DELAY IS EXPLAINED

Why There Has Been No Naval Battle in Brazilian Waters.

LOYALTY OF THE CREWS DOUBTED

Nietheroy was to Have Taken a Few Experimental Shots at Insurgent Forts in the Harbor.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 27 (via Montevideo, March 3).—The agent for Charles R. Flint & Co., of New York, left Bahia on February 22, and arrived here yesterday. He says that the government fleet at Bahia consists of eight vessels. The government fears to bring this fleet to Rio Janeiro, lest the Brazilian crews go over to the insurgents. The foreigners in the crews, however, are determined to fight and would turn on any Brazilians who might try to revolt. Mr. Burt, the agent, expects that the fleet will come to Rio the day after the election. The dynamite cruiser Nietheroy, he says, was brought here February 18 to take a few experimental shots at the insurgent forts Villegaignon and Cobras, but President Peixoto changed his mind at the last moment. The experiments made with the Nietheroy at Bahia were very successful. Mr. Burt saw nothing of the Aquidaban or Republica coming down, and believes both vessels have gone to Desterro.

CORDON OF TROOPS COMPLETED.

The government has completed the cordon of troops along the bay shore. A few sailors were encountered at Mage, but they fled after losing three killed and several wounded. After getting possession of the position the government soldiers bayoneted several boys of 10 or 12 years, who had associated with the insurgents. One boy was held up by the heels and split in two with a sword before his mother's eyes. The government cordon will cut off all communication between the insurgents and the interior. The upper part of the bay has been abandoned and all the insurgent vessels are scattered among the merchant ships. The insurgents' garrison on Cobras island now numbers about 100. The average crew of an insurgent warship is hardly 40. The government, however, cannot rouse its force to anything like activity, although any half-determined effort to take the insurgent positions by storm would surely be successful. There are stories that the insurgents have buried dynamite on the edges of Villegaignon and Cobras islands to protect them against attacks and scare the government troops.

Mrs. Cleveland and the Esquimaux.

WASHINGTON, Mch 3.—Mrs. Cleveland gave a reception this morning to the Alaskan Esquimaux who are visiting Washington. She was assisted in entertaining them by all the ladies of the cabinet and a number of children. The fur-clad strangers were presented by Secretary Morton and Secretary Herbert, and during their visit sang missionary songs, in which many of Mrs. Cleveland's party joined. Light refreshments were served, much to the delight of the Alaskans, who had never before seen anything so beautiful as the state dining-room, nor tasted such delicious sweetmeats. They also showed childish astonishment at the rich costumes of their hostess' party, and were lost in curious admiration of the White House.

Keeping Orchards Cleanly.

If the fruits of Oregon do not maintain their standard of perfection acquired in Chicago last year, it will not be the fault of our climate. An exchange suggests: "A farmer's home is his fortress in free America; but no man has any right nor will he be permitted to maintain an orchard that may be or proved to be a menace to his neighbor. The effect of this vigorous system for the enforcement of cleanliness in and careful attention to the needs and requirements of the perfect orchard is sure and felt most abundantly. Our fruit is larger, better formed, brighter and better flavored." But to keep this so, old orchards must be weeded out, pruned, cleaned and dressed up or cut down as a necessary precaution. Some more salutary laws are needed on this subject.

UTAH MORMONS ARE HERETICS

Brigham Young's Faction of Latter-Day Saints Is Not the Real Church.

KANSAS CITY, March 3.—The temple lot, the sacred piece of Mormon soil in Independence, Mo., for which the reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and the Independence faction of the Mormon church have been fighting in the courts for four years, was today decided by Judge Phillips, of the district court, to be the property of the reorganized church.

Incidentally in the decision, Judge Phillips unmercifully scores the Utah polygamist church. He says:

"Among the quorum of twelve representing the apostles was Brigham Young, a man of intellectual power and aggressive, if not audacious. He led the greater portion of the Mormons to Salt Lake, Utah. From the settlement sprung the powerful body known as the Salt Lake or Utah church. There can be no question that Brigham Young's assumption of the presidency was a bold and bold usurpation. The book of doctrine gave Joseph Smith to be president of the church. The book taught clearly that the succession should descend lineally and go to the first born; Joseph so taught and before his taking off publicly proclaimed his son his successor, and he was so announced. Young's assumption of the office was itself a departure from the law of the church. The book of Mormon pronounced the severest anathema against the crime of polygamy."

Waino and Vicinity.

WAINO, Or., March 3d, 1894.—[Correspondence CHRONICLE]—As I find much of interest in your correspondence from other localities in the county, I shall try to give you all the news of this vicinity for a time, which may be of interest to some of your other readers.

On Washington's birthday we were entertained by the Dufur Brass Band in the Patison hall by a concert, which was well attended, considering the cold weather, and all were well pleased, as the music was excellent. A select party of our young people gathered at the residence of P. W. Knowles and had a jolly good time with games of all sorts, and all were sorry when the time came to depart.

The weather is fine, considering the present season, and all stock are doing well, and everyone seems to have plenty of feed.

The principal industry of this settlement is hog raising, and the farmers have reaped a good reward for their labors in the past few years, and if others would follow their example, "especially Sherman county farmers," they would find wheat-raising much more profitable than hauling it to town and giving it away.

A few are plowing, and others expect to start by Monday.

Our roads are very muddy and bad travelling. I hope the time is not far off when the farmers will take the rock crusher and build good roads all through the county.

Office seekers have already begun to buzz and corner you regarding the coming election. If you are short of candidates we can furnish a full set for the county on short notice.

MITCHELL NEWS.

At present the rain is falling in soft April showers while the sky is overcast with heavy, misty clouds, a very sure indication of a prolonged rainfall.

Spring must be almost here since some of the feathery tribe are returning to their summer quarters.

As far as I can gain information stock is doing very well, although in some places near here the snow has been two and three feet deep, but in such places hay has been plenty to carry the flocks and herds through.

From the present indications the snow must be thawing fast high up in the mountains, since the waters in small streams are rising and are very muddy. Mr. Estes' school at this place closed the 17th, without ceremony. Mr. Estes and wife mean to take their departure for Idaho as soon as they can, where there is a school awaiting them.

The entertainment given by the Mitchell Dramatic and Literary Society was an entire success in the able execution of all the parts. Although the assemblage was small on account of the inclement weather, we spent two hours very pleasantly. The principal participants were Stella Boardman, Bud Boardman, Fred Hoyt, Max Pretz, Mrs. McEern, Daz Shrum, Clara Wheeler, Florence Sasser, Frank Chamberlain, Nig McGee, Miss McGee, Beryl Allen and Scott Sasser. There was great improvement in the execution of the parts over that of either of the other entertainments.

I see by the Ochoco Review that it is supposed that Jack Hamlet passed through the Willow creek country the 18th. Today Mr. Toddhunter, deputy from Canyon, and Walter Cowen, assistant, passed through here. They report there is no doubt but he is still hid among the rocks of John Day, since they found his tent, which he had stolen, blankets and other articles necessary to a camping outfit, nicely hidden among the junipers and rocks, but not too nicely for vigilant eyes. Also tracks were everywhere plenty and every indication was he had been there not long since. Mr. Toddhunter says if he is there he will certainly be run down, as there is quite an army on the hunt for him. They stripped his camp of everything after they saw it was useless to try to trap him there, which they tried to do a day and a night or two. There is no doubt he is nicely housed in some cave or in a juniper watching all the maneuvers of the hunting party during the day, and knows better than they know themselves where and what they are doing. I believe Grant county and the citizens of Caleb offer a reward of $900 for his apprehension.

The experience of Geo. A. Appgar, of German Valley, N. J., is well worth remembering. He was troubled with chronic diarrhoea and doctored for five months and was treated by four different doctors without benefit. He then began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, of which one bottle effected a complete cure. It is for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.
