THE DALLES OREGON

AN IMPATIENT PANTHER.

Why a Hunter's Opportunity Ended in Ignominious Failure. Hunters who go forth to shoot panthers have generally a story of triumph...

A panther was marked down for me in a small thicket, and I went forth to do for it. When I reached the ground the panther was still there, and a keen-eyed native pointed it out to me.

"Hitherward was its head," said this man, "thitherward its tail. Doesn't the sahib see it? There! there!" and he pointed to a spot about three yards off.

But I did not see that panther—either its head, or its tail, or anything that was its; I saw only a mass of light and shade under a dense overgrowth of greenery, dead leaves and grass that were yellowish where the pencils of light broke in upon the gloom...

All that I looked upon in that green-wood tangle was equally panther; I could pick out no particular patch as being any more pantherish than the rest; of head or tail I made out nothing where all was equally one or the other, and still that native of keenest vision besought me to see that panther's head and tail and right forefoot, and many other details of its anatomy.

Then there came a roar out of the thicket, and a rush which was like the volcanic upheaval of the ground at my feet, and, as it seemed, several tons of that upheaved matter hit me in the chest and other parts, and I was catapulted onto the broad of my back a yard or two from where I had stood.

That upheaval was the panther. The brute hadn't had the patience to wait until I saw him, or the modesty to take himself off peaceably in some other direction; he had resented my staring his way, even though I saw him not, and so had emerged out of his lair like an animal rocket, and knocked me down in his flight.

As he failed to claw me, I came off scatheless; but not so my attendant, who foolishly embraced the panther in view to arresting his flight; he got himself badly mauled, and did not come a whole man out of the hospital for some weeks. That was my disastrous commencement with panthers.

York and Lancaster Roses. Those familiar with Shakespeare remember that the two antagonistic houses of York and Lancaster had their followers distinguished by one side carrying white roses and the other red roses. There is in cultivation a rose called the York and Lancaster on account of striped white and red lines pervading the petals—these colors, of course, represent the two houses united.

Just what particular species of roses were chosen has always had an interest for the critical student. A recent notice in the Quarterly Review decides that the white rose of York was the English white rose, Rosa arvensis, and warmly contends that it was a double variety of this species; but if that rose at all, it was most likely to be a pure wild form, for it would be almost impossible to get double flowers for the thousands of men who engaged in those broils.

Specimen Cases. S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Snipes & Kinerly.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be much pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer $100 for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.
