HOW VOICES ARE RUINED.

Loud Singing and Singing While Suffering From a Cold Detrimental. A musician tells a reporter of the Utica Press "How Voices Are Ruined." It should be read and remembered by all young singers. Among other things he said: "The three principal sources of damage to the voice are, first, forcing the voice; second, forcing the voice; third, forcing the voice. Constant loud singing has certainly ruined ninety per cent of all the voices in the world. The way to build up a voice is not to use the full force of the tone; nothing more than medium at the outside. By this the powers are gradually developed and brought under control. It is just as natural to expect to build an armory in a month, as it is to build a voice under three years' constant application. Sir Morrell MacKenzie gives it as his deliberate opinion, after a vast experience, that a voice cannot be built up in less than seven years, but the musician said that, after fifty years' experience, he had found that three years' practice on the lines indicated above will build up a voice almost to its utmost artistic capabilities. Singing when the pupil has a cold of any kind affecting the throat or chest is highly injurious. Practice at such times can hardly do good, and may do serious harm. The speaker quoted many instances where total loss of voice has resulted from singing when the vocal organs have been affected by cold, and he advised students not to sing at all until all inflammation had passed. He strongly deprecated singing in chorus, an excellent practice, but one attended with serious dangers to the solo vocalist. If you can really restrain your ardor and zeal, and only sing in the most exciting passages with a moderate amount of vocal power, you may do no harm, but the misfortune is that in a chorus the members are carried away with overzeal and emulation of their neighbors, and in very many instances do more harm to their voices as solo singers in five minutes than any teacher in the world can amend in five years. He also called attention to the danger of ruining the voice by straining it while singing in the public schools. Boys should not sing while their voices are changing. His own voice had been a very good one while young; but was ruined by straining while he was singing in an English cathedral.

A LITERARY SWINDLER.

Appointed Professor of Arabic Without Even Knowing the Alphabet. One of the cleverest literary swindlers who ever lived, says the Detroit Free Press, was a Maltese named Vella, who pretended to have an intimate acquaintance with Arabic, although he did not know a word of that language, and was not even familiar with the alphabet. He arrived in Sicily about the end of the last century, at a time when the barons of that country, in order to settle a dispute about their feudal right, were anxious to gain certain information about the kingdom in the days of the Saracens.

Vella contrived to be appointed translator of certain Arabic manuscripts, and he actually produced an alleged translation and played his part with such address that he obtained honors, dignity and the professorship of Arabic in the University of Palermo. The Sicilian literati at last became suspicious and endeavored to expose the impostor, but he was defended by some of the most eminent men of the island, and it was with the greatest difficulty that an investigation was secured. Vella was at last, however, convicted and sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment.

Ten days loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor bill to pay, is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas, was sick in bed for ten days with the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considerable success, I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of the remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectually give this remedy a trial. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

NEAR THE SKIES.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., is 6,400 feet above the sea.

PORTLAND, Me., is the Hill City, from its situation on an eminence.

The experience of Geo. A. Appgar, of German Valley, N. J., is well worth remembering. He was troubled with chronic diarrhoea and doctored for five months and was treated by four different doctors without benefit. He then began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, of which one bottle effected a complete cure. It is for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

THE VENICE OF AFRICA.

A Town That Is Built Upon Three Coral Islands. The Italians, says a recent writer, are fond of comparing Massowah to Venice. The town is built of three coral islets close to the mainland. During late years a considerable number of Italian buildings have arisen among the ruins of the Egyptian occupation; the white Egyptian palace, built by the unfortunate Arakel Pasha, who fell at Gudda Gudda, fighting against the Abyssinians, on December 16, 1875, is now the residence of the Italian governor; adjoining it is a very pretty military club, with an open-air theater; water surrounds you on every side, and steamy, enervating heat makes life a burden to those who have just come from more bracing climes; yet, strange to say, Massowah is by no means unhealthy, fevers are rare; bugs, fleas and other vermin—alas! too common on the high plateau—are unknown here; there is no vegetation to decay and cause malaria.

The only difficulty with which Italian officers have to contend is debility and anemia, which is at once removed by a residence of a few weeks on the high plateau, or a few months' leave in Europe; in fact, they say that Massowah is healthier than any of their military stations at home. If Massowah is infinitely inferior to Venice in its external appearance, it is infinitely more beautiful in its surroundings. The mighty Abyssinian mountains approach quite close to the coast line at this point, and from a stupendous and lovely background to the town.

It will cure sick headache, indigestion, constipation and drive malaria from the system. Satisfaction guaranteed with each bottle or the money will be refunded. Price only 50c. per bottle. Sold by Snipes & Kinerly.

Old Flemish Paintings.

Many of the masterpieces of the past, which are preserved in Belgian churches, are kept covered with heavy cloths, the idea being to stimulate public curiosity and extort from visitors an extra fee for viewing them. A result of this sordid policy is that the color of the pictures, being deprived of light, has materially deteriorated, and that the pictures have become darkened and obscured. The great Van Eyck "Saint Martin" in the church at Yve, has suffered so severely that the government has interfered, and a similar action is expected in other cases.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c. per per bottle.

MISS CHICAGO'S BREEZY WAY.

Living Things Up Among the Spiritless Guests at a Hotel. One morning as we were having a melancholy breakfast as a prelude to a melancholy day, says a writer in the Washington Post, Miss Chicago appeared upon the scene with bright eyes, red cheeks, ribbons flying and feathers nodding.

"Why, how do you do?" cried her cheery young voice, "so glad to see you. Haven't heard a word from you since we crossed on the Victoria together. What are you doing here? I have come to console a gouty father; am afraid it will be awfully stupid, but come and bowl with me after breakfast and we will talk it over." All this was delivered, so rapidly I had no opportunity to interrupt. "Bowl with you, my dear little child?" I asked. "The alleys have been closed for weeks." "Were closed, you mean," said Miss Chicago. "Now they are open, and I have discovered two little negroes, whom I'm going to dress in red flannel zouave suits, who want to do my bidding. We will bowl at ten, have a Turkish bath at twelve, ride at four, play pool before dinner, and dance afterward."

And it was even so. Every place of amusement connected with the hotel had been closed. Miss Chicago turned the key which unlocked all the doors, and during the rest of my stay at the hotel, we had the gayest sort of a time. Everybody was happier because of the presence of this bright young western girl. The invalids smiled when she passed them, the servants rushed to do her bidding; the very animals seemed to know when she was near. I left her here, but I know there was weeping and wailing when she came to take her departure.
