HOP RAISING.

Interest Taken in the Subject Near Home--Not an Experiment.

Farmers in the Tygh Valley section are exhibiting much interest in the matter of hop raising, and it is quite probable that several will plant at least a small patch for trial the coming spring. Mr. Robert Mays is very confident that they will prove a success, and, though he has no idea of engaging in their production at present, he proposes to plant a small tract at Tygh for the purpose of proving his surmises correct, and to encourage others who are inclined to engage in the industry.

That hop-raising in this climate is not an absolute venture is very satisfactorily proven by a visit to A. M. Williams & Co.'s general merchandise store by a reporter this morning. In the large warehouse are about ten bales of good quality hops that they have just received from Haystack, near Prineville, where they were grown by Mr. J. F. McCallister. For these Mr. Williams has been offered 12c in Portland, but he will hold them for a time in anticipation of a further rise.

The following letter received recently by Mr. E. Schanno, from Mr. Chas. Carpenter, a successful hop raiser of the Yakima, gives valuable information on the subject of raising them:

NORTH YAKIMA, Jan. 28.

Mr. Emile Schanno:

DEAR SIR--Yours of the 25th received asking for information in regard to starting a hop yard and in the first place I will say that the land should be ploughed well and deep and leveled and fixed up in good shape, when it should be staked off in straight rows seven feet apart each way, placing a small peg about a foot long where each hill is to be planted; then you can go to work and plant without removing the peg, of course planting the same side of the pegs all of the time. In staking out you can use a wire or strong twine string. If wire is used I would have it made in links just seven feet, so at the end of each length you can set a peg after drawing it straight. I think wire the best because it will not stretch any, but if string is used a strong piece of yarn can be tied on it just seven feet apart for markers after drawing it straight. In planting I would put three pieces in a hill and plant about the same depth as you would plant corn. Say from two to four inches in depth according to the soil; if very wet not so deep, but if very dry of course they would want to be deeper in order to get the proper moisture to start the growth. This is about all you would want to do the first year, except to cultivate them clean from weeds unless you would think best to pole them.

Here in this country when they get them planted very early in the spring they sometimes get from 500 to 1,000 pounds per acre the first year by poleing and taking good care of them, but as a rule I have my doubts as to its paying to pole hops the first year. If they fetch a good price I think it perhaps would pay to pole the first year if you get them in early and have good land for them to grow in.

Yours truly,
CHAS. CARPENTER.

Oldest Agricultural Paper in America. [ESTABLISHED 1810.]

To all cash subscribers of THE CHRONICLE paying one year in advance.

The American Farmer,

1729 New York Avenue,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE AMERICAN FARMER, which is now entering upon its 75th year, is the pioneer farmer's paper in the country. It is a large eight-page paper, and contains 56 columns of the choicest agricultural and literary matter, plentifully embellished with fine illustrations. It is NATIONAL IN CHARACTER, and deals with farming and farmer's interests on broad, practical lines.

EMPLOYS THE BEST WRITERS IN THE COUNTRY, and everything that appears in its columns is of the highest character. Every department of the farmer's business is discussed in an earnest, practical way, looking to the greatest profit and benefit to the farmer and his family.

It appears on the 1st and 15th of each month, and is furnished at the low price of 50 CENTS A YEAR in advance. This makes it the cheapest agricultural paper in the country.

FARMER LEGISLATION.

During the coming year there will be an immense number of matters of the most vital interest to farmers dealt with by Congress and the Executive Departments at Washington. It is highly important that the farmers be kept promptly and fully informed as to what is being planned and done affecting them at the National Capital. They should all, therefore, take THE AMERICAN FARMER, which, being on the ground, has better facilities than any other papers for getting this information, and devote itself to this duty. They will find in it constantly a great amount of valuable information that they can get in no other paper.

THE AMERICAN FARMER and THE CHRONICLE will be sent one year for $1.75.

Minor Events of Town and Country Briefly Stated.

The milk of human kindness is never under ban; Though oft, through human kindness, It tastes some of the can.

Spokane has a Cultus club. Do you dance? If not watch those who do at the ball of the East End hose company. They're all going.

An old gentleman named Ordway, who has been sick for a long time, died in Hood River on Monday and was buried Wednesday.

The Diamond mills have shut down for a short time for the purpose of lining up machinery and making some slight repairs and changes.

The "geography" party occurs tonight at Fraternity hall. It is rumored that some of the localities to be used will be far fetched, but nothing under 12,500 miles.

The Union Republican has brought out the name of Hon. J. A. Wright of Sparta for gubernatorial honors, and calls him "Eastern Oregon's favorite son."

Billy V. gave the business away this morning. In a conversation referring to its profitability he said: "You can't run a dairy ranch without plenty of good water" (for the cows.)

The Union Pacific company are storing large quantities of coal at this point. A force of fourteen men are now at work. There is at present between 1,200 tons and 1,500 tons in the yard.

We are in receipt of No. 2 of the Midland Monthly published at Des Moines, Iowa. It is very neat typographically, well illustrated, and its contributions are from the pens of well known authors.

The Portland Savings bank opened yesterday for the purpose of paying depositors a 10 per cent dividend. There were more present than could be accommodated, and several days will be required to pay all who are anxious to get their money.

The '94 social club gave a banquet at the Columbia Candy Factory last evening. About thirty-seven were present. Oysters were served the entire party inside of two minutes by Sam Campbell, while Newt laddled out the soup in the culinary department.

The absence of Pease & Mays advertisement during the past month has quite changed the appearance of the paper, as it had run so long as to make it characteristic of our third page. Now it is again inserted. Pease & Mays have commenced the campaign for confidence of the people for 1894.

As showing the terrible drop in wool the Fossil Journal cites the case of Alex Hardie, who some time ago received returns from the sale of his buck fleeces by Judd & Root. After figuring up the expenses on same from the time of shearing, he found there was a small amount on the wrong side of the ledger.

Taylor Richardson was discharged this morning by the recorder, before whom he was tried for using obscene language. The testimony of plaintiffs was combatted by that of defendants, proving the truth that no two witnesses of the same event see and hear alike. Either there was some honest differences or the reasonable doubt was worked for all there was in it.

TO THE CHRONICLE.

Our big snow down here is about all gone and the grass is growing. The stock is in good condition. Oregon is the greatest country in the world. Notwithstanding the big snow, we can find lots of nice flowers out on the hills.

Rev. Altridge has been down for a few days with the grip, but is up again. He was the recipient of a thousand dollars in railroad stock some days ago, made a present to him by the president of the Mt. Scott railroad, Dr. J. H. Mahanna of Portland.

The farmers down here are looking forward to an early spring and some are getting ready for spring work.

Rev. Gregory, the pastor at the M. E. church here, preached at the school house Dist. No. 8, last Sunday morning and evening and quite a large crowd attended. He will preach at the school house every first and fourth Sunday of the month.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following resolutions were passed by the members of J. W. Nesmith W. R. C., upon the death of Ella Maddron:

WHEREAS, The hand of Divine Providence has removed your beloved daughter from her earthly home to that of a heavenly abode, the members of J. W. Nesmith W. R. C. are desirous of testifying their respect for her memory and expressing their earnest and affectionate sympathy with the household deprived of her presence, therefore be it

Resolved, That we tenderly condole with the family of our bereaved brother in the hour of his affliction, and devoutly commend him and his family for their consolation to the One who orders all things for the best, and whose chastisements are meant for mercy.

RESOLVED, That while we deeply sympathize with those who are bound by family ties to the departed, we share with them the hope of a reunion in that better world where there are no partings.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Corps, and a copy thereof be transmitted to the family of deceased friend, and to each of the daily papers of The Dalles, Or.

A golden-haired half-breed Indian girl known as Lucy Harry was, it is said, sold to a resident of Port Moody last week for $150 cash. The affair has caused great excitement at Vancouver. Lucy Harry was famous for her beauty throughout the coast. Her guardian Tom raised her to sell. She was of chance birth, her father being a blonde Saxon named Harry, the mother being a full-blooded siwash. Her olive complexion, carriage and form are perfect, and her golden hair frames a face of rare beauty. The authorities will permit no slavery in British Columbia, and have interfered.
