JANUARY JOTTINGS.

Minor Events Which Pertain to City and Country.

Little Johnnie took a mirror, and he licked the back all off. Thinking in his childish fancy, it would cure his whooping cough.

The funeral of Ella Maddron will take at 11 o'clock tomorrow from the Christian church.

Keep in mind the ball of the East End hose company, which occurs Feb. 22, 1894.

The school board will conduct a meeting Saturday, at which will be voted the annual school tax.

The place to buy mixed candy is at H. H. Campbell's, only 10 cents a pound, but little more than the cost of the sugar it is made of.

The tax levy in Umatilla county this year is 38 mills. Just 17 mills more than the state and county tax levy of Wasco county for 1893.

A very successful meeting is being held in Hood River, under the leadership of Evangelist Woods of Portland. A number of conversions have already been made.

The Salem Statesman was about the only newspaper in this section this year with courage to print a mammoth new year edition. It is a credit to the paper, comprising 24 pages.

A marriage license was granted today to Mr. Hollis R. Blue and Miss Lillian Reavis. Both have been teachers in Wasco county and have a large circle of friends who will congratulate them.

The state board of trustees of the Oregon school for deaf mutes and the reform school yesterday purchased 320 acres of land of ex-Gov. Z. F. Moody, paying $16,050. The tract will be divided between the reform school and the mute school.

An editor in one of our neighboring towns was fired out of church because, in a spirit of absent mindedness, while the congregation were singing the lines of an old familiar hymn, he bawled out: "Let every kindred, every tribe, on this terrestrial ball, put down their dollars and subscribe, and we'll receipt for all."—Ex.

Sleighting Under Difficulties.

We know everyone will sympathize with Sheriff Ward when they read the annexed account of his difficulties. He was met when about half way to Dufur by Mr. M. J. Anderson. Ward was in his sleigh, pounding the horses over the back, while the vehicle was grating along on the ground most of the time, hitting rocks and big frozen lumps of mud.

The persistent cough which usually follows an attack of the grip can be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. W. A. McGuire, of McKay, Ohio, says: "La Grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure. I have also found it to be without an equal for children when troubled with colds or croup. Fifty-cent bottles for sale by Blakely & Houghton, druggists."

Look Over Your County Warrants. All county warrants registered prior to January 16th, 1894, will be paid if presented at my office, corner of Third and Washington streets. Interest ceases on and after this date.

Shiloh's cure, the Great Cough and Croup Cure, is for sale by Snipes & Kinersly. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by Snipes & Kinersly.

CORBETT THE WINNER.

He Knocks His Antagonist Out in Three Rounds.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 24.—[Special to THE CHRONICLE.]—James J. Corbett, America's brawny champion, has proved his fitness for the place of honor which his sinews and muscles won for him, and the tail of the British lion has been severely stepped upon. Charles Mitchell is groveling in the dust of defeat, having been knocked out in three rounds by Corbett.

First round—Corbett led with his left on Mitchell's chin. They clinched and exchanged body blows and Jim reached the Englishman's left eye heavily. Corbett upper-cut Mitchell and landed with his right on his ribs. Mitchell reached Jim's chin and followed it up by a blow on the neck. Honors easy.

Second round—Wild exchange of blows. Corbett upper-cut his man. Mitchell landed hard on Jim's ribs but in the rally Corbett had the best of it. Mitchell got in twice on Corbett's neck but Corbett immediately proceeded to knock Mitchell down twice in succession. The gong is all that saved the Englishman.

Third round—Mitchell rather groggy. Corbett rushed at him, swung his right and left heavily on Mitchell's neck. Mitchell went down and took full time to rise. Then Corbett rushed at him to put him out. Mitchell clinched, Corbett threw him off with a blow in the face and floored him again. Mitchell again took his time and when he got up Corbett punched him on the nose knocking him down and out. The referee declared Corbett the winner of the match and champion of the world.

Compliments Mr. Chrisman's Dryer.

Mr. A. Y. Marsh, a leading fruit-grower of this section, writes enthusiastically of Mr. Chrisman's fruit dryer, to that gentleman himself. Mr. Marsh says:

I have been thinking a good deal about the different fruit dryers this last fall and winter. I have dried a good deal of fruit and have seen about all of the different dryers. I had determined to build one of the Canson dryers, but after having seen one of them and the way they work I must say that your dryer excels them in every way. In the first place there is a great saving of labor in handling the trays, and it dries the fruit more evenly, besides saving all the labor of picking the fruit over and putting it back. There is another thing about your dryer that I like, and that is the way the trays revolve around the drum. By this method the fruit is bound to dry evenly. It will not burn, because if the heat is greater in one place than another, by the trays revolving the fruit all gets the same heat. There is no doubt about your dryer being the best in use, if it is built right. I am going to build one soon and if they would come and put up one of any other kind on my place for nothing, I would rather pay the price of yours than to have any one of them for nothing. You may publish this if you wish, for fruit growing is my business, have been successful and intend to stay with it. I will say one word more. If anyone has built one of your dryers and it will not work, they ought to get some one to work on it who understands the plan of it. It cannot help but work. Wishing you success I am, Yours truly, A. Y. MARSH.

Moister Squibs.

Editor CHRONICLE: We are enjoying a good snow down here now. It is about 2 1/2 feet deep and more coming.

There is a great deal of sickness in the neighborhood in the shape of la grippe, but we think the big snow will drive it away and are getting better.

There was a special school meeting held at the school house at district No. 8 for the purpose of voting a tax on all taxable property. The tax was fixed at 8 mills on the dollar, which will give an income of about $4. The tax was voted unanimously.

Sacred Concert.

All lovers of good music should not miss the sacred concert given by the choir of the Congregational church Sunday evening. Those who have heard their beautiful singing know well to what high standard they have attained and what excellence may be expected from them on this occasion. The services will be very interesting, and the congregation bid welcome to those that come. Rev. Mr. Curtis will make a short address. The members of the choir are Mrs. B. S. Huntington, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Schmidt, Sampson and Campbell, Drs. Botkin and Doane and Messrs. Johnson and Phelps. We have secured the program for the occasion, which can be readily seen to have great merit.

Dufur Revivals.

Dufur has been treated to a three-months siege of revivalists, who have wrestled long and earnestly with the people there. They have not been phenomenally successful, owing either to there being too much of a good thing or that the town is really a modern Sodom. While there have been few conversions, the meetings have been well attended and an influence for good has been exerted in the general good feeling that has resulted between the evangelists and people. Rev. J. W. Jenkins will especially be always welcomed. He is as unassuming as he is brainy, as earnest as modest, and the cardinal virtues of the Christian religion are shown up in their purity at his hands, which results in that benign sympathy of good fellowship which all have at some time or other experienced, even if further inroads cannot be made into stony hearts to the extent of inducing them to "repent and be baptized."

DIED.

In this city, Jan. 24th, 1894, of consumption, Miss Ella Maddron, eldest daughter of W. A. Maddron, aged 23 years, 10 months and 20 days.

We are often reminded of the lessons to be gained by the lives of great men and women, but no greater lesson of true nobility can be taught than that exemplified in the life of this young lady who was called from life yesterday. Left at the age of 14 years to be a mother to four children, the youngest a mere babe, she has fulfilled that mission in a self-sacrificing, loving manner, although herself almost an invalid; and under the most trying circumstances was always cheerful and thoughtful of others. Not only in her home-life was her sweet influence felt, but among her neighbors and friends was she a ministering angel. For a number of years she has been a constant sufferer, but has been confined to her bed but two months, and as her scores of friends part from her it is with the assuring thought that "She hath done what she could."

A FRIEND.

AN EXPENSIVE EXPERIENCE.

A Student of Vivisection Who Visited Africa and Acquired Costly Knowledge. One of the most curious expeditions ever planned by man was that once undertaken by Dr. J. A. Bunting, of Portland, says the Lewistown (Me.) Journal. During all his life he had been a close student of the philosophy of digestion, and for the purpose of his investigations he had that remarkable Canadian, Alexis St. Martin, in his care for twenty years. In order to clinch matters and provide facts for some of the doubting Thomases, Dr. Bunting cast about for some one else upon whom he might continue to experiment. He could think of but one plan, and that was to go into Africa, buy two slaves and operate upon their stomachs. By opening the body near the fifth rib and perforating the stomach a condition could be produced similar to that existing in the case of St. Martin. Therefore the doctor purchased his supplies and sailed across to Tunis in the north of Africa. There he hired a native chief with forty of his followers, paying them a liberal retaining fee and promising them alluring largess when the trip should be ended. They set forth. The doctor carried $5,000 in his inside pocket, and the chief probably lay awake four nights thinking about the matter. At any rate on the fifth night he sneaked into the doctor's tent and delivered a little address at the point of two pistols. When he had concluded the doctor passed over his ducats and the chief passed over the border along with his renegade band. They helped themselves to the supplies that suited their artless and unenlightened tastes. The doctor came back without a retinue and with a deal of experience that will never appear in a medical work.

Whist Club Banquet.

The members of the Whist Club of '94 held a banquet last evening in the parlors of Campbell Bros. Ten young ladies and gentlemen sat down to a sumptuous feast, comprising many delicacies. Everyone was in the best of spirits, and mirth and laughter filled the room and made the occasion a lasting one in the remembrance of those who were present. Toasts were given and funny stories told till midnight came and the feasting was at an end. Those present were: Beulah Patterson, Elizabeth Sampson, Maybel Mack, Aimee Newman, Clara Story, Grace Sharp, Etta Story, Nona Ruch, Grace Campbell, Grace Marden, Max Vogt, Fred W. Wilson, John H. Weigle, Ed Wingate, Victor Marden, Robt. Mays, jr., John Hampshire, Charles Clarke and Harry Liebe.

Progressive Whist Party.

Misses Allie and Olivia Rowland gave a progressive whist party last evening at their parent's residence, which was enjoyed by the guests very much. At the close of the score, Miss Caddie Booth was awarded the first honor and Miss Alma Schmidt the second and the party were then favored with a dainty lunch and music. Among those present were Misses Alma and Edith Schmidt, Caddie Booth, Messrs. Joseph Bonn, F. Deitzel, Wm. Fredden, Fred Weigle, Ralph Rowland and Frank Garretson.

SERVANTS IN INDIA.

They Are Vastly Different from Those in This Country.

Domestic life in India is without the annoyance of the servant question, says an exchange. You never need tell a servant what you want done in that country. They seem to know it by intuition. The ordinary household has about twelve servants—a cook, a waiter, a sort of valet de chambre and, if you have two horses, two grooms; one man to run before you when you go out riding and take charge of your horse, another man whose business it is to collect for your horse's feed the grass which grows in a vine-like manner upon the roads. Then in summer you require three or four men who work the large fans or "punkas" over you night and day while you are walking and while you are sleeping; then last, but not least, a watchman.

This last institution is a peculiar one. If you did not have him you would be liable to find something stolen every night. Strangest of all, the only man who is a successful watchman must be a thief—the caste of a thief. He makes no pretensions of being anything else, but as long as you have him in your employ nothing will ever be stolen. While the native Hindoos are very dishonest, the only way in which to keep your valuables safe is to give them into their hands for keeping. If one locks five hundred dollars in his chest one would be sure that some thief or other one of the servants would steal it; but if the money is given to a servant he would guard it with his life.

FARMER LEGISLATION. During the coming year there will be an immense number of matters of the most vital interest to farmers dealt with by Congress and the Executive Departments at Washington. It is highly important that the farmers be kept promptly and fully informed as to what is being planned and done affecting them at the National Capital. They should all, therefore, take THE AMERICAN FARMER, which, being on the ground, has better facilities than any other paper for getting this information, and devotes itself to this duty. They will find in it constantly a great amount of valuable information that they can get in no other paper.

THE AMERICAN FARMER and THE CHRONICLE will be sent one year for $1.75.
