J. F. FORD, Evangelist,

Of Des Moines, Iowa, writes under date of March 23, 1893:

S. B. MED. MFG. CO.,
Dufur, Oregon.

Gentlemen:—
On arriving home last week, I found all well and anxiously awaiting. Our little girl, eight and one-half years old, who had wasted away to 38 pounds, is now well, strong and vigorous, and well fleshed up. S. B. Cough Cure has done its work well. Both of the children like it. Your S. B. Cough Cure has cured and kept away all hoarseness from me. So give it to every one, with greetings for all. Wishing you prosperity, we are Yours, Mr. & Mrs. J. F. FORD.

If you wish to feel fresh and cheerful, and ready for the Spring's work, cleanse your system with the Headache and Liver Cure, by taking two or three doses each week.
Sold under a positive guarantee.

HE GAINED HIS POINT

Insurgent Warships Fire on United States Vessels.

ADMIRAL BENHAM TOOK A HAND

Plumped a Six-Pound Shell Into De Gama's Flagship—The Latter Then Surrendered.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 30.—A naval battle between the American fleet on one side and the ships of the insurgents, under Admiral De Gama, came as near being precipitated in the harbor of Rio yesterday as one could possibly be. Three American barks notified Admiral Benham they wished to go to the Sandro piers, and they were assured they would be protected. De Gama, learning this, notified Benham that if the vessels attempted to go to the piers he would fire upon them. Benham replied that the vessels would go to the piers protected by the entire American fleet if necessary. Early in the morning five insurgent tugs hovered about the American barks, evidently waiting for them to get under way, when they would fire on them. Meantime great activity was going on on the American warships. The shrill whistle of the boatswains clearing the decks for action could be heard coming from all the ships of the American fleet. At 5 o'clock the Detroit hoisted anchor and with shotted guns steamed alongside the insurgent warships Trajana and Guanabara, both of which were lying close to the Good News, one of the American barks. As the Detroit took her position a shot from the Guanabara was fired at the Good News. The Detroit at once sent a six-pounder across the bows of the Guanabara, whereupon the latter replied with what is supposed to have been a blank shot. The Detroit then shot a small shell into the Guanabara's sternpost and was on the point of delivering a broadside at the Guanabara, when the latter signalled she would stop firing. Meantime an agent of De Gama had visited all three of the American barks and offered to tow them at the expense of the insurgents if they would not go to the piers. This they agreed to do. This arrangement was signalled to De Gama, who replied: "It is too late; the glass is broken. I must yield to this foreign fleet on superior force. I will resign and give my sword to the American admiral." It was expected later in the day that all the insurgent officers would seek an asylum on the American ship, but the younger officers would not yield. Benham said last night that De Gama, by his failure to surrender had lost an easy way out of his trouble. He added: "However, that's nothing to me. We have established our principle."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Troubles of Southern Democrats, Who Are Overridden.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26, 1894.

The free trade democrats are in the saddle this week, and they have ridden rough-shod over their democratic colleagues in the house who wanted protection for the leading industries of their districts and free trade for the rest of the country. The adoption of amendments to the Cleveland tariff bill, abolishing the proposed sliding bounty on domestic sugar and placing all grades of refined sugar on the free list, were apparent, but not real, defeats for the democrats of the ways and means committee. It is plain now that the democrats of that committee intended from the first to betray the sugar industry of the country, and that they knew perfectly well when they adopted that sliding bounty clause of the bill that a majority of the house would strike it out. The free traders of the house also won victories by defeating the amendments to put a duty on coal and on iron ore.

That the object of the free traders is to force the income tax through the house, in spite of democratic opposition, is now as plain as the nose on your face, and, although the democratic "kickers" are making a lot of noise, it looks as though they would succeed. Republicans are calmly looking on while these progressive steps towards free trade are being taken, believing that the nearer the Cleveland tariff bill is to an out and out free trade measure when it is sent to the senate next week, the more certain it is that it will be torn all to pieces, if not actually defeated, in that body. Democratic members of the house who do not like the bill are discussing the probability of carrying a motion to recommit the bill to the committee when the time comes to vote, but they cannot possibly do that without the solid republican vote of the house, and that cannot be had for any such purpose. The republicans will help to defeat the bill, but not to continue the uncertainty by recommitting it.

The cuckoo Hawaiian resolution approved by the democrats of the house committee on foreign affairs is a rather farcical attempt to extricate the administration from its present unpleasant predicament, and democrats who are not cuckoos say it cannot be adopted. It says that "we heartily approve of the principle announced by the president of the United States that interference with the domestic affairs of an independent nation is contrary to the spirit of American institutions," thus misrepresenting Mr. Cleveland's position and then approving the misrepresentation.

If the administration has no better expectation of financial help from congress than that which is based upon the bill Senator Voorhees says he is preparing, it is to be pitied. Dan Voorhees has been a member of the senate committee on finance for nearly seventeen years, but he has never in all that time fathered a single financial idea that was sound and practical, and a man doesn't often change his ideas when he reaches Dan's age, although they sometimes pretend to do so, in order to get something.

Senator Teller, who has been quoted by some democrats as favoring the democratic tariff program, sat down very heavily on such statements when he spoke as follows: "The industrial depression at present is fearful. The situation, I fear, will become still worse, for there is hardly a ray of sunshine the whole world over. This is what makes the present program of the democratic party so ridiculously absurd, and the issue of bonds amusing. The secretary of the treasury estimates the yearly deficit to be about $78,000,000, and he proposes to issue $50,000,000 worth of bonds to meet the present needs of the government. It is but a temporary expedient, a drop in the bucket, and only means further increase in the public debt, with no provision for its payment. The tariff tinkers propose to cut down the revenues of the government almost to a free trade basis. The effect of this will be to make a greater deficit and the consequent need of issuing more bonds, and therefore the further increase of the public debt in the time of peace. The way that the deficit can be made up, according to democratic theory, is by increasing importations."

Senator Cullom of Illinois, in a carefully worded speech went over the Hawaiian policy of the administration from its secret beginning to its inglorious and humiliating fizzling out. He called Mr. Blount a spy and the whole business a succession of blunders, varying from tragic to ridiculous and farcical, and concluded with this reference to Mr. Cleveland: "No other president of any party in our history of nearly a hundred and twenty years has ever put this people in an attitude of contempt and shame, subjected them to popular derision and made us a laughing stock before an enlightened world."

Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania, a democrat who has populist tendencies, remarked to Congressman Hendrix of Brooklyn, N. Y., a democrat who has protection tendencies, just after the house had voted to put refined sugars on the free list, "Well, this is free trade with a vengeance." "Free trade nothing," said Hendrix angrily, "it's h—l."

NEWS NOTES.

The Bell telephone patent expired yesterday.

The 14th district, New York, elected one democratic and one republican representative.

A meeting of 300 employes of the Union Pacific is in session at Cheyenne with closed doors. It is understood they voted not to submit to the schedule proposed by the Union Pacific.

In the senate Perkins of California presented a petition of 10,000 woolgrowers of California, irrespective of political party, against a reduction of the duty on wool.

Judge Cox, of the district supreme court, declined to grant the application of the Knights of Labor to compel Secretary Carlisle to show cause why he should not be enjoined from issuing $50,000,000 in bonds as proposed.

Representative Hall of Missouri, will introduce a bill providing that no pension shall be paid to anyone not a citizen of the United States. He says many foreigners who participated in the late war continue to draw pensions without becoming citizens, as they should.

Albert Stroeb, the murderer of John Marshall, of Huntington, was executed at Victoria Tuesday. He met his death calmly and bravely, preserving to the last the cool demeanor which characterized his every action during the terrible ordeal of the two trials and final death sentence.

How do you do when you buy shoes or clothing? Don't you go to the place (if you can find it) where they tell you that you may wear the articles out, and then, if you are not satisfied, they'll refund the money? Why not do the same when you buy medicine?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is sold on that plan. It's the only blood purifier so certain and effective that it can be guaranteed to benefit or cure, in every case, or you have your money back.

It's not like the ordinary spring medicines or sarsaparillas. All the year round, it cleanses, builds up, and invigorates the system. If you're bilious, run-down, or dyspeptic, or have any blood-taint, nothing can equal it as a remedy.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be much pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer $100 for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
