MARS' MONTH.

A Record of Lesser Events for the Thirty-one Days.

The auction of jewelry at W. E. Garretson's (A. R. Thompson's) was discontinued for the present.

Circuit court was in session this morning and arguments made upon various motions. The February term will probably end today.

A business meeting of the Christian Endeavor will be held Thursday evening. Special business on hand. A full attendance is desired.

County court was in session this morning. It is understood to inquire into the sanity of a resident of Celilo, but up till 1:30 no witnesses had appeared.

Today is "blue Monday." It began snowing early this morning on a temperature of 34 deg., and has kept at it quite steadily all day, melting as fast as it fell, making a precipitation of .54 of an inch.

Armory hall is full to overflowing every Saturday night. This is soiree night and the attendance reaches into the hundreds. The large floor space is always crowded with dancers, and great pains is taken to admit none of questionable character. As a consequence the soirees are attended by people of all ages, and it is a pleasing sight to see couples of little girls here and there fit through the maze of dancers which fills the floor on soiree night.

DEADLOCKED.

The Mayor and the Council Lock Horns, Resulting in Adjournment.

An extraordinary meeting of the city council occurred Saturday night, which will pass down to history as the shortest regular meeting on record, and perhaps the most animated.

Mayor Krefl called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock, present Councilmen Hudson, Eshelman, Joles, Butts and Crowe. Messrs. Joles and Butts were seated at the recorder's table and were going through the bills during the reading of the minutes. The minutes of the regular January meeting were passed without comment, as were the special meeting of Feb. 8th. The recorder had just started out with "City Hall, Feb. 19th, a special meeting of the common council was held Feb. 17th—" when the mayor interrupted the recorder's monotone by a vigorous rap with the gavel. It was ominous and startling. As the gentlemen of the council elevated an inquiring glance to the presiding officer they saw a countenance bearing a hard, set look, and heard the words:

"Gentlemen, these minutes are not a matter of record. I declare them out of order and they will not be read."

There was a momentary silence, broken by Ald. Hudson stepping to the recorder's desk, inquiring for a charter. He read therefrom a section, which did not quite fit the case in hand, and said he would look further into the matter as soon as he had a little leisure time. He said he supposed the meeting was regular, that he had been duly notified by the marshal, and presented himself in accordance with the summons.

Ald. Joles, who had been perusing the bills, said: "In looking over the bills I discover a bill for 287 meals for prisoners during the month of February, and, as far as I am concerned, there will be a bill for 300 meals in March for feeding the council unless these minutes in question are read."

Mr. Joles was evidently prepared for a long siege, but a motion later to adjourn removed the necessity of the city feeding him and the other councilmen during a protracted deadlock.

Ald. Hudson next tried to break the deadlock by moving that the minutes be read. It was duly seconded, and again the sounding gavel struck the bench.

"The motion is not in order, and will not be put," said his honor.

"Then I move to adjourn." It was seconded by Mr. Joles and the motion put, when Ald. Butts quickly arose and said in a deprecatory way: "Gentlemen, this is no way to do business, at all. It is only boys' play. Let's get to work and do the business the city expects us to do. There are people here waiting for their money, bills that ought to be paid, and we ought to pass upon them."

"Question" was the response, and the motion to adjourn was carried.

THE SCHOOL MEETING.

A Larger Attendance Turns Out than for Many Years.

A Schoolhouse for 150 Pupils Will Be Built in Thompson's Addition—Three Grades Will Be Added.

The annual school meeting of District No. 12 convened this afternoon at 2 o'clock. As it was generally understood this was to be an important meeting, a larger number were in attendance than for several years. Other matters of a public nature are sometimes slighted, but when anything touching upon the welfare of the children comes up, parents generally exhibit the true interest and brave every inconvenience to be present.

The meeting was opened by a reading of the call by Mr. H. S. Wilson, followed by a reading of the clerk's report by Mr. E. Jacobsen. This was very full, containing besides a financial statement, a report of the several classes and the number of pupils in each class.

Election of a director to serve three years was next declared in order. Mr. S. B. Adams nominated Mr. Orion Kinersly, and Mr. Geo. Runyon nominated Mr. Jack Elton. In answer to an inquiry as to what constituted a legal voter, Mr. Wilson replied one who was a resident of the state for one year and of the district thirty days, who was over 21 years of age, and had any taxable real or personal property in the district. The ballot resulted in Kinersly 82, Elton 47, and Mr. Kinersly was declared duly elected.

For clerk Mr. C. L. Phillips nominated Mr. E. Jacobsen. Mr. FitzGerald nominated I. C. Nicholson, and Mr. Wiley nominated I. I. Burgett. Mr. Nicholson declined. The vote resulted Jacobsen 74, Burgett 69.

The next question considered was the one providing for additional school room, whether to buy, lease or build. An offer was read from the academy directors to lease two rooms in the basement for $40 per month, or one room for $20. In this connection a statement was read from Prof. Gavin that if but one grade was added, one room extra would be all that was needed.

Mr. L. L. McCartney then addressed the house in reference to a petition for the construction of a school building in Thompson's addition. Mr. Jack Elton presented a written motion, which after it was amended read as follows: That the school directors be empowered to construct a school building within 400 yards of Mrs. Fish's brick dwelling house, suitable for 150 children, and that it be finished and furnished by the first of September, 1894.

School Clerk Jacobsen read a supplemental report of population, showing that there were 175 school children in Thompson's addition. Mr. McCartney said that in his neighborhood the children would have to walk two miles to school, and being so small they could not go that distance. That when they grew larger they would have to enter the struggle for existence, and hence they would be deprived of schooling. The motion was carried.

The next question was that of increasing the number of grades. Mr. Bayard moved that the grades be raised up to and including the eleventh grade, this being an addition of three grades to those at present. He supported the motion in a short speech, saying that while his children were not old enough to attend, they would be some time and he did not want to send them to Celilo or Hood River to acquire the finishing touches of an education.

Mr. Adams was then called for. He said this was the only subject that had been brought up which he felt deeply interested in. He referred to the hard times, and was as much in favor as anybody else in reducing taxation or indebtedness. "The present stringency affects every industry from Maine to California," said he, "and we must proceed very carefully, or else we will be swamped. But there are two industries in The Dalles I might mention which have been exempt from the general depression. These are the infant industry and the rock crusher. And the administration or any other authority is powerless to cope with them. When I went in as school director there were only about 500 school children in the district. Now there are 1,060." A voice in the house said, "Good for Adams." The laughter that followed this witticism was deafening, and all efforts to restore order were powerless.

Mr. Adams continued: "I was informed that today's meeting would be a warm one and I can afford to furnish a little fun. But to be serious, this question of increasing the grades appeals to me strongly. The benefits are these: We have got to have more school room, and it makes but little difference as to that whether the present grades are added or not. We must have two more teachers. Raising the grades will not add any more room. The only difference is the class of teachers. The higher grade teacher will have to be paid $25 more per month, or $225 for the school year. I will take the outside tuition money that will be paid, consequent upon raising these grades and give bond to pay this $250 extra with no added expense to the district. I have received applications from ten or fifteen families outside the district, which cannot be provided for. I have had to tell them no. Why, if we had these grades, there would not be a vacant house in town. I do not say anything against the present school. It is good as far as it goes, but that is not enough.

"Again, there is no less than 25 or 30 children going out of school this year who should remain, but who are going out at 12 to 15 years of age. Some children are going over the course again, reviewing because parents want to keep them in school. And the parents don't want to send them to Dufur or Hood River to be educated. This is a matter that appeals to our patriotism. It is humiliating to go to Dufur and see them spreading out, while we are not doing our duty at home. I say it is a matter that should be considered by every patriotic citizen."

The motion was then put and unanimously carried; and shortly after the meeting adjourned.

One Result of the "Change."

The following are the figures of the public debt statement in Sunday's Oregonian, given in answer to inquiry of I. Sichel.

Public debt statement July 1, 1888, last year of Mr. Cleveland's first administration, was $1,063,004.894. On July 9, 1892, the last year Mr. Harrison was in office, it was $841,528,463, showing a reduction from July 1, 1888 to July 9, 1892, in round numbers of $221,476,431. On March 1, 1894, public debt statement shows it to be $1,007,558,015, an increase since July 9, 1892, of $166,031,552. Democrats of Oregon, please make a note of the above facts and figures, and tell us how do you like the change?
