DESTRUCTIVE OCCUPATIONS.

Poisons That Lurk for Flax and Artificial Flower Workers.

Very little is known of the danger to life and health that exists in many occupations where women are largely employed. In England a league has been formed to call attention to the facts of the case, and Mrs. C. Mollet has made extensive investigations, says the New York Sun.

In the linen trade the flax has to be left to soak in the water, and rheumatism, bronchitis and pneumonia seize upon the women who have to deal with it in this stage. In the flax-carding department the fine dust produces lung disease and kills its victims at thirty. In fur-cape making the odor and the fine fluff are both extremely injurious. A singular injury is caused to artificial flower makers, especially those employed in making white flowers by gaslight. The dry dust causes inflamed eyelids, and the work is so trying that women are worn out long before middle age. In the china trade the clay dust settles year by year in the lungs until consumption results.

In the white-lead trade horrors are found quite equal to those of the phosphorus match trade. Lead is in itself highly poisonous, and the most dangerous part of the process of making the ordinary blue pigs of lead into the deadly white carbonate is carried on by women, because it requires less muscular strength than the rest. Cakes of lead are put to ferment in tan and acetic acid for three months, and then the cakes have to be grabbed out of the mixture by hand, the poison getting under the finger nails. After being ground to powder under water the dishes of damp lead have to be placed in a stove to dry for a fortnight. The worst part is when these poor women have to take away the dry, hot, white carbonate of lead from the stoves. Even the muffled heads, the woolen respirators, the sack overalls, fail to keep out the deadly dust. They rarely live many years; sometimes a few weeks or months bring on the symptoms of acute lead poisoning, to which they rapidly succumb. This white carbonate of lead is used for glazing china and enamel advertisements. The only safeguard would be in prohibiting the manufacture, and it would be possible to do so, for various substitutes are in the market.

The Japanese believe that their emperors are descendants from the gods, the present mikado being the one hundred and twenty-first in direct line from the Heavenly being.

The maharajah of Kapoorthella, with his youthful wife and suite, are indulging in the social gayeties of Vienna. The prince and princess take daily lessons in social etiquette.

The widowed crown princess of Austria has presented her bridal robe of brocaded white satin, embroidered with her own arms and those of the Hapsburgs, to the church of Bozen. It has been transformed into a magnificent chasuble.

KING LOBENGULA'S pictures show the royal savage to be a man of extraordinary proportions. His only dress is a plume stuck in his woolly hair, a cape made of feathers and a kilt made of the bushy part of ox tails, hence his picture is totally unlike a Paris fashion plate.

Deserving Praise

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, as we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Snipes & Kinersly's druggists.

About a year ago I took a violent attack of la grippe. I coughed day and night for about six weeks; my wife then suggested that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. At first I could see no difference, but still kept trying it, and soon found that it was what I needed. If I got no relief from one dose I took another, and it was only a few days until I was free from the cough. I think people in general ought to know the value of this remedy, and I take pleasure in acknowledging the benefit I have received from it. MADISON MUSTARD, Otway, Ohio. The Land of The Setting Sun

Is still a mysterious and unexplored country to many a resident of the cyclone-ridden East and the barren Rocky-mountain region, but who, though possessed of a desire to see the great Empire of the Pacific, has up till now failed to muster the necessary energy to make the trip. It seems to them like a great journey, that along the way still linger the pitfalls and dangers of border days. But this Empire has made gigantic strides since 1849. It is not now alone the land of gold and glorious sunsets, but a stretch of country given to mellow fruitfulness, comprising all products from the luscious fig and orange of the tropics to the mammoth red apples of colder climes.

Wasco County, Oregon.

There is still thousands of acres of Government land left in Wasco county, capable of raising apples, peaches, grapes, prunes, and small fruits. Three hundred dollars clear money has been made from an acre of prunes, and $1,000 an acre from the humble strawberry. It will pay those who imagine that Uncle Sam's domain is exhausted, to make a trip to the "golden west" and see for themselves all that is to be known. There is no excuse for putting off this trip till a later time. An attraction is presented which of itself will pay for the trip. This is the
