BLAINE'S PROPHECY.

The Toledo Blade says: The fact that James G. Blaine predicted the exact condition of things now prevailing in this country, and as accurately showed the causes which would lead up to it, is now recalled. Read the words of this greatest of latter day American statesmen, and see how clearly the drift of events indicated to him the evils that were to come:

"I love my country and my countrymen. I am an American, and I rejoice every day of my life that I am. I enjoy the general prosperity of my country, and know that the workmen of this land are the best paid, the best fed and the best clothed of any laborers on the face of the earth. Many of them have homes of their own. They are surrounded by all the comforts and many of the luxuries of life.

"I shudder, however, at the thought that the time must come when all this will be changed, when the general prosperity of the country will be destroyed, when the great body of workmen in this land, who are so prosperous, will hear their wives and children cry for bread; that the day must come when the great factories and manufactories of this land will shut down, and where there is now life and activity there will be the silence of the tomb.

"And the reason why this must be is this: The great southern wing of the democratic party are determined to establish the doctrine of free trade in this land. They will be assisted by their northern allies. There is a great body of visionary, but educated men, who are employed day by day in writing free trade essays and arguments in favor of the doctrine, which find their way to every newspaper in this land. The great body of our people have never experienced, themselves, the sufferings which always result when the protective principles are laid aside.

"Poisoned and excited by wild statements of these writers and the demagogic appeals of the democratic speakers, the result will be that in the near future these forces which are now working will be strong enough to defeat at the polls the party advocating the doctrine of protection. It must inevitably follow that uncertainty and doubt will ensue. The business men of the country, fearing the destruction of the principles of protection, will decline to engage in business; consequently mills will shut down, and the workmen will be thrown out of employment.

"The people will then see as they have never seen before that they can not be prosperous and have work while this principle is threatened. In the midst of their sufferings they will learn that the only way they can be prosperous and happy is to vote for the party that has built up the industries by which they have gained a livelihood; because they will then see clearly that when the manufactory is shut down there is no demand for the only thing which they have to sell, and that is their labor."

THE FALL IN WHEAT.

The Chicago Herald of recent date devotes more than a page of its space to interviews with grain men and millers in all the primary wheat points of the country, regarding the low price of wheat and the prospects for the future. Of course there is a great variety of opinions expressed, but the general causes assigned are the enormous increase of wheat production by India, Russia and Argentina, as well as in Canada and the United States; the fact that there is an enormous visible supply on hand in this country, and beside this an unknown quantity, but without doubt extremely large, still in the hands of farmers; and, lastly, the financial depression, which has reduced prices of all products, wheat sympathizing therewith, of course.

The belief is gradually shaping itself that a new level for wheat is being established, above which it will never again rise except under some extraordinary stimulus, like a great European war, or a wholesale failure of the crop. The good old days of dollar wheat are gone, and probably 75 cents a bushel at grain centers like Chicago, less the cost of transportation thither at primary points, will be the top notch hereafter. The great reason for this is what the cheap wheat—cheap because of the low cost of land and labor—in Russia, India and the Southern Hemisphere, which includes Argentina and other countries of South America, South Africa and Australia, is turning year by year an increasing and apparently inexhaustible supply into the markets of Europe, which will finally drive out the United States crop.

This is of the most vital interest to the American farmers who devote 35,000,000 acres of land every year to the raising of wheat. If these statements be true—and the statistics so far bear them out—the raising of wheat in this country will be restricted to the needs of our people alone, and the export market will cease. This means that our farmers must devote their energies to other lines than wheat raising, for it will be unprofitable; and the man who stupidly clings to wheat as his sole crop will take the sure road to bankruptcy and ruin.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

Jack rabbits are said to have made their appearance in Lane county. Hitherto they have been strangers west of the Cascades.

At last accounts Hamlet was corraled in a canyon north of Mitchell, and the officers were watching his hiding place trying to starve him out. He had abandoned his horse, which had been captured.

Sheriff Booth, of Crook county, and John Combs put in several days on the desert last week looking for Hamlet, the murderer, but returned Saturday evening without having found track or trace of the fugitive. They spent one night at Button springs, and the next night they camped in three feet of snow on the desert, having lost their way in trying to go from the springs to Farewell Bend. They returned confident that Hamlet had not attempted to cross the desert. —Ochoco Review.

A sad story comes from Burns of the accidental poisoning of F. G. Taylor, who was so familiarly known as "Skookum." Mr. Taylor was on a prospecting tour in the Stein's mountain country, and carried a bottle of strychnine in his pocket to poison wild animals. In the same pocket he carried a quantity of cinnamon bark, and the cork came out of the bottle. He chewed some of the bark. D. L. Shirk and Mr. Wykliff found Mr. Taylor on the road deathly sick. He was taken to the ranch of Mr. Peter French, where he soon expired. —Canyon City News.

High Living.

If you keep at it, it is apt to tell upon the liver. The things to prevent this are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Take one of these little pellets for a corrective or gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. They are the smallest, easiest to take, pleasantest and most natural in the way they act. They do permanent good. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headache, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are prevented, relieved and cured. They're guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case or your money is returned.

The worst cases of Chronic Catarrh in the Head yield to Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. So certain is it that its makers offer $500 reward for an incurable case.

Cascades Stone Quarry.

Slattery & Leach have taken a subcontract from J. G. & I. N. Day to furnish dressed stone. They are now getting stone out of Joe Monaghan's quarry, about three miles above Stevenson. They now have sixteen quarrymen at work and expect to put sixteen stonecutters to work the latter part of the week. They have a large contract and Mr. Slattery said it would probably take eight months before they could finish it. —Pioneer.

EARLY SANITATION.

During the Days of King Richard II., Henry VII. and Charles II.

As far back as the reign of Richard II., says the London Spectator, we find an act for "the punishment of them which cause corruption near a city or great town to corrupt the air" (12 Rich. II., c. 13, A. D. 1388), the preamble of which notes that so much filth "be cast and put in ditches and other waters, and also within many other places, * * * that the air there is greatly corrupted and infected, and many maladies and other diseases do daily happen." This is essentially sanitary legislation.

A century later we find an act under the heading: "Butchers shall kill no beasts within any walled town or Cambridge" (4 Henry VII., c. 3, A. D. 1487). The preamble of this speaks of the "corruptions engendered * * * by reason of the slaughter of beasts and scalding of swine," the "unclean, corrupt and putrid waters," and goes on to the remarkable statement that "in few noble cities and towns, or none within Christendom, * * * the common slaughter house of beasts should be kept * * * within the walls of the same, lest it might engender sickness, unto the destruction of the people."

Under Charles II. the "act for rebuilding the city of London" (19 Charles II. c. 3, A. D. 1667) provides for the "cleansing and scouring of vaults, sinks and common sewers," and a few years later again we find "an act for the better paving and cleansing the streets and sewers in and about the city of London" (23 and 24 Charles II. c. 17, A. D. 1670).

We must be just to our ancestors, though they undoubtedly had not much science (and did not use long words ending in "ation"), the idea of health as a matter of public concernment was not foreign to their minds. The difference is that what were sanitary instincts in them have developed into sanitary methods with us.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution and order of sale issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Wasco County, upon a decree and judgment made, rendered and entered by said Court on the 16th day of February, 1894, in favor of plaintiff, in a suit wherein Maximilian Vogt and Phillipine Chapman were plaintiffs, and Augustus Bunnett, John R. Foster and David Robertson, partners as Foster & Robertson, and Mrs. D. E. Price were defendants, and to me directed and delivered, commanding me to levy upon and sell all the lands mentioned and described in said writ, and hereinafter described, I did on the 16th day of February, 1894, comply with said writ, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, on Saturday, the 31st day of March, 1894.

At 2 o'clock in said day, at said place, at the front door of the County Court House in Dalles City, in Wasco County, Oregon, all of the lands and premises described in said writ, and herein described as follows, to-wit:
The south half of those certain lots known as the Bieble lots in Trevitt's Addition to Dalles City, on the road from said city to the U. S. Garrison as formerly travelled, and being the same property conveyed by Griffith E. Williams and wife to said A. Bunnett, by deed duly recorded at page 353 of Book "2" of deeds for Wasco County, Oregon, and which are particularly described and bounded as follows, to-wit: Commencing on the east line of Liberty street at a point on said line 170 feet southerly from a point on the south line of Fourth street where the same is intersected by said east line of Liberty street; thence southerly along said east line of Liberty street 60 feet; thence easterly and at right angles with said first line 194 feet; thence northerly and parallel with said east line of Liberty street 60 feet; thence westerly to the place of beginning; said premises being in block "D," Trevitt's Addition to Dalles City, Wasco County, Oregon, together with the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in anywise appertaining; or so much thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy the sum of $124.40, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum since the 15th day of February, 1894; $100 attorney's fees, and $7.25 costs in said writ, together with costs of said writ and accruing costs of sale.
T. A. WARD,
Sheriff of Wasco County, Or., March 2d, 1894.

When you speak of a man's hat being "about two sizes too large for him" you do not mean that the proprietor would be a hat two inches smaller in either circumference or diameter; with his coat, however, when you say "size" you mean an inch. The following may be of interest to those likely to get mixed on the question of "sizes" and inches: A "size" in a coat is exactly an inch, in underwear it is two inches, in a sock an inch, in a collar one-half inch, a shirt the same, in shoes one-sixth of an inch, in pants one inch, in gloves one-fourth of an inch and in hats one-eighth of an inch.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyrel Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief. I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

There are times when it is hard to tell whether a man has been dabbling in a flour barrel or only dancing with the belle of the ball, remarks an exchange. Girls who keep their powder dry go off soonest in marriage.

Ten days loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor bill to pay, is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas, was sick in bed for ten days with the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considerable success, I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of the remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectually give this remedy a trial. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

The regular subscription price of the WEEKLY CHRONICLE is $1.50 and the regular price of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is $1.50. ### Common Sense.

This invaluable quality is never more apparent than when shown in a man or her choice of periodical reading matter. First in order should come the Local Newspaper, so that news may be kept with the doings of the busy world. It should be a paper like THE DALLS WEEKLY CHRONICLE, which gives all the latest Home News as well as the General News, Political News and Market News, with seasonable Editorials on current topics. No one can get along without his home paper. The newspapers should be supplemented by some periodical from which will be derived amusement and instruction during the evenings at home, where every article is read and digested. Such a paper, to fill every requirement, should possess these qualities:

First—It should be a clean, wholesome paper that can safely be taken into the family. It should be illustrated with timely engravings.
Second—A paper that is entertaining and instructive while of sound principles. Its moral tone should be beyond question.
Third—A helpful paper, one that tells the household of home life, thoughts and experiences, and keeps her in touch with social usage and fashion.
Fourth—A paper abounding in original character sketches, bright sayings, anecdotes and brilliant wit.
Fifth—It should contain good stories and pleasing matter for young people, that the children may always regard the paper as a friend.
Sixth—Literary selections and stories suitable for older people should be given, for they, too, like to enjoy a leisure hour.
Seventh—In short, it should be a good all-round Family Journal, a weekly visitor which shall bring refreshment and pleasure to every member of the household.
We offer to supply our readers with just such a paper: one of national reputation and circulation. It is the famous
