Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
 purifies the blood. By this means, it reaches, builds up, and invigorates every part of the system. For every blood-taint and disorder, and for every disease that comes from an inactive liver or impure blood, it is the only remedy so sure and effective that it can be guaranteed. If the "Discovery" fails to benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

These diseases are many. They're different in form, but they're like in treatment. Rouse up the torpid liver into healthful action, thoroughly purify and enrich the blood, and there's a positive cure. The "Discovery" does this, as nothing else can. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness; all Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; every form of Scrofula, even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages; and the most stubborn Skin and Scalp Diseases, are completely cured by it.

ALWAYS OPEN—the offer made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's a reward of $500 cash for an incurable case of Catarrh. The only question is—are you willing to try it, if the makers are willing to take the risk?

Republican County Convention.

A Republican Convention for the County of Wasco, State of Oregon, is called to meet in Dalles City, in said county, on Wednesday, April 4th, 1894, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following county offices: One County Commissioner, County Clerk, County Sheriff, County Treasurer, County Assessor, County School Superintendent, Coroner and County Surveyor; and also present officers for the several precincts, and eight delegates to the State Convention, and to discuss such other business as may properly come before such convention. The convention will consist of 67 delegates chosen by the several precincts, and the several precincts of the county will be entitled to representation in said convention as follows:

Rigelow	5	Trevitt	6
East Dalles	6	West Dalles	5
Moder	2	Falls	5
East Hood River	3	West Hood River	4
Haldwin	2	Eight Mile	2
Columbia	2	Deschutes	2
Nansen	3	Dufur	4
Kingsley	3	Tygh	2
Wainie	3	Oak Grove	2
Bake Oven	2	Antelope	2

The same being one delegate at large from each precinct and one delegate for every 25 votes, and one for every fraction over one-half of 25 votes cast for the Republican Legislative ticket at the election in June, 1892.

Primaries to elect the delegates in each of the several precincts will be held on March 28, 1894. In East Dalles precinct the polls will be located at the Wasco Warehouse, and in Columbia, F. Creighton and D. H. Roberts will act as judges at said election; in Rigelow Precinct the polls will be located at the office of Wm. Mitchell, and Chas. Cooper, C. J. Crandall and Tom Joles will act as judges at said election; in Trevitt Precinct the polls will be located at the County Courthouse in said precinct, and J. S. Fish, C. E. Bayard and O. L. Phillips will act as judges; in said election, in West Dalles Precinct the polls will be located at the City Mills, and J. W. Marquis, T. A. Hudson and A. A. Regalbert will act as judges at said election. The polls in each of said four precincts will be kept open from 12 o'clock M. to 7 o'clock P. M. for the reception of voters; the polls in each of the other precincts in the county will be located at the usual place at the hour of 1 o'clock P. M., and will be conducted in the usual manner for holding primary elections.

THE STREET-CAR SPOTTER.

He Keeps Tab on the Conductor by Means of a Silent Pocket Register.

For several months conductors have been watching men who habitually stand on rear platforms, says the Indianapolis News. That is the spotter's position. Professional spotters never "give themselves away" by counting the passengers. The spotter carries a small noiseless register in one of the pockets of his overcoat. He is most likely to appear on a car that is to carry a big load. He takes his place on the rear platform and always appears to be the most unconcerned man on the car. The first thing he does is to glance at the register in the front of the car. He makes mental note of the number of fares that have been rung up. Every time a passenger gets on he presses the button of the little register in his pocket. He never appears to be watching the persons who are getting in the car, but he must be careful not to miss one. He rides on the platform until the fares of all the persons who have got on the car since he took his position have been collected. His last act before getting off is the mental registration of the number of fares indicated by the register in the car. If he has another test to make before making his report, he will probably stop under the first electric light, write down on the blank furnished him the number of fares registered when he got on the car and the number registered when he got off. He subtracts one from the other, and has before him the number of fares the conductor should have registered. Then he looks at his indicator, and if there is a discrepancy between his count and the count the conductor registers he reports the fact to the company.

A conductor who is discharged is never accused of having stolen money from the company. The charge is "improperly collecting fares." It is not often that a conductor is discharged the first time it is reported to the company that he is "improperly collecting fares." The test is applied to him frequently, and if it is found that he is habitually not ringing up fares for all the persons who take passage on his car he is dismissed. Conductors believe that the means employed by spotters are unfair. They say that it is often impossible for any man to get all the fares on a car; that it is an easy matter to get all the fares when a car is not crowded, but when fifty or sixty persons board a car bound uptown it is next to impossible to collect without an error. Often persons will get off the car before the conductor has reached them, and hampered as he is by the crowd, they say, he cannot prevent this. Then persons are getting on and off, exchanging seats and doing other things that mystify the conductor as he pushes his way through the crowd in search of the nickels that are due the company.

FOLLOWING A PRECEDENT.

Old Bill Botts Had Found the Heathen Chinese Not at All Accommodating.

A good, honest fellow in his way was Bill Botts, but he had never had an opportunity to study moral philosophy as taught in the colleges and universities, says the New York Herald. He came from Biddeford, in Devon, and very likely some of his ancestors had helped Drake "wallop" the Spaniards. He had followed in their footsteps by enlisting in the navy to fight for his queen and country whenever called upon to do so.

When he returned from a voyage to China he brought with him a present for a gentleman who had been very kind to his old mother during his absence. It was a curiously fashioned Chinese garment made of bits of a species of straw strung together.

"Plase, sur, you must excuus an beeing torn," he said, bashfully, when he presented it, "the Chinaman wouldn't part with an asy."

He had run across a Chinaman wearing it somewhere in the streets of Hong Kong, and the unfortunate celestial not understanding his summary request to "hand that over here" he had simply yanked it off him.

To the suggestion that his conduct had hardly been consistent with strict honesty he replied:

"Beggin' your pardon, sur, he wuz only a haythen, an' I never heard that taking things from a haythen counted as stealin'."

"Well," replied his friend, "if many illustrious Englishmen had not acted on that assumption I don't know where the British empire would now be; so I'll keep the heathen's garments."

Ladies Will Find Relief

From their headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, etc., by taking Simmon's Liver Regulator. It is mild, safe and pleasant.

EXERCISE FOR THE EYES.

Absolutely Necessary in Order That the Vision May Be Preserved.

When the eyes are treated fairly they are strengthened, not weakened, by work, says the Philadelphia Times. Just as the arms of a blacksmith grow the stronger for his trade, so the eyes of watchmakers who work under healthy conditions are found to improve and not to deteriorate in vigor and quickness. It is the abuse of the eyes, not their use, which is to be avoided.

If a man is aware either that his eyes need no artificial correction or else have received their proper adjustment, and if his work, whether literary or mechanical, is done in a light both steady and sufficient and with a due regard as to ordinary sanitary rules, he may feel sure that he is strengthening his eyes, not weakening them, by hard work. Men of intellectual pursuits sometimes are afraid of losing their mental powers in old age because they have drawn so much upon them when young. The reverse is nearer the truth, and if they have not overtaxed their brains the fear is absolutely groundless.

The man whose intellect goes first in old age is generally some farmer or laborer who has never strengthened and invigorated it by use; not the politician, the lawyer or the man of letters. So with the eyes. Those who have strengthened their eyes by using them properly keep keen sight longer than those who have never trained them. In the case of the man who has neglected to give his eyes full development they will fail in power along with his other bodily functions. When, however, the man who, born with good eyes, has kept them in constant hard work and yet never strained them reaches old age, he may find them capable of performing their functions better than any other organ of the body.

Ten days loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor bill to pay, is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas, was sick in bed for ten days with the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considerable success, I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of the remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectually give this remedy a trial. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

THE PEANUT.

One of the Important Items of Our Southern Industry.

The peanut is the fruit of a plant common in warm countries. It is sometimes called the ground-pea and ground or earth nut. Still another name for it, says the Detroit Free Press, is pindal or pindar, and in western Africa it is called mardubi. The plant is a trailing vine with small yellow flowers. After the flowers fall the flower stem grows longer, bends downward, and the pod on the end forces itself into the ground, where it ripens. Peanuts are raised in immense quantities on the west coast of Africa, in South America and in the southern United States. The vines are dug with pronged hoes or forks, dried for a few days and then stacked for two weeks to cure. The pods are picked by hand from the vines, cleaned in a fanning mill, and sometimes bleached with sulphur, and packed in bags for market. Peanuts are sometimes eaten raw, but usually roasted or baked. In Africa and South America they form one of the chief articles of food. Large quantities of them are made into an oil much like olive oil, and which is used in the same way. It is also used in the manufacture of soap. A bushel of peanuts, when pressed cold, will make a gallon of oil. If heat is used, more oil is made, but it is not so good. In Spain peanuts are ground and mixed with chocolate. Peanut vines make good food for cattle.

The peanut gets its name from the shape of its pod, which is like that of the pea.

STUDY antagonists of the concavists of Chicago, the Korshian Angels, have arisen in London. The Society of Planists of that city has gained in numbers and strength sufficiently to publish a monthly magazine, called the Earth Review, through which medium they hope to convert the great body of "Globoarists," who think the earth is round, to the creed of the Planists, who know it to be flat.
