SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution and order of sale issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Wasco County, upon a decree and judgment made, rendered and entered by said court on the 5th day of March, 1894, in favor of the plaintiff, in a suit wherein Louis Kings was plaintiff and A. Vanderpool were defendants, and to me directed and delivered, commanding me to levy upon and sell all the lands mentioned and described in said writ, and hereinafter described, I did on the 15th day of March, 1894, duly levy up on, and will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in hand, on Monday, the 16th day of April, 1894, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the front door of the County Court House in Dalles City, in Wasco County, Oregon, all of the lands and premises described in said writ and herein described as follows, to-wit: A section twenty-six (26), in township one (1) south of range four (4) east of William's (the main), containing 64 ac. 68 sq. rods or less of land, situated in Wasco county, Or., together with the tenements, household furniture and appurtenances thereto, being or in any way appertaining, or so much thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy the sum of $294, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum since the 5th day of March, 1894; $20 attorney's fee and $40.10 cost in said suit, together with costs of said writ, and accruing to me at or of sale. HAVE THE SMALLEST HANDS.

American Women Take the Lead. Followed by Their Sisters of Austria. The women of North America have the smallest hands in the world, and next to them come the Austrian, Spanish, French and Italian ladies. Those of the fair Spaniard, according to the New York Tribune, are often spoiled by coarse fingers, rounded at the tips. Russians have long, but beautifully formed hands. The hands of English women of rank are aristocratically shaped, but they are long and sometimes too dry. The French grande dame takes the best care of her hands all the world over. Germans are generally endowed with large and flat ones with enormous fingers. A typical beautiful hand is that of Duchesse de Mouchy (nee Anna Murat); it is very small, delicately formed, with taper fingers curved a little at the extremities, and almond nails. The hand of Vicomtesse de Galard is exquisite. It recalls Canova's statues, of which the hands are smaller and more aristocratic than those of the famous Greek models. Two of the Austrian archduchesses are noted for their lovely hands, Archduchess Elizabeth, mother of Queen Christina of Spain, and Archduchess Maria Theresa, sister-in-law of Emperor Francis Joseph. Of fair Frenchwomen who can boast of a charming hand the duchesses of Aven and Mouchy are among the best known; also Princess de la Tour d'Auvergne and Princess de Wagram, Duchesse de Luyne and Princess de Poix. Misses Curbe and de Mierl, though Spaniards, have hands as perfect as their feet, and Duchesse de Morny is another of the peninsular beauties whose hands are good. A charming specimen of the Russian hand is that of Duchesse de Sesto—long, but superbly made, while those of Duchesse de la Rouchefoucauld and of Lady Randolph Churchill, nee Jerome, afford illustrations of the lovely little hand of the North American woman. Most Parisiennes wear 6/8 or 6/8 gloves. These are not the smallest sizes for a pretty hand, but are those worn by many of the fairest of the sex, nevertheless; for a tight glove is a perfect abomination. It makes the hand look larger instead of smaller.

INFORMALITY OF JUDGES.

Supreme Court Dignitaries Less Austere Than Might Be Expected. Stickers for the nicest proprieties find but one fault with the supreme court of the United States, and that is that Chief Justice Fuller's hands are too much in evidence there, says the New York Sun. They are like the pretty hands of the tavern hostess whom poor Gerard met in Charles Reade's "Cloister and the Hearth." Her hands were forever flying about like excited white pigeons. The chief justice's hands are also like the arms of the angelic actress with whom Arthur Pendennis fell in love when he was a boy. Her arms were so continually exposed, says Thackeray, that she could only be seen through them, as it were. Chief Justice Fuller's long, nervous, thin, white hands are forever pulling his long mustachios or hovering about his nose, and if anything could upset the dignity of that high court it would be those hands that would do it. Our New York lawyers find the court most interesting in its contrast with our own courts. The other day a great light of the bar was arguing a very serious case before the almost full bench when Mr. Justice Field interrupted him, called him by his surname without taking the trouble to prefix the word "Mister," and then cracked a little joke with him in the most free and easy way. It was as if he had said: "See here, Tomkins, you New Yorkers see clean streets when there is a fresh fall of snow on them, don't you?" There was absolutely nothing to criticize in such an interruption, and yet no such thing would occur in a high court in this state once in twenty years.

WATER MEADOWS.

Much of the land classed as "meadow" in the Adirondack region is a curious swampy soil, covered with vegetation that rises so as to hide the underlying cold, dark water. One may walk for miles upon such meadow, the feet sinking into it as into a water-soaked sponge, and deer frequently feed upon the grasses of the meadows and seemingly enjoy in midsummer the perpetual cool foothold of their pasture.
