DEPARTMENT YOUR ENOUGH FOR ANY. BODY. USE LOTS OF PRINTER'S INK AND Wists. THE CLAQUE.

How It Operates in the Theaters of Paris and London In Paris a determined resistance has for some time been brought to bear against the claques-men hired to applaud in the theaters.

Claques, however, have flourished from time immemorial and are not likely to die out yet awhile. In the time of the Romans as many as five thousand men were hired to cheer a single man, and to be a member of a elaque was to be considered an artist. Not only had they to shout, but they were required to imitate the clashing of broken jugs by snapping their fingers in unison and to imitate the patter of hail and the droning of bees, for these were recognized signs of ap-

Coming to more recent times the leader of a French claque considered himself very poorly off unless he made considerably over five thousand dollars a year. Indeed, the post of leader was so much sought after that as much as twenty-five thousand dollars was exacted as premium before a man was permitted to fill a vacancy. The chief was paid no stated salary, but was allotted a certain number of seats, which he could sell at his own price, and these, together with the presents he received from the actors, amounted to a very substantial sum. The claque was and still is nothing more than a gigantic fraud. Men are deputed to laugh immoderately at jokes, to applaud speeches, and women are actually employed to sob audibly and become hysterical during affecting scenes. In fact, in some foreign theaters such member of the claque is given a printed list of instructions, which he or she is expected to follow to the letter.

Things came to such a pass some years ago that a play was placed in jeopardy through the machinations of rival claques. Jealous actresses would employ their own claques, and the ridiculous spectacle was presented of an actress being applauded from one part of the house and soundly hissed from the other.

Circumstances are considerably modified in France now, but we still have our claques here, says an English paper. They consist chiefly of deadheads, persons who are expected to applaud in exchange for free admission. They appear for the most part the first nights, when the fate of a play is in the balance, and are to be seen frantically clapping their hands when the remainder of the audience is half asleep.

At other times foreign actresses fresh to the English stage hire men to appland them on their first appearance. The whole business, however, is carried out so inartistically that the presence of a claque is nearly always Handling Powder in the Navy.

It has long been the custom of ships lying at the Brooklyn navy yard to discharge their powder as precaution against accident, and the regulations as to entering a man-of-war's powder magazine are of the most stringent character. It sometimes happens that a single catastrophe is responsible for extra precautions that become permanently imbedded in naval regulations, and doubtless the destruction of the frigate Fulton at the Brooklyn navy yard sixty-six years ago was responsible for the stringency as to discharging powder. The Fulton was a temporary receiving ship, and one day while the officers were at dinner a gunner entered the magazine without proper precautions. The result was an explosion that blew up the ship and killed forty out of one hundred persons killed forty out of one hundred persons

Ten days loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor bill to pay, is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas, was sick in bed for ten days with the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Chest trouble, and will use this remedy the latter described by the latter case of the Leader, We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a Cough, Cold or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy Cough Remedy with considersible success, I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of the remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. IMITATED A DOG TOO WELL Powers of a Lancashire Ventriloquist Get Him Into Trouble An English professional ventrilo quist in Lancashire lately received what is perhaps as high a compliment to his professional powers as ever was paid to one of his tribe, and yet, as Mr. Toole used to say, "he is not happy." It appears from proceedings at the Wallassey petty sessions that this ven-triloquist prided himself greatly on his skill in imitating the cries of a dog, and that one day, at Seacombe Ferry, he agreed to give an exhibition of this sort of mimicry, and proceeded to do so by beating a hand-bag, from which the most agonizing cries, as of a dog, appeared to come. The first result as that an old lady rushed at the ventriloquist and tried to hit him with an umbrella. She desisted when told it was a joke; but a man named Scott, a it was hardly practicable to dispose of meat contractor, then rushed across the road, took the ventriloquist by the throat, and struck him on the face and head several times, inflicting injuries which led to erysipelas in the ear, for which the sufferer claimed damages. In the witness box he repeated the sham dog-beating performance. For the defense it was contended that the defendant was genuinely deceived by the simulated agonies of the supposed dog, and had simply seized the bag in order to prevent further cruelty; and it was urged that any person playing such tricks in public must take the consequences. Finally the magistrate dismissed the case, but made no order as to costs.

A Horse on the Briton.

An Englishman traveling in the south some years ago was interested when a chance acquaintance at a hotel said to him: "I have some of Long-fellow's hair." Then he drew from his pocket a little box and exhibited a quantity of coarse black hair, "Oh," said the Englishman, with surprise, "I should have thought it would have been white." "No," said the proud possessor of the relic. "It's all right. I was in the stable myself yesterday and got this where he'd switched it off against the side of his stall." It was that a famous horse had been named for the poet.

Pigs, Poultry, Cocoanuts and Fruit in Payment for a Concert in the Pacific There is no more interesting subject of study than currency. People do not realize how difficult it would be to get along without it. Some years ago, says a writer in the Washington Star, Mile. Zelle, of the Theater Lyrique, at Paris, on a professional tour around the world, gave a concert at the Society islands, in the South Pacific. It was arranged that in payment for an air from "Norma" and three or four other selections she was to get one-third of the receipts. Her share consisted of 8 pigs, 28 turkeys, 44 chickens, 5,000 cocoanuts and considerable quantities of bananas, lemons and oranges. The live stock and produce would have represented a value of about 4,000 francs in the markets of her native city, but the former off-hand and the latter had to be fed to the pigs and poultry. A joint stock company, known as the African Barter company, limited, now existing in London, carries on a great business on the west coast of Africa entirely by bartering European manufactures for paim oil, gold dust, ivory, coffee, gum and other raw products. Eggs have been in circulation in lieu of money in the Alpine villages of Switzerland. Nails have been similarly employed in Scotland, dried codfish in Newfoundland, whales' teeth in the Fiji islands, mats of rice straw in Angola. salt in Abyssinia, beeswax in Sumatra, red feathers in the isles of the Pacific, tea in Tartary and iron hoes in Madagascar. A century ago tobacco was made legal tender in Virginia. When women were imported in that colony for wives for the settlers 100 pounds of tobacco per head was charged for them, the price being subsequently raised to
