JANUARY JOTTINGS.

Minor Events Which Pertain to City and Country.

The river is stationary. It is snowing generally in the Grande Ronde country.

It has tried its best to rain today, but only got up to a good sprinkle.

Large cakes of ice were floating in the Columbia yesterday, which came from Snake river.

Seven feet of snow is reported at Kamela, the summit of the road this side of La Grande.

Twenty-six engines, all the available force that can be mustered from La Grande, are wrestling with the snow.

Read the new advertisement of the East End Hose company, who will give a grand ball on the evening of February 5th.

Mr. Ed. Wingate returned last night from Antelope, and reports that it has been very cold, the thermometer ranging close to zero.

There will be a special school meeting on Saturday, the 27th inst., at the brick school house building, for the purpose of voting a school tax for 1893.

Stock on the range is in splendid condition. They are now subsisting on the new grass, which is abundant and nutritious, and are as fat as in midsummer.

Praise and prayer meeting at the Congregational church this evening from 7 to 8 o'clock. Topic, A prayer of Jesus; a benediction. (John xvii.) All persons not attending elsewhere are cordially invited.

Various postoffices have received a lot of Columbian stamps from the department. It appears that the stamps of this kind left over have been distributed throughout the country, to be closed out and got rid of.

On Tuesday evening next will be a very interesting event at the court house, being a lecture by Hon. D. P. Thompson on "Turkey," to which country he has recently been U. S. minister. Admission 25 cents.

We read reports daily of railroads going into the hands of receivers, but we note with pleasure one road which is not only paying expenses, but making money. That road is the Oregon Portage, managed by the state.

The Union Pacific trains are having a hard time these days for 100 miles or so east of Pendleton. There are nine or ten landslides between there and La Grande, while snow in large drifts bothered the engineers in a number of places.

The equalization board have sent in the net assessable value of Wasco county, which is $3,358,907, a reduction of $7,141. This is obtained by a reduction of 20 per cent. on horses, 33 1/2 per cent. on swine, and an increase of 10 per cent. on notes and accounts.

Not long ago Wm. Card and his sons were engaged in digging a well some seven miles below Zillah, Wash. The excavation had reached a depth of 45 feet, when the well caved in, burying under tons of earth Golar, an 18-year-old son of Mr. Card.

Sheriff Simmons of Yakima is in the city today and will leave tonight with one G. H. Johnson, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The prisoner was not compelled to go with the sheriff, being in Oregon, but expressed a willingness to go to the scene of his alleged crime and clear up the matter.

Mr. Troy Shelley has received a circular letter from E. B. McElroy with the following paragraph marked: "All school districts in your county desiring to levy a local tax for any or all school purposes whatever, must do so between this and the first day of February, or otherwise they will be compelled to wait for another year."

The state deputy game warden of Colorado has found another small herd of buffalo, larger than the one found in Lost Park last summer, in North Park, Routt county. The region is more isolated than any other part of Colorado.

The herd is said to consist of two dozen rare animals, very tame and fed regularly by some few farmers who inhabit the lonely park. These people have constituted themselves as special protectors of the herd. Their existence is kept quiet through fear of agents, taxidermists and hunters.

The Coatsworth Elevator.

The Coatsworth elevator, Buffalo, N. Y., recently burned, and a new one will be built, costing $300,000. It will be 80 by 202 feet and the main building will be 160 feet in height.

Messrs. C. J. Coatsworth and brother of The Dalles, are brothers of the Buffalo elevator company.

School District Taxes.

State Superintendent McElroy yesterday was sending out to county superintendents a circular letter calling attention to the provisions of law respecting the levying of school taxes.

Many school clerks neglect to observe the terms of the law and they may find themselves without sufficient school money before the end of the year.

Business of the Land Office.

The following shows the amount of business at The Dalles land office for the calendar year ended Dec. 31, 1893, taken from the records of the office at The Dalles:

Larger Than Portland.

The conditions of the Manchester ship canal were much the same as we have it in Oregon, in the matter of Portland and The Dalles and an open river—except that The Dalles is not quite a Manchester, nor is Portland quite as large as Liverpool.

Hood River Hydrant Co.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the county clerk's office today of the Hood River Hydrant Company.

THE MARKETS.

Business Dull and Merchants Invoicing.—The Latest Quotations.

FRIDAY, Jan. 12.—The past week has developed no new phases in business or the market. The stocks of merchandise on hand are somewhat broken and the merchants during the quiet season are employed in invoicing, straightening and balancing up their books preparatory to the incoming business season.

Produce of all kinds continue in good supply and prices remain nominal without any indication of any change in the outlook. The egg market is down and dealers are paying 15 cents per dozen today.

Live stock for butcher's market are in fair demand. Good fat steers are quoted at $2.25@2.50. Dry cows at $1.65@2.00 per 100 lbs.

The cereal market is decidedly off in activity. Barley for feeding purposes is dull at 50 cents per 100 lbs cash to 55 cents in trade.

The wool situation continues gloomy. Several lots of Eastern Oregon changed hands in Boston not long since at 6 and 8 cents per pound.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

The Salem Chinamen refuse to register.

Henry Blackman's appointment as collector of internal revenue for the district of Washington and Oregon is recognition of the Jewish element of our population.

Douglas county hired an expert to examine the records of the county and now he brings in a bill for $823.30. The county court is now talking of "experting" the expert.

Judge Fullerton, at Corvallis, set aside the sale of the Oregon Pacific railroad on the ground of the inadequacy of the price and the irregularity of the proceedings.

D. W. Coolidge, secretary of the state board of equalization, is an enthusiastic horticulturist. He has growing on his small fruit farm near Eugene some 300 varieties of fruits and nuts.

The Salem Fruit and Produce company has a call from St. Louis for two carloads of dried apples to be shipped as soon as possible.

Like the twelve sons of the Missouri patriarch, the eighteen pupils of the Merlin school district in Josephine county are all boys, and the teacher, even is not of the gentler sex.
