TROOPS HAVE LEFT

General McCook Has Withdrawn Them From Denver to Fort Logan.

SUPREME COURT HEARING TODAY

The Outcome of the Pollard-Breckinridge Trial Will Be a Divorce Suit.

DENVER, March 18.—General McCook today withdrew the federal troops from the city to Fort Logan. The proceedings against Mayor Van Horn and Police Commissioners Rogers, Barnes and Mullins for contempt of court, in having violated the injunction issued by Judge Graham on behalf of Martin and Orr, will come up before Judge Glinn tomorrow morning, Judge Graham having gone on a vacation.

A Suit for Divorce to Follow.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The final chapter of the Pollard-Breckinridge trial, rumor says, will be a divorce suit. The secret marriage of Mrs. Wing and Representative Breckinridge took place in New York April 29th, is shown by the certificate of only a few days ago. It was not until the following July that the public marriage was celebrated in Louisiana. It was after the New York ceremony that Breckinridge promised in the presence of Chief of Police Moore to marry Miss Pollard. According to the testimony Colonel Breckinridge continued his relations with Miss Pollard three weeks after he was married to Mrs. Wing. This revelation of unfaithfulness and duplicity on the part of Colonel Breckinridge, it is said, has keenly affected his present wife, and it is now asserted that when the pending trial is concluded a suit for divorce will follow.

The Feeling Against the Governor.

DENVER Colo., March 17.—The feeling against Governor Waite runs very high, and it is said the temper of the opposition to him is such that the slightest pretext would be the cause of a personal assault on him. The propriety of having the governor seized as a lunatic was discussed by some, and at one time seriously considered.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

F. I. Bennett of Kent undertook to run through a burning straw stack last week, but tripped and fell into the fire. Luckily he did not inhale any of the fire, but his face and wrists were pretty badly burned.

J. S. McKinney of Lone Rock has just learned that a silver mine at his old home in North Carolina, in which he owned a twelfth share, has been sold to an English company for $29,000. A brother and two sisters also get a share—nearly $2,500 each. He expects his brother out to Condon soon, and it is very probable that they will invest their $5,000 in some enterprise at Condon, says the Globe.

A few days ago, Superintendent Gardner of the Boys' & Girls' Aid Society, received word from Justice McQuillan, of Hillsboro, that one Myron Beard, living on a farm near Greenville, had been brought before him and sentenced to a term in the county jail for abusing his two little boys, one aged 2 years and the other 4 years. The children were found to be covered with bruises and cuts. One of the eyes of the 2-year-old boy was closed and blackened, and the skin had been knocked off the right temple. A large red handkerchief was tied around the little fellow's head, and he presented a pitiful appearance. The elder child's hair had been pulled out from the back of his head. The case will be heard before County Judge Crandall, at Hillsboro on March 24. Mr. Gardner will be on hand, and he thinks there is no doubt that the permanent care of the little ones will be awarded to the society.

NEWS NOTES.

De Gama and seventy officers boarded a Portuguese warship and put to sea unmolested.

The amended tariff bill will be presented to the senate Tuesday, but debate on it will not begin till two weeks later.

The fine Union depot at Denver was completely destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The loss is $500,000, fully insured.

The story was circulated at the state-house that the request for troops at Cripple Creek was only a ruse to get them away from Denver.

Secretary Carlisle has submitted to congress an estimate for an additional appropriation of $10,000 for carrying out the Chinese registration act.

The Cripple Creek (Colorado) miners are striking for an eight-hour day with nine hours pay. They successfully resisted the sheriff and posse, and now the militia has been enlisted against them.

There will be no contest over the will of Annie Pringle. Robert A. Fulford, her husband, has effected a settlement with the mother and sisters of his late wife, which, it is claimed, exceeds their expectations. The mother of the actress, it is said, will receive $15,000 and an allowance for the remainder of her life, while the sisters will receive $10,000 and an allowance.

The disgraceful row between Governor Waite and Messrs. Orr and Martin, of the fire and police board, over the possession of their office, in which the state militia and federal troops took a prominent part, will be settled in the courts. The chief executive has submitted the controversy to the supreme court, as his legal advisers have advised him to do ever since the trouble began. A decision is expected as early as Tuesday.

Miss Martha J. Fuller, a pretty stenographer and typewriter, 26 years of age, who for the past three years has been employed by Mr. Mullen, a New York lawyer, was found alone in the office, dying from pistol shot wounds by J. T. Magee, a lawyer in an adjoining room. Blood was flowing from two great holes in either temple. A revolver was lying upon the desk which a few moments before she had closed, preparatory to going home. It is thought Magee killed her himself, though he claims it was suicide. It was later discovered she had refused him in marriage.

FARM PRODUCTS ABROAD.

Horses are very cheap in Australia. The horse markets are glutted with animals offered, for which there is no demand. Similar reports come from Great Britain. Indeed the depression in the prices of horses seems to be world wide.

A fine stud of hackney horses has been established at Buda-Pesth, Hungary, by a wealthy gentleman named Wahrman. Among the foundation animals are thirteen mares from the renowned Brookfield stud of Mr. Burdett Coutts.

The agricultural department of India has adopted what is there spoken of as "a new idea," and which consists in publishing for general distribution monographs, similar to the farmers' bulletins of the United States department of agriculture.

FARMERS in all the parts of Europe which suffered from drought last year find it difficult to provide forage to keep their live stock through the winter. In France and Germany, twigs of trees and vines are made to contribute to the subsistence of cattle and sheep. UNITED STATES COMMERCIAL AGENT SMITH reports that the Rhine vintage of 1893 was a full one-half crop. This is a gratifying amount, as a three-fourths vintage is a rarity and a full vintage remarkably scarce. It is expected on all sides that the Rhine wine of 1893 will be fine in quality.

Deserving Praise

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, as we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. There remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Snipes & Kinerly's druggists.

THE ISRAELITE IN EGYPT.

Egyptian Names Are Faithfully Reproduced in the Bible.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian writes: Perhaps hardly any tale of ancient times has come down to us so well accredited as to its main facts as the story of the sojourn of the Israelites in Egypt, their wanderings in the desert, and the slow and painful evolution among them of a higher form of religious faith, and yet, if we are to believe Prof. B. Stade ("Geschichte des Volkes Israel") and E. Meyer ("Geschichte des alten Aegyptens"), the Israelites never were in Egypt at all. "All that we read of their history in Exodus," says Prof. Stade, "is a myth decked out as history." A defender, however, has arisen for the old story in far Japan, whence Prof. L. Riess sends a paper to the Preussische Jahrbucher (December) discussing at some length Prof. Stade and Meyer's arguments, and giving his own attempt at a rationalistic version of the Bible story. He dismissed as untenable their argument from the silence of the Egyptian records (why, he pertinently asks, should the Egyptians have sought to preserve the memory of events so little creditable to themselves?), and rejects as unscientific their attempt to emasculate into the mere passing wandering of some small nomad tribe that migration and regeneration of a whole nation which has left lasting traces on the history of the world. The accretions of a later date may be distinguished from the small bits of genuine tradition that are all that have come down to us by their very appropriateness, by their aptitude to enforce the tendencies of the age in which the tradition took definite literary form; thus the miraculous element in the story of the Exodus would grow naturally out of the desire for religious edification, the omission of other mention of other tribes than their own from the growing national exclusiveness. But where we find details given which are opposed to the tendencies of the later time, such as the Midianites, later on Israel's bitterest enemies, figuring now as their main helpers in a spiritual as well as material sense, or the forefathers of the two great tribes, Ephraim and Manasseh, springing from an Egyptian mother, there we may surely draw conclusions favorable to the genuineness of the tradition of which they form part. No explanation can account so simply for the faithful reproduction in the Bible narrative of Egyptian names and circumstances as that of the memories left by a lengthy sojourn in the country.

PRINCE LOUIS NAPOLEON BONAPARTE has just left the Russian army, to wear his uniform again only in case of war. He is an exile without a home, for the famous villa of Prangins, at the foot of the Alps, near Lake Leman, is forever closed. His one ambition was to become a great soldier; the privilege was denied him in France and he went to Russia. Now he lays down his sword and intends to travel.

To the Public.

I have been in office two terms for which I am grateful to the voters of this county, and am ready to step down and out whenever they say so, but through any misunderstanding, I desire, therefore, to make the following statements: First, I have never pledged myself to anyone that I would not be a candidate for school superintendent again.

Second, I have not been, am not now, and do not intend to be, a candidate for county clerk before the republican county convention.

Third, I am a candidate for the nomination of county school superintendent before the coming republican county convention, subject to the decision of the convention. TROY SHELLEY.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. A. M. WILLIAMS & CO.

Distinguished Visitors.

Oregon will be visited by some political orators of widespread fame this spring. The gospel of high protection will be preached by Governor William McKinley of Ohio, author of the tariff policy which the present administration and majority in congress is endeavoring to annihilate. Governor McKinley will arrive here some time in May, and arrangements for his tour of the state are now being made by the republican state committee. Hon. Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, is booked to lecture in Portland April 26th on "Money and Morals," and the local democracy is preparing to meet him with open arms. It is doubtful that his contract will permit him to deliver a partisan address, but his lecture will draw a packed house just the same. The populist managers have booked Ignatius Donnelly, Chairman Taubeneck and United States Senator Stewart to stamp the state for Penoyer and Pierce. Entertainment as well as enlightenment is in store for the voters of Oregon.—Oregonian.

The Good Templars.

The regular weekly meeting of Dalles Lodge, No. 2, was held at the K. of P. hall on Saturday, March 17th, and a very enjoyable time was had. Four new members were initiated, after which a short literary and musical program was excellently rendered by members of the lodge. This is one of the pleasant features of our lodge, and is worth mentioning. At each meeting the committee on entertainment have the program prepared, which consists of readings, recitations and music. Our lodge is increasing in membership, and we have a class of members second to none in the state. Anyone desiring to unite with us will please inform any member of the lodge. Come and lend a helping hand for the good of the cause. A MEMBER.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyrel Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief. I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. Mexican Silver Stove Polish causes no dust.
