JESUS A PROTECTIONIST.

We wonder if free trade congressmen ever attend divine service, says the Economist. If so, do they ever listen to the reading of the Scriptures? It is certain that they do not heed them. Let us refresh the free trade memory by a quotation from Matthew, chap. 17, beginning with the 24th verse:

And when they were come to Caper-naum, they that received tribute money came to Peter, and said, "Doth not your Master pay tribute?"

He saith, "Yes." And when he was He satth, "Yes." And when he was come unto the house, Jesus prevented him, saying, "What thinkest thou, Simon? Of whom do the kings of the earth take custom or tribute? Of their own children or of strangers?

Peter saith unto Him, "Of strangers."

Jesus saith unto him, "Then are the children free."

Thus did Jesus determine in favor of protection. Only by the taking of customs duties, or tribute, from the strangers were "the children free." The inference is that the direct taxation, incidental to free trade or "a tariff for revenue only," rendered the "children" slaves. It will be the duty of the people to prevent those who favor such a system from coming "into the house" of representatives after the next election. Under protection only "are the children free."

After announcing his text the preacher stated that he wished to ask whether it may not be possible there is something better for us than either. Continuing he stated this proposition: By popular religion I mean that type of investigation. Jacob W. Crosby, a religion which is most common among us and with which we are most familiar. By popular irreligion I mean that type of thought and feeling which comes from the very violent reaction against Mr. Crosby astounded the spirit world this; the type of thought and feeling of which Col. Ingersoll is the best American example. And then I want to ask whether it is possible, as vast multitudes here in America, and especially here in the west, believe, that one is confined to a choice between these twomust either accept absolutely some plan of salvation which his reason protests or accept some bare denial against which his heart and all his inherited feeling protests. To believe everything is easy; to deny and scoff at everything is easy; to consider, to discriminate, to hold fast that which is good, while we prove all things, this is the difficult thing, and because it is difficult I suppose that for a long time any religion which demands of those who accept it such perpetual discrimination cannot be a popular religion. It can only become popular by raising the whole level of common life

A SHIPWRECKED CREW.

The Terrible Night and Day Passed on A sealing brig, immersed in the densest fog and driven by the gale, was running down a narrow lane or opening in the ice, when the shout of breakers ahead and the crash of the bows upon a reef came in the same moment. The crew sprang overboard upon the heaving ice-field, and almost immediately saw their strong and beautiful vessel sink into the ocean. The adventure is related in: "After Icebergs with a Painter." Without food or extra clothing the forty men were remote from all help. To the west lay the precipitous shores of Cape Bonavista, and for this, the nearest land, in single file, with Capt. Knight at their head, the men commenced at sunset their dreadful and almost hopeless march. All night, without refreshment or rest, they went stumbling and plunging on their perilous way, now and then sinking into the slush between out by their companions. But for their leader and a few other bold spirits, the party would have sunk down with fatigue and despair, and perished.

At daybreak they were still on the rolling ice-fields, beclouded with fog. and with nothing in prospect but the terrible cape and its solitary chance of deliverance. Thirsty, famished and worn, they toiled on, more and more slowly, all the morning, all the forenoon, all the afternoon; and then, bewildered and lost in a dreadful cloud traveling along parallel with the coast, the poor fellows passed the cape without knowing it.

The captain looked back from time to time on the worn-out and suffering line of men, the last of them scarcely visible in the mist, and a thrill of discouragement passed over him. Unless there was some change in their prosnects, he knew that few of them would live out another night on the ice. They had shouted until they were hoarse, and looked into the endless gray until they had no heart for looking longer. Suddenly, just before sundown, they came to a vessel. A few rods to the right or left, and they must have missed it. "We were led by the hand of Providence," said Capt. Knight, in telling the story.

PECULIARITIES IN MASSAGE. The Differences of Temperature Caused by Friction of the Skin. Light friction of a part reduces surface temperature, says the New York Ledger. In ten experiments on healthy adults, whose arm-pit temperatures on both sides was equal, and whose free temperature on the surface of both forearms was before massage eighty-eight degrees Fahrenheit or more, it was found, on subjecting the protection and wants to see a revival of that, whilst the temperature in both armpits and in the untouched free surface of the opposite limb remained constant, the temperature of the left forearm fell in all cases more than two degress, and in three cases nearly four degrees. After firm friction skin of the limb in all cases, the free cutaneous temperature rose to ninetyfive degrees; but the armpit temperature remained the same on both sides, whilst in seven cases an interesting phenomenon was noticed on the opposite side-viz., the right limb sensibly perature of the untouched forearm fell friction, it has been impossible to detect any effect on the patients sense of locality or on the temperature sense. After firm friction of a part for five minutes comes a decided increase of the sense of touch, and the sense of locality has, in most instances, been apparently improved.

IGNORANT SPIRITS.

They Had Not Kept Up with the Latest Obitoary News.
A friend relates to me an incident that occurred on the evening of the day when the news of the death of Preston S. Brooks came to Massawas at a spiritualistic exhibition held now the city of Drockton. A committee of citizens had been chosen from the audience to sit at the table on the platform with the medium to ask questions and otherwise represent the audience in the interest of candid well-known citizen, was one of the committee. He was to do the questioning. After a few introductory in-quiries, to which replies were made by the regulation one, two or three raps by the query: "Is the spirit of Preston S. Brooks present?"

There was no reply and the question was repeated. Then there were some hesitating raps at the table, but it could not be determined whether the answer was in the affirmative or the negative.

You know that he is dead, don't you?" shouted the committeeman. The answer by raps was now distinetly "no."

"Well, he is, thank God!" yelled "Uncle Jake," who was wrought up to great excitement, as he struck the table with his ponderous fist; "and you had better make a note of it."

The Young Idea. The reasoning of children is frequently based on imperfect knowledge. What on earth was that whistle blowing for all night?" asked a girl of twelve years of her mother while on a sound steamer. "That is a fog horn, my dear," was the reply. The little girl, of course, wanted to know what a fog horn was, and her mother ex-Mrs. Emily Thorne, who resides at plained that when there was a heavy Toledo, Washington, says she has never been able to procure any medicine for young inquirer. "I should think that rheumatism that relieves the pain so anybody could see there was a fog, and quickly and effectually as Chamberlain's what is the use of blowing a whistle Pain Balm and that she has also used it to tell them about it, when there it is for lame back with great success. A Galaxy of Authors.

Who are the most famous writers and artists of both continents? The Cosmopolitan Magazine is endeavoring to answer this inquiry by printing a list from month to month-in its contents pages. This magazine claims that notwithstanding its extraordinary reduction in price, it is bringing the most famous writers and artists of Europe and America to interest its readers, and in proof of this claim, submits the following list of contributors for the five months ending with February: Naides, Howells, Paul Heyse, Francisque Sarcey, Robert Grant, John J. Ingails, Lyman Abbott, Frederick Masson, Agnes Repplier, J. G. Whittier, (posthumus), Walter Besant, Mark Twain, St. George Mivart, Paul Bourget, Louise Chandler Moulton, Flammarion, Tissandier, F. Dempster Sherman, Adam Badeau, Capt. - King, Arthur Sherburne Hardy, George Ebers, the ice-cakes, and having to be drawn De Maupassant, Sir Edwin Arnold, Spielhagen, Andrew Lang, Berthelot, H. H. Boyesen, Hopkinson Smith, Lyman J. Gage, Dan'l C. Gilman, Franz Von Lenbach, Thomas A. Janvier. And for artists who have illustrated during the same time: Vierge, Reinhart, Marold, F. D. Small, Dan Beard, Jose Cabrinety, Oliver Herford, Remington, Hamilton Gibson, Otto Bacher, H. S. Mowbray, Otto Guillonnet, F. G. Attwood, Geo. W. Edwards, Paul de Longpre, Habert-Dys, F. H. Schell. How this is done for $1.50 a year, the editors of The Cosmopolitan alone know.

Many people imagine that by blowing their breath on the blade of a knife they can tell whether the blade is steel or pot metal. Now, as person's breath will adbere to a pot-metal blade and fade away the same as on steel, but nine out of ten men don't know this, and that is the reason why so many people carry inferior pocket knives.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyrel Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Annam, a French protectorate in Asia, has a silver coin that weighs as much as fifteen United States "buzzard" dollars. The largest gold coin in circulation is the "loof," which also belongs to the oriental French colony mentioned above. This monster golddisk will weigh as much as three hundred and twenty-five American gold dollars, and, though weighty and awkwardly large, is considered valuable property. The gold piece which comes next in size to the "loof" is the "obang" of Japan, a coin containing about forty-seven dollars' worth of pure gold.

This invaluable quality is never more apparent in man or woman than when shown in his or her choice of periodical reading matter. First in order should come the Local Newspaper, so that pace may be kept with the doings of the busy world. It should be a paper like THE DALLE - WEEKLY CHRONICLE. which gives all the latest Home News as well as the General News, Political News and Market News, with seasonable Editorials on current topics. No one can get along without his home paper. The newspaper should be supplemented by some periodical from which will be derived amusement and instruction during the evenings at home, where every article is read and digested. Such a paper, to fill every requirement, should possess these qualities.

First—It should be a clean, wholesoms paper

First-It should be a clean, wholesome paper that can safely be taken into the family. It should be illustrated with timely engravings. econd—A paper that is entertaining and in-structive while of sound principles. Its moral tone should be beyond question.

Third—A helpful paper, one that tells the house-wife of home life, thoughts and experiences, and keeps her in touch with social usage and fashion.

Fourth—A paper abounding in original charac-ter sketches, bright sayings, unclaious humor and brilliant wit.

Fifth—It should contain good stories and pleasing matter for young people, that the children may always regard the paper as a friend.
Sixth—Literary selections and stories suitable for older people should be given, for they, too, like to enjoy a leisure hour.

seventh—in short, it should be a good all-round Family Journal, a weekly visitor which shall bring refreshment and pleasure to every mem-ber of the household. We offer to supply our readers with just such paper: one of national reputation and circula-ion. It is the famous

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest orig inal wool shi point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these orner stones she at cods.
