JANUARY JOTTINGS.

Minor Events Which Pertain to City and Country.

When Eve brought wool to all mankind, Old Adam called her wool-man; And when she woo'd with love so kind, He then pronounced it wool-man.

Sheriff Ward's sleigh is doomed. The chinook is fast solving the snow problem.

Country roads are worse, if possible, than ever. Remember the soiree tomorrow evening in the Chrysanthemum hall, 50c.

If the warm weather continues we may look for a sudden rise of the river.

Seven prisoners are in the county jail awaiting trial at the February term of court.

Deputy Sheriff Phirman went to Salem this morning with Edward Woods, who was adjudged insane Wednesday.

Messrs. Saltmarsh & Co. will ship three cars of cattle to the Union Packing Company of Portland this evening.

The Farmers and Merchants Insurance Company, of Albany, Or., are arranging their affairs to go out of business.

The brute force exhibited at Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday by the brutes Corbett and Mitchell is a disgrace to manhood and humanity.

Circuit court convenes on the 12th of February. The docket will be larger than ever before during Judge Bradshaw's administration.

It was hoped that a battalion drill would be held this year by the entire state militia, but owing to the prevalent hard times the plan is, at least temporarily, abandoned.

The man who noticed that "large rivers happen to run by large cities" has just discovered that men who do the most business happen to have the big advertisements in the papers.

The citizens of Hood River are talking about a new county road up the river to the Baldwin neighborhood and the east side settlement, dispensing with the mountain climb and descent, as traveled now.

An old-fashioned chinook came up last night and made things rattle in its accustomed style for about an hour and a half. Through its influence the mercury went up from 26 to 45 degrees. The temperature to-day is sufficient to melt the snow very acceptably.

The executive committee of the State Association of Democratic clubs is called to meet in Portland, Friday, February 2, for the purpose of adopting a plan of campaign to be pursued by the democratic clubs of the state and to transact such other business as may come before the committee.

How We Grow.

Clepp & Co.'s weekly market letter contains the following gratifying statistical information:

Thirty-two years of protection show an increase of population from 31,443-321 to about 67,000,000. One hundred and twenty per cent. more persons are engaged in agriculture. Acreage doubled. Improved lands increased about 146 per cent. Land, improvements and live stock more than doubled in value.

Three bushels of grain are now raised where there was one. The hay crop always exceeds that of wheat or cotton. Newspapers and periodicals have increased in number 300 per cent. United States expenses annually are now about $55,000,000 less than Great Britain. They were $44,000,000 more than the receipts in the year 1893. We import only 40 per cent. as much, and three times as much as France. The United States government handles over 5,000,000 pieces of mail annually. The railway mileage of 1870 was 52,292, and is now 177,853. United Kingdom total failures for 1893 are reported 10 per cent. more than 1892, and about 5 per cent. more than in 1890.

LET WHEAT REST.

A Larger Yield Next Year Than Ever, and Prices Will Be Low.

The farmers of Oregon are too much given to the raising of wheat, and in years like the present, when its price is scarcely up to the cost of production, they receive a severe set-back. There are other crops which are always profitable, and yield just as well as wheat.

For instance, corn. With proper cultivation thirty to forty bushels of corn can be raised per acre, and it always brings a high figure. While the nights are not as warm the season is longer than in Kansas and Nebraska, which answers the same purpose, if the ground is stirred two or three times during the growing season. Broom corn is even more valuable and just suited to many localities where wheat does not do so well.

The present price of wheat is the lowest ever known, and at a time in the season when it should command the highest price. This year there has been a vast over-production of wheat, which is the only condition that could keep its price down so long. So great, in fact, is the over-production, that next year's crop will be affected by it, and with a yield less than the average the price a year hence cannot be much above what it is now.

But reports from abroad indicate a larger wheat yield next year than ever, and a low price for it is a foregone conclusion. For these reasons the farmer should raise other crops which will be more in demand, and let wheat alone for a year. The soil will also have a rest, and will do much better whenever wheat reaches its normal place again in the markets.

Filled With the Holy Spirit.

Edward Brekhus, a Norwegian, aged 21, whom ministers of the Lutheran church declare is the mouthpiece of God, and that he is filled with the spirit of the Holy Ghost, has the Swedish Norwegian residents of Tacoma in a state of great excitement. A few months ago, while in Seattle, he was taken with an epileptic fit, and the physicians were baffled by his disease, and his death was predicted to take place in a few days.

Brekhus surprised everybody the next day by rising from his bed entirely well. A week later he went to church, and while there fell into a fit and began talking. "Nobody was more surprised than I," said Brekhus. "I listen to myself talk with more interest, I'll bet, than anyone else." The ministers claim Brekhus preached an eloquent sermon while in this trance. In lucid intervals he is very ill, and knows nothing of scriptures. When in a fit or trance it is said he speaks with a familiarity of scriptures that is regarded as marvelous.

A number of Scandinavian ministers have made an investigation. Rev. Mr. Tollefson said there can be no doubt of his honesty and simplicity of character. The spirit of God is in him and uses him as the mouthpiece to speak truth and the gospel.

Youthful Crooks.

Walla Walla Statesman.

Colfax is passing through the same experience as Walla Walla. The police of that city on Tuesday arrested a gang of youthful thieves, ranging from the ages of 10 to 15 years, and lodged them in the city prison on numerous charges of petty larceny. The leader of the gang confessed and made a statement which showed that the quartet of boys, three of whom belong to respectable families, have been guilty of a series of burglaries and numerous thefts for nearly a year past. They were regularly organized, and had a rendezvous in a deep cave in a gulch near the eastern part of the city limits, where the officers discovered heaps of booty of various descriptions. Among the articles in the cave were nearly 100 door keys, stolen from different houses and stores. Many burglaries, which have been mysteries for months, and which were supposed to have been committed by professional crooks, are found to have been executed by this band of youthful rogues. The cave of the young robbers was visited by hundreds Wednesday afternoon. Incidents of Mark Twain's story, "Tom Sawyer," are vividly illustrated in the work of the young Colfax criminals.

Four Girls Killed.

From Grangeville, Idaho, comes news of the most melancholy tragedy that has occurred in the county since the Nez Perce war. An avalanche struck the home of the Thompson family, at the foot of a gulch putting into White Bird creek, and four girls, whose ages ran from 8 to 16, were killed.

Two men from Camas prairie stopped there that night and slept in the girls' room upstairs, while the girls made a shakedown bed downstairs. The snowslide went through the side of the house, throwing the boards down on them as they slept, and all were either crushed or smothered. An infant child which lay between the two oldest girls was recovered alive. The parents also slept downstairs, but escaped without injury, as did the guests.—Spokane Review.

THE MARKETS.

FRIDAY, Jan. 26.—The week has been very quiet in business circles; the movement in merchandise has been light. The grocery and provision trade has been of its usual magnitude for immediate demand. Prices have not changed since last report in any of the various lines; except that flour has dropped a shade. The produce market is dull and inactive; while eggs are in fair supply quotations may be said to be unchanged, although Mr. Fisher at the East End quotes them at 12 1/2 cts. per dozen. Other dealers continue to pay 15 cents. The tendency is downward however.

Butter is quotable at 35 to 40 cents per roll, on a good daily delivering from the ranches.

Poultry offerings have fallen off somewhat and there is a better tone to the market for all grades.

Potatoes are in fair supply at 40 to 50 cents per sack.

Cabbage 1 cent per lb.

Apples are in moderate demand at 40 to 60 cents per box. The quality and condition governs the price.

Pears 40 to 60 cents per box.

Hay—Good fresh wheat hay sells from wagons at $11.00 per ton. Timothy is not in much demand at present, but sellers readily obtain $12 to $13 per ton.

The feed-grain market is very quiet and prices are unchanged for oats and barley.

Mill feed, bran and shorts, have felt the decline in grains and have been marked down correspondingly.

The live stock market is dull.

Beef, mutton and porkers are on the market sparingly and quotations continue unchanged.

The wheat market is lifeless. All foreign advices indicate a downward tendency and May deliveries on a light advance on present quotations are shaky. The outlook for an improvement in the English market is not looked for. Advices from abroad forecast an increased acreage throughout Europe for 1894, over that recorded for 1893. Similar reports come from other parts of the world, whose exports figure more or less in the general volume of product.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

Colonel John McCracken was elected president, Frank Motter secretary and J. L. Hartman treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce last evening in Portland.

The Oregon City woolen mills are not running any machinery except the finishing, owing to a strike which is pending on account of a cut of 10 per cent. in wages.

A MAN OF FEW WORDS.

The Novel Expedient of a Dun-Ridden Debtor.

He was a man of few words and fewer dollars, says the Chicago Post. He didn't like to be disturbed, and he didn't like to enter into lengthy explanation. When a man came in, took a seat beside his desk and asked if he could settle that little account it wearied him to say: "Really, I'm sorry, but I haven't got the money to-day." And when the man suggested that it had been running a long time it wearied him still more to have to say: "Yes, I know it, but I have been very short. I'll try to have something for you next week." There was too much chance for a man to get pressing and annoy him by stringing out the interview. He tried keeping away from the office at the hour his creditors usually came, but they changed the hours of their calls, and he was still bothered and annoyed by their importunities just when he was busiest. Then he hit upon a brilliant scheme. He put in a day putting around his desk arranging things, and the following morning was ready when the first creditor arrived. He never looked up from his work as the creditor began: "Could you—" He simply pulled a string and a placard appeared which read: "No." The creditor walked sadly away without finishing the sentence. He even forgot to ask when he should call again. For three weeks now no creditor has received a verbal answer and the young man says it is a great relief. He can answer their questions without stopping his work, and the placard has a discouraging effect that makes them leave the sooner. His only mistake has been when a man entered hurriedly and began: "Would you like—" He pulled the placard into view and the man replied: "Oh, very well; I am in no hurry, if you are not." He looked up just in time to see that it was a man who owed him five dollars, but it was too late to catch him.

The persistent cough which usually follows an attack of the grip can be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. W. A. McGuire, of McKay, Ohio, says: "La Grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure. I have also found it to be without an equal for children when troubled with colds or croup. Fifty-cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

KNOCKED THE BRIDE SENSELESS

Only an Unfortunate Incident Growing Out of a Bridal Custom.

A well-known New York drummer returning from a southern trip relates the following story as of actual occurrence at a negro wedding in Charleston, S. C.:

After the ceremony had been concluded in the most approved style the groom, who was employed at one of the phosphate mines, a few miles from the city, bundled his bride into a rick cart, loaded some household effects into it and prepared, among salves of cheers and best wishes, to take her home.

At this stage in the proceedings one darky, who had traveled and been present as a waiter at the wedding of some white folks, suggested that the proper thing to do was to throw shoes after the departing couple as they drove away.

The idea took immensely, and such a scrambling as followed when the colored belles and beaux began to divest their feet of boots and shoes of various sizes and weights! Many of the men had no stockings on beneath their shoes, but that made no difference.

They all hung back, suppressing their enthusiasm until the happy groom brought a bale stick down on the back of the mule and started his bridal trip. Then with a howl of joy the guests burst forth and began a fusillade which was by no means relished by the happy pair.

The air was filled with flying missiles. One gigantic boot struck the groom in the small of the back and drew from him a wild yell of agony. Another hurtling through the air with unerring aim struck the bride full on the head and knocked her senseless.

This was too much for the groom. Leaping from his cart, with his bale stick in hand, he set about to thrash every one of the guests. As might be inferred, a wild riot ensued, or was about to, when a policeman came up and put a stop to it. Nothing, however, could appease the dusky groom until the officer assured him that he was not the victim of an indignity, but merely the object of a bridal custom such as white folks always observed.

About a year ago I took a violent attack of la grippe. I coughed day and night for about six weeks; my wife then suggested that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. At first I could see no difference, but still kept trying it, and soon found that it was what I needed. If I got no relief from one dose I took another, and it was only a few days until I was free from the cough. I think people in general ought to know the value of this remedy, and I take pleasure in acknowledging the benefit I have received from it. MADISON MUSTARD, Otway, Ohio. The American Farmer, 1729 New York Avenue, WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE AMERICAN FARMER, which is now entering upon its 75th year, is the pioneer farmer's paper in the country. It is a large eight-page paper, and contains 56 columns of the choicest agricultural and literary matter, plentifully embellished with fine illustrations. It is NATIONAL IN CHARACTER, and deals with farming and farmer's interests on broad, practical lines. It EMPLOYS THE BEST WRITERS IN THE COUNTRY, and everything that appears in its columns is of the highest character. Every department of the farmer's business is discussed in an earnest, practical way, looking to the greatest profit and benefit to the farmer and his family. It appears on the 1st and 15th of each month, and is furnished at the low price of 50 CENTS A YEAR in advance. This makes it the cheapest agricultural paper in the country.

FARMER LEGISLATION.

During the coming year there will be an immense number of matters of the most vital interest to farmers dealt with by Congress and the Executive Departments at Washington. It is highly important that the farmers be kept promptly and fully informed as to what is being planned and done affecting them at the National Capital. They should all, therefore, take THE AMERICAN FARMER, which, being on the ground, has better facilities than any other paper for getting this information, and devotes itself to this duty. They will find in it constantly a great amount of valuable information that they can get in no other paper.

THE AMERICAN FARMER AND THE CHRONICLE will be sent one year for $1.75.
