J. F. FORD, Evangelist.

Of Des Moines, Iowa, writes under date of March 23, 1893:

S. B. MEX. MFG. CO., Dufur, Oregon.

Gentlemen:—On arriving home last week, I found all well and anxiously awaiting. Our little girl, eight and one-half years old, who had wasted away to 38 pounds, is now well, strong and vigorous, and well fleshed up. S. B. Cough Cure has done its work well. Both of the children like it. Your S. B. Cough Cure has cured and kept away all hoarseness from me. So give it to every one, with greetings for all. Wishing you prosperity, we are Yours, Mr. & Mrs. J. F. FORD.

If you wish to feel fresh and cheerful, and ready for the Spring's work, cleanse your system with the Headache and Liver Cure, by taking two or three doses each week.

Sold under a positive guarantee.

50 cents per bottle by all druggists.

"It is the mind that makes the man," said Watts, but modern ethics deny this, and give the credit to the tailor. It is questionable, however, if either are right.

Food has some claims in this respect, therefore those parents who would build up the physique of their children pay strict attention to their diet. Children are all fond of pastry, for this to be healthfully prepared.

COTTOLINE must be used as a shortening. It is Recommended by the best Cooks.

Consult your physician upon its healthfulness.

Send three cents in stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for handsome Cottoline Cook Book, containing six hundred recipes, prepared by nine eminent authorities on cooking. Cottoline is sold by all grocers. Refuse all substitutes.

Made only by N. K. FAIRBANK & CO., ST. LOUIS and CHICAGO, NEW YORK, BOSTON.

A Passenger Train Derailed By Wreckers.

SEVERAL TRAIN HANDS INJURED

A Conspiracy Is Foiled to Assassinate President Peixoto of Brazil.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 9.—Last night, at the high bridge over the bayou, train-wreckers removed the rails and fish-plates on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad. When the passenger train came along, the engine passed safely over, but the baggage and mail cars jumped the track and rolled down an embankment, followed by the smoker, which landed on top of them. The wreck presented a frightful appearance. Joe Elliott, a brakeman, was sent back to flag a freight train which was soon due. He had not proceeded 100 yards when a volley from ambush was fired at him. Four bullets took effect in his body. The crew in the meantime, aided by passengers, were at work extricating the men buried in the wrecked cars, and feared to go to the flagman's rescue. He, however, crawled, bleeding and wounded back to the train, and now lies dying. In the mail car was Lou Morris, the agent, badly bruised and with several bones broken. Hatton, express messenger, was found in his car with his ribs broken and in a critical condition. J. W. Carter, baggageman, was injured about the head and internally. A relief train was made up here and sent to the scene. The wounded were brought in and taken to the hospitals. Poses are now on the scene and great excitement prevails.

A CONSPIRACY FOILED.

Plot to Assassinate President Peixoto of Brazil.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 9.—News is received from Rio de Janeiro to the effect that the decision of President Peixoto to call for a general election March 1st, was caused by the fact that he was badly frightened at the discovery of a plot to murder him. It seems the plot was widespread and embraced a number of influential people, including a number of officers. The ringleaders were promptly arrested, tried, convicted and shot secretly, the soldiers composing the firing party being threatened with death if they divulged the fact. But the death of the conspirators seems not to have relieved Peixoto's fears, and he has signed a decree for the election. In addition to those executed, it is said a number were sentenced to long terms of imprisonment and their property confiscated, which others fled to England and the United States.

Advices from South Brazil show the rebels are still successful there; the insurgents are moving on Porto Alegre, the capital of Rio Grande do Sul. They are said to be receiving accessions daily. It is believed unless the government troops are used to terrify the voters in the coming election the government candidates will be defeated. It is believed, however, the popular will cannot be registered, and in that case more bloodshed is looked for.

Ingalls Reports.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 9.—Rev. Sam Jones, the noted evangelist, is holding revival meetings here. Among his auditors last night was ex-Senator John J. Ingalls, of Kansas. At the close of the sermon Jones called on repentant sinners to come forward. The first to respond was Ingalls. "Mr. Jones," he said, "your sermon has moved me. I endorse every word you said." "May God bless you," was the evangelist's response, and the dramatic scene closed.

MRS. INGALLS DENIES IT.

ATCHISON, Kan., Feb. 9.—The story that J. J. Ingalls was converted by Sam Jones at Nashville is pronounced a canard by Mrs. Ingalls. He is a member of the Episcopal church, and not in need of conversion.

For the Miseries of Dyspepsia, And they include almost every unpleasant feeling that belongs to physical disease, this potent medicine, Simmons Liver Regulator, is a certain and speedy cure.

HE SAVED A WOMAN'S LIFE.

A Young Surgeon Braves Death for a Total Stranger.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Dr. Franklin M. Kemp, a young house surgeon at Long Island college hospital, is the latest to take chances with his own life, to save that of another. Yesterday morning two young women, Grace Vrooman and Kate Pamphrey, were taken to the hospital apparently dying. They had gone to sleep with gas escaping in their room. From 9 o'clock until 12 Dr. Kemp and his associates worked on the young women. Grace Vrooman rapidly improved. The other woman grew worse. Everything known to science was brought to bear on Kate Pamphrey, but she was looked upon by everybody as past remedy. It was at this juncture that Dr. Kemp offered his own blood to save her. He argued with the attending physicians then gathered in the ward that the transfusion of his blood would prolong her life, and he brought down volumes of medical works to substantiate the feasibility of the operation. The woman by this time was nearly dead, and young Kemp could not bear to see her expire when she might be made to rally. His ardor stirred the physicians, who first warned him of his great danger, and then declared that they were ready to proceed. The young surgeon bared his arm immediately. Nurses and attendants meanwhile had carried the young woman into the amphitheater and placed her on the operating table. Fully 200 students were in the gallery. Miss Pamphrey was now black in the face, her chest heaved faintly and death was not far off. Dr. Wight, senior surgeon of the hospital, and Dr. Rand entered, and young Kemp, with his big, brawny arm bared to his shoulder, sat on a chair at the side of the table on which the woman lay. Dr. Rand, with a swift movement of the scalpel, removed the flesh on the inside of Kemp's arm at the elbow and Dr. Wight made a similar incision on the woman. Dr. Rand then took the tube to insert it in Kemp's vein for the transfusion of blood, but the only tube to be had at the time was so large that it severed the vein into two parts. Then came the tug-of-war. The woman was dying and young Kemp, heedless of his own troubles, begged the surgeons to be quick. He took no anesthetics, but with a sponge was first to assist in the operation on himself. For 20 minutes Dr. Rand was compelled to dissect away the flesh covering the lower end of the vein. The young surgeon never moved but to wipe away with the sponge in his right hand the blood which spurted from the wound. Finally the vein was covered and the tube was inserted. For five minutes Kemp permitted his own blood to flow into the woman's veins. After this his wounds were dressed. The woman immediately improved, and today has chances in favor of her recovery. The danger to which Dr. Kemp willingly exposed himself will be readily seen when it is known that during the operation had one bubble of air passed from her body through the tube into his, so far as he was concerned, would have been a thing of the past.

The Tariff Bill Next Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—It is definitely ascertained that Voorhees intends to report the Wilson bill back to the senate Thursday. He states positively that the bill will be reported in substantially the form it passed the house. There will be exception, however, as sugar, iron and coal will be put on the dutiable list. The other changes will be comparatively immaterial. The purpose of Voorhees thus made known puts an end to the report of a plan on foot to construct an entirely new bill.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a cough, cold, or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from la grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and thorough recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense, and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. ### Some Narrow Escapes.

Speaking of the wreck of No. 2 near Blalocks Tuesday morning it would almost appear that Providence protects some people. One lady had a lunch basket on her lap and a silver of iron ran through the basket and in no way injured the woman. In another car a piece of rail ran up through the car floor and through a seat that was vacant, while the seats on either side of it were occupied. One old lady, 70 years old, was taken out of the car window unhurt and remarked it was the first wreck she had ever been in. It seems almost miraculous that so many cars should be wrecked and no one seriously hurt.—Arlington Record.

Caught in the Cogs.

Hood River Glacier.
Carl Woods met with a painful but fortunately not serious accident at the planer Saturday afternoon. He slipped and fell, his arm striking the face of a cog gearing, which proceeded to take him in. He put his free hand against the machine and managed to save his arm from being drawn between the cogs. They, however, took a piece of the skin, about three or four inches, from his arm just below the elbow. Dr. Brosius dressed the wound, and in a few days Woods will be able to return to his work. It was a very close call.

Wrinkles and hollow cheeks, and dull, sunken eyes, don't always mean that a woman's old. Half the time, they only show that she's overworked or suffering. To such women, to every woman who is tired or afflicted, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription safely and certainly brings back health and strength. It's a legitimate medicine that corrects and cures; a tonic that invigorates and builds up; a nerve that soothes and strengthens. For all the derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to women, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It won't do to experiment with Catarrh. There's the constant danger of driving it to the lungs. You can have a perfect and permanent cure with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.
