MARS' MONTH.

A Record of Lesser Events for the Thirty-one Days.

A hop picker that will do the work of twenty-five or thirty men is the latest Salem invention.

The city council is in session this afternoon doing the business of the busted regular meeting Saturday night.

Mr. I. I. Burget announces himself as candidate for county clerk in another column. Mr. Burget is the first to start the ball rolling in the political arena.

The young ladies of the Christian church will give a social Friday evening, in the basement of the church. Come out and have a good time, and get something nice to eat. Admission ten cents.

Mrs. Phillips has just built a new green-house, much larger than her old one, and has bought all of the pots and plants of Mr. Varney, and is now well prepared to furnish both cut flowers and plants.

Mr. Phil Armour, one of the best known men in the world, and especially in Chicago, is on a tour to the coast. He is accompanied by Dr. Gaunsaulus, the noted divine. These gentlemen will be in Portland over Sunday.

The Dalles String Band give the last of their series of dances tomorrow night at Wingate hall. On that occasion the band will render some choice selections about 8:30 o'clock for the edification of those who love good music, and the regular dancing will follow.

Justice courts have been running very light for several months. Only one small bill has been presented before the county court for West Dalles precinct and only one bill for East Dalles precinct in two months. In these kind of times, the public can appreciate economy along this line.

Stockholders' Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that there will be an annual meeting of the stockholders of the Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Company held in the Chronicle hall on Saturday, the 7th day of April, 1894, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing seven directors and transacting any other business that may properly come before said meeting. By order of the president.

CHANCE TO TRADE.

Manitoba German Farmers Want Farms in Oregon.

The following letter received today needs no explanation:

PORTLAND, Or., March 6, 1894.
Editor CHRONICLE, The Dalles, Or.:

DEAR SIR—A great number of German families, who are dissatisfied with their present situation in Manitoba, and the Northwest territories, desire to find a location in our state, and have asked me to assist them to that end. Believing that Wasco county is a desirable place, especially as far as climate and soil are concerned, and also believing that you, your city and the whole county would profit considerably by the extensive immigration of sober and industrious people, I would respectfully ask the favor to make this known through your paper, and ask those within your reach who have farms or farm lands for sale, to send to my address as below description, price and terms. Such offers only which I think are bargains will be considered. I am, sir, yours very respectfully,

Dr. A. DEITRICH,
46, Union Blk, Portland, Or.
Foster and the Fire.

The numerous friends of Ben Foster, the New York artist, will sincerely regret to learn of this, his second burn-out within a year. The first occurred last summer while he was at Buzzards Bay replenishing his portfolio with marines. The loss at that time was almost the entire contents of his studio, though fortunately he had a pretty good insurance. When he returned to New York he fitted up a new studio in one of the fire-proof buildings on Fifty-ninth street, diagonally opposite Cornelius Vanderbilt's new residence. With the new surroundings he seems to have put on a new activity. Competent judges say he has done some of his best work here. While he was absent from the city the fire-proof building was gutted by fire and all Foster's effects were destroyed or ruined, among which were two pictures he was preparing for the spring exhibition, and which were more ambitious, and his artist friends say more successful than any he had hitherto attempted. Not a dollar of insurance. He delayed taking out a policy because when he went into the new studio he had very little and supposed the building fire-proof, and so felt safe.

Foster is a plucky fellow, and notwithstanding this severe loss at a time when he is doing the best work of his life, there's lots of good things to come yet, or we are not a true judge or prophet. He has our deep sympathy, all the same.

Notice.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of county clerk, subject to the decision of the republican county convention.

I. I. BURGET.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "la grippe" has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on liver, stomach and kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with sick headache, you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c. at Snipes & Kineraly's drug store.

A Congressional Aspirant.

Hon. John C. Leasure, of Pendleton, arrived in the city this morning, and while shaking hands with numerous friends, made THE CHRONICLE a fraternal call. Mr. Leasure is one of Eastern Oregon's favorite sons, and as one of his friends asserts, "is a self-made man who does not worship his creator." His business in Wasco county at this time is avowedly political, as he is prominently mentioned as a republican candidate for congress to succeed Ellis. He claims that Umatilla, Crook and Baker counties will support him solidly, and hopes that the remaining counties in the district will unite for him merely for the purpose of making the sentiment unanimous. He says, however, that, if his nomination would endanger the success of the republican party, he is willing to step down and will support the next man, for he is desirous that the republicans win a sweeping victory in June. As far as his county is concerned, he says, many democrats are changing their politics, and republicans who went out are coming back again. He considered that the populists were of small importance numerically. He believes all the republican conventions will be harmonious and that the state will go solidly republican.

A Rail Curver.

It is a very interesting sight to see the new rails which have been received here for the re-construction of the roadbed between The Dalles and Portland being bent to fit the sharp curves which are so numerous on this part of the railroad. These new rails are very much heavier than the ones now in use and would tear up the spikes which held them in place unless they were bent to conform with the curves before being put down. One of the company's strongest freight engines, in charge of Engineer Nickell, has been engaged in this work at the depot since yesterday morning, and quite an exhibition of the power of the iron horse is given when it draws one of these rails through the device which bends them.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. P. B. Sinnott of Portland is a guest of Col. Sinnott today.

Mr. N. Whealdon has taken his grip in one hand and a large umbrella in the other and gone to Portland.

Mr. Ohio S. Watt, property agent of the O. R. & N. Co., is in the city today on business connected with the company.

Mr. A. Cramer of Kent, Sherman county, was in the city this morning and left for his home today. Mr. Cramer reports stock as doing remarkably well and in good condition. Politically speaking, he says the different parties are laying on their oars, waiting for something to turn up. The alliance people are the most energetic.

REGARDING CONTAGION.

Regulations for Quarantine and Public-city Enforced upon Citizens.

The attention of citizens is directed to the provisions of the ordinance concerning diphtheria and other contagious diseases.

Section 1 of Ordinance No. 12 reads: "It shall be the duty of every practicing physician in the city to notify the mayor in writing of every case of contagious or infectious disease within the city limits, within twelve hours after the existence of such disease shall come to his knowledge; and should any such physician refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall upon conviction thereof before the recorder's court, be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars."

Sections 2 and 3 are for the benefit of the citizen, as follows:

"It is hereby made the duty of the owner or occupant of every house, store, building or tenement in the city where in any person may have the diphtheria, small-pox, scarlet fever or other dangerous or contagious disease to give notice, by writing to the mayor of same, within twelve hours after the existence of said disease shall come to his knowledge."

The penalty for not complying is placed at $20 to $100. Section 3 provides that such citizen shall place a green flag on the house in the case of diphtheria, and a yellow flag in all other cases.

AN AFRICAN PEST.

The Crocodile and Its Terrible Destruction of Human Life.

With regard to the utility of the crocodile there are diverse opinions. It is certainly a scavenger, though, when the rapid currents of most rivers are taken into consideration, the importance of his mission dwindles. The author of "In the Morambala Marsh" says that along the banks of African streams it is dangerous to approach the river-edge. Water for domestic purposes is obtained from the top of the banks by means of a cup attached to a bamboo pole twenty or thirty feet in length, and in spite of these precautions the death-roll is a most ghastly one.

The primitive dugouts used by the natives for traveling on the rivers are in many cases merely death-traps. While the man is paddling along, barely two inches above the surface of the river, the crocodile seizes his hand and drags him to the bottom.

On one occasion I sent down some letters by a Hindoo merchant, and a few weeks later heard that both letters and postman had been devoured by crocodiles. At another time I was strolling along the bank and hearing cries, arrived at the water's edge in time to seize a young boy whose leg had been caught by one of these brutes and torn from him. He escaped with his life, thanks to my timely arrival.

In some places one sees thousands of crocodiles on a mudbank, most of them scarcely two inches in length, evidently just hatched. A week does not pass but in some river village walls and lamentations are heard for a fresh victim to the crocodile's insatiable appetite.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

— THE —
Oldest Agricultural Paper in America.

[ESTABLISHED 1810.]

To all cash subscribers of THE CHRONICLE paying one year in advance.

The American Farmer,

1729 New York Avenue,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE AMERICAN FARMER, which is now entering upon its 75th year, is the pioneer farmer's paper in the country. It is a large eight-page paper, and contains 66 columns of the choicest agricultural and literary matter, plentifully embellished with fine illustrations. It is

NATIONAL IN CHARACTER, and deals with farming and farmer's interests on broad, practical lines. It

EMPLOYS THE BEST WRITERS IN THE COUNTRY, and everything that appears in its columns is of the highest character. Every department of the farmer's business is discussed in an earnest, practical way, looking to the greatest profit and benefit to the farmer and his family.

It appears on the 1st and 15th of each month, and is furnished at the low price of in advance. This makes it the cheapest agricultural paper in the country.

FARMER LEGISLATION.

During the coming year there will be an immense number of matters of the most vital interest to farmers dealt with by Congress and the Executive Departments at Washington. It is highly important that the farmer be kept promptly and fully informed as to what is being planned and done affecting them at the National Capital. They should all, therefore, take THE AMERICAN FARMER, which, before on the ground, has better facilities than any other papers for getting this information, and devotes itself to this duty. They will find in it constantly a great amount of valuable information that they can get in no other paper.

THE AMERICAN FARMER and THE CHRONICLE will be sent one year for $1.75.
