A LAND THAT NEVER CHANGES. STRANGE CLIMATIC DIFFERENCE Egypt Has Not Been Modernized Either

The characters of the "Thousand and One Nights" may be almost imagined to step out of their setting of words, and take form and glow with the generous warmth of life before one's very eyes says a writer in the Gentleman's Magazine. The natives still drink the same coffee, and out of the same cups; they smoke the same pipes, they wear generally the same tive or gentle laxa- dress, they play the same primitive in-tive — three for a struments that whisper the same strange and plaintive tones. The funeral processions wend their way along the smallest, easiest the streets as of old; the popular festo take, pleasantest tivals or moolids are still observed with the same untiring capacity for enjoyment: the public reciters still practhe way they act, tice their professions before admiring They do permanent crowds; the water carriers still carry their burdens, so welcome to thirsty good. Constipation, lips; except in the houses of the rich Indigestion, Brious and thoroughly Europeanized, food is same manner, and the hands are washed with the same basins and ewers; the mosque of El Azhar still attracts its crowd of students. Even the old wooden locks and keys are still in use, and the water jars are still kept cool in the lattice work of the overhanging mushrabiyeh window frames. Instances of this sort might be multiplied a hundred fold. It is, indeed, a wonderful change and contrast that is presented to the eye when you leave the Euroean and enter the native quarter. And the mind and feelings turn in uniscene. The sense of taking part in a new and different life steals over you. and you temporarily throw off your affinity with the west and the nineteenth century. The clock of time is,

TRAVEL ON FRIDAY.

How Popular Superstition Affects Rall-

road and Steamship Business. Much ridicule has been poured upon Thirteen clubs, Friday clubs and other associations formed for the laudable purpose of dealing in a practical and pleasant way with some current super stitions. Gen. Wolseley, says the Philadelphia Record, who in a recent pretentious military criticism included Dessaix, the hero of Marengo, among the generals who accompanied Napoleon to Russia, has written a flippant letter to a Thirteen club in London to say that he loves to cherish the pretty superstitions of his childhood. Against this false sentiment it must be said that some of the current popular beliefs are positively mischievous in many respects.

Not a transatlantic steamship company has Friday among the days of departure, and until quite recently none of the coastwise steamship lines had put the unlucky day on its list. It would be highly desirable for the ocean mail service that some steamships should leave Atlantic ports on Friday; but while the owners are doubtless exempt from any superstition on the subject they are obliged to dethey would be apt to find a very small passenger list, and might possibly ex-perience some difficulty in obtaining a crew. Railroad statistics show that there is less travel Friday than on any other secular day of the week. Experienced travelers are so well aware of this that they sometimes do not take

Explanation of the Causes of Florida's Varying Temperature. People who visit the east coast of Florida, and especially the Indian river and the Lake Worth region, often wonder why the climate of that section is so delightful at all times of the year and so different in almost every particular from what one would expect in those latitudes. The explanation is simple enough. The difference between northern and semitropical Florida, spart from the latitudinal distance, is due to the elevation of the former and the distance from it of the gulf stream. The waters of the Gulf of Mexico temper the immediate coast line. Their effect does not extend far inland. The stream is pressed close to the east coast shore along Dade county by the Bahama banks. Atlantic steamships southward bound, to avoid the force of the current, stand in so near the shore that they can at some points be hailed from land. The gulf stream is an old story, but it is a great fact. This vast, deep blue ocean river, a thousand times the volume of the Mississippi, is thirty miles wide, two thousand feet deep, and has a velocity of five miles an hour the year round. The temperature of the stream is eighty-four degrees, or nine degrees higher than the waters of the ocean through which it flows. The trade winds blowing nine-tenths of the time, winter and summer, from the eastward, bear the stratum of warm air formed by the gulf stream westward across the land. This is why the east coast is son, and become attuned to the changed milder and more equable than the west coast in the same latitude. With the gulf stream are found three other equalizing agencies—the trade winds, the everglades, with a water surface preventing a land breeze, and the zone of high barometric pressure. The midsummer heat, that might otherwise be ninety-five degrees, is reduced to something like eighty-eight degrees. The midwinter chill, which might get down to thirty degrees, is warmed up to something like forty degrees.

The Ponies of Sable Island. Sable island is famous throughout the Canadian maritime provinces for its race of wild ponies. The little creatures were originally placed upon the island in order that they might furnish food for shipwrecked mariners frequently cast away there. The coarse salt grass of the island is cured and stacked in summer time, and upon this the ponies feed all winter. It is said that they eat their way deep into the stacks and thus find their only shelter from storms. There is a tradition current that they even eat fish cast upon the shore. Considerable droves of the ponies are taken to the mainland in early autumn, and they are sold in the Halifax market.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufac-tured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken in-ternally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. A Story of Lucy Ston A characteristic story is told of Lucy Stone. At one of her early lectures, when she made a strong statement of the injustice some of our laws did to omen, and an appeal to have them righted, a hiss, clear and strong, came out of the audience. The little crea ture stepped nearer to the front, quickran her eye over the audience, fastened her eyes upon one point and said: "Somebody hisses. I am glad of it. Hiss it again, my fat friend, for it is a shameful fact and deserves to be The audience was overcome with laughter and appreciated her ready wit. The man felt as much like a goose as a man can feel. He got his head down before she had finished her sentence, but her finger still pointed at him. His head went lower and lower, and, as soon as the audience turned from looking at him, he slipped out
