Instead of going democratic, Pensylvania recorded its verdict against the present management of the democracy by one of the heaviest pluralities ever cast against any party in any state.

We speak of handwriting on the wall. The phrase is too feeble. This is a portent blazoned across the sky.

Is there any democrat so blind that he does not see it? Is there any democrat so crazy that he does not understand why it is that in this one state among forty-four, the republican plurality this year is certainly one-third as large, probably almost one-half as large, as the entire plurality for Grover Cleveland on the popular vote in all forty-four states only fifteen months ago?

Ten days loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor bill to pay, is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas, was sick in bed for ten a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considersible success, I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of the remedy." chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, today presented a report of the investigations of that committee made under the resolution requiring it to report whether any, and if lawyer, however, succeeded dissuading so what irregularities had occurred in the the prince from his intention. diplomatic or other intercourse between the United States and Hawaii. The report was prepared by Morgan, and concurred in by Frye, Dolph and Davis, the republican members of the committee, who made also a supplemental report. These reports, together with the mass of evidence taken by the committee, are President Vasquez with 500 of the survery voluminous. Morgan begins with the proposition that this government dealing with any form of government in Hawaii can have no break in its line of the office of president. The report declares against monarchy, and that the people should not be subordinated to the supposed divine right of a monarch whose title to such divinity originated in the most slavish conditions of pagan barbarity. The report approves Minister Stevens' order landing the troops from the Boston on the ground that conditions existed which led naturally to an apprehen-test the civil government; in other words, an interregnum existed. The queen only held the throne under her oath and the constitution, and when she declared herself absolved therefrom it was an actual act of abdication. Furthermore she had been overthrown by the white people of the islands before the troops from the Boston landed.

to hesitate to support the government opposed to her. The matter of annexation is discussed at length, and, while the whole tenor is favorable to annexation, no direct statement to that effect is made. It says: "Annexation has been the subject of almost constant contemplation among Hawaiians since the beginning of the reign of Kamehama I. In the diplomatic correspondence frequent and favorable allusion is made to the subject." The testimony taken by the committee disclosed the opinion of several of our most eminent and military officers that annexation is indespensable to the proper defense and protection of wastern coast cities. The report then takes up the appointment of Blount and his investigation. It says he presented a sincere, instructive report, but that the agitated state time made it next to impossible to obtain a full, fair and free declaration of the facts; that the evidence taken by the committee under more favorable circumstances established the fact that the revolution originated with Lilliuokalani, who expected through opium and lottery bills to secure funds to carry out her purpose. The report upholds the right of the president to appoint Blount and delegate to him paramount authority; but says the president would not have been justified in using force to restore the queen, and did not contemplate such action; therefore his tender of his good offices for a settlement of the differences was strictly within his accepted right. The fact that the provisional government was formed to exist till annexation to the United States justified interference for its protection which would not have been tolerated under other circumstances; therefore the provisional gov-

Parrots on German Railroads.

Parrots have been taught to amuse by their imitation of the human voice, and now their powers in this respect have been made use of for a practical purpose. At almost every station on a German railway the station master has a parrot or a starling so trained that whenever a train draws up at the platform it commences calling out the name of the station most distinctly, and not only this, but it continues do-ing so while the train remains there. This has been found an excellent mode of informing the passengers where they are.

The Apple in the Sandwich Islands.

In the Sandwich islands the apple has become wild and forests of trees of many acres are found in various parts of the country. They extend from the level of the sea far up into the mountain sides. It is said that miles of these apple forests can occasionally be seen. One traveler gives the extent of one of them as between five and ten miles in width and about twenty miles long.
