REGULAR funeral service was held several days ago over the remains of the crack race horse Prince Deceiver at Latonia, Ky., who was then buried in the center of a large field and a handsome headstone erected over the grave.

MONTE CARLO seems to have prospered this year more than it ever has done. The shares are now worth five times their original value, and plans are being made for increasing operations.

THERE is a movement in Canada for having a national park created in the Nepigon country in order that the trout fishing may be eternally perpetuated. The movers hope to see five miles of the Nepigon river north of Lake Superior set apart and guarded and the river kept stocked with fish.

"THE rest nowhere," a vigorous bit of exaggeration in popular use at the race tracks the world over, was first uttered by a sporting Irishman, Capt. O'Kelly, at Epsom, May 8, 1769, when Eclipse distanced the field. "Eclipse first, the rest nowhere," was the captain's terse description of the race.

ECHOES OF EUROPE.

NO UNVACCINATED man is permitted to vote in Norway.

It would cost $100,000,000 to feed the human beings and domestic animals of Paris for six months.

PIOUS Russians do not eat pigeons because of the sanctity conferred on the dove in the Scriptures.

FRANCE is the only European country which has to-day fewer able-bodied men than it had thirty years ago.

It is seriously proposed to purify the Thames by importing a school of crocodiles to act as river scavengers.

FOREST AND GARDEN.

VENEZUELA has milk trees. THERE are thirty species of tobacco. PLANTS placed under blue glass will starve, because they cannot absorb carbonic acid from the atmosphere.

PROF. DOLLEY, of the University of Pennsylvania, has discovered that the thyrus carried by Bacchus was the flower cluster of the date palm, not a fir or pine cone as usually translated.

WILLIAM R. SMITH, for many years superintendent of the botanical gardens in Washington, has, it is said, personally directed the planting of more than six million trees in different parts of the United States.

SECURE JUSTICE.

How a French Soldier Brought About the Recognition of His Merit. It is usually possible to secure recognition for real merit, but to accomplish this some ingenuity is required at times.

He had every claim to the command of a company in his regiment, but the colonel asked that the appointment be given to one of his proteges. Chevert went to Versailles and obtained an audience with the minister of war.

"Very well," said Chevert, "simply write to my colonel and ask him to recommend some brave and skillful soldier for an important and difficult task."

The persistent cough which usually follows an attack of the grip can be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. W. A. McGuire, of McKay, Ohio, says: "La Grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure."

THE DALLES

Wasco County, Oregon.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
