

Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,
But not express'd in fancy; rich, not gaudy!
For the apparel oft proclaims the man.

Before selecting the manufacturer from whom to purchase our finer Clothing for Spring, we looked over many different lines, and after much study and careful deliberation, finally chose the Suitings which we now present for your inspection. The manufacturer from whom we purchased having also retail establishments in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other large Eastern cities, where they cater to the best retail trade, must necessarily be in close touch with the times, and our goods are therefore all that can be asked for as regards style, cut, fit and finish. Make your selection from our stock and you will be wearing suits similar in design, cut by the same tailors, as the well-dressed men walking down Broadway, New York City.

APRIL ANNOTATIONS.

Leaves from the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Peach, plum and cherry trees are in bloom in the city.

Ninety inches of rain fell in six months prior to the 15th of March at the Cascade Locks.

The auction sale of watches, jewelry, etc., will be continued at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The ladies of the Cascade Locks are going to treat that locality to "The Deestrick Skule."

Hood River bonded the school district for $8,000 last week for the purpose of applying that amount on their new school building.

A stone cutter at the Locks who works hard all week under the sheds, preaches on Sunday, and his discourses are said to be very good.

Mrs. Hattie Wiley, of Cascade Locks, died last Friday evening, the 6th, and her remains were taken to Hood River on Saturday, where they were interred.

A report of the state convention at Portland occupies first page on our title page today. The first page also contains additional local matter and a newsy contribution from Cascade Locks.

Payette is a popular blacksmith. J. A. Gulliford, of Dufur, came into town yesterday, and just as he was passing Payette's shop his hack broke down, as if to say "Here is the place for me to be fixed."

The book party will be given Thursday night at the new Armory hall. It is desired that all who attend will represent the title of some book, but the rule is not compulsory. Admission, with ice cream and cake, 25 cents.

Two New Sunday Schools.

W. R. Winans organized two Sunday schools in the vicinity of Boyd last Sunday. One at Center Ridge, with Mrs. Carré Willard, superintendent and Miss Lillian M. Phipps, secretary; and the other at Liberty schoolhouse with Lincoln Farrington, superintendent and Marion Allen, secretary. At the latter place "Grandma" Bolton is assistant superintendent and Bernie E. Selleck is treasurer.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS.

Conclusion of Their Convention--State Delegates--Resolutions.

After nomination of the county ticket the precincts named their delegates to the state convention as follows:

Falls, Hood River and Baldwin--J H Cradlebaugh, D L Cates.

Mosier and West Dalles--A S Bennett, Trevitt--Hugh Glenn.

Bigelow--J B Condon.

Columbia, Des Chutes and 8-Mile--John Havelly.

Nansene, Dufur and Bake Oven--A J Dufur, jr.

Tygh, Oak Grove and Antelope--L A Porter.

Wamic and Kingsley--H F Woodcock.

The following-named were elected and compose the central committee: S. B. Adams, chairman, Wm. Shelley, H. M. Derthick, Amos Root, W. R. Cantrell, B. F. Swift, E. C. Fitzpatrick, D. R. Cooper, M. V. Harrison, V. Winchel, A. M. Barrett, H. E. Morse. Five precincts unreported.

Two resolutions were passed. The first is as follows:

Resolved, That this convention approve and indorse the administration of Grover Cleveland in all his actions up to the time-being, and hope that he will continue to carry out the pledges made at the Chicago convention and in spirit of the platform made, upon which he was elected.

This resolution came from the committee, E. Schutz chairman. The second came from Mr. J. L. Story, and was supported by a speech in which he referred to the present financial stringency and said the people needed the help indicated or many would lose their homes. He said that nearly all the counties in the state had taken similar action. Following is the resolution:

WHEREAS, During the past two years the business community, and especially the farmers, have suffered greatly from loss of crops, and many are almost destitute, and

WHEREAS, The present hard times and money stringency has rendered it almost impossible for many to raise money on any security they have, and

WHEREAS, The enforcement of the collection of taxes at the present time is equivalent to selling many poor people out of a home and rendering them destitute. Therefore be it

Resolved, By this convention, that it is the sense of this convention that the time for the collection of taxes in this county ought to be extended until the first day of July, 1894, and we would respectfully ask the county court of Wasco county, Oregon, to so extend said time and give the people a chance to have the advantage of the wool, fruit and other crops.

The woman who works, and is tired, will find a special help in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Perfectly harmless in any condition of the female system. It promotes all the natural functions, and builds up, strengthens, regulates and cures. For every woman approaching confinement, nursing mothers, and every weak, run-down, delicate woman, it is an invigorating, supporting tonic that's peculiarly adapted to their needs.

But it's more than that, too. It's the only guaranteed remedy for all the functional disturbances, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of womanhood. In "female complaints" of every kind, periodical pains, bearing-down sensations, internal inflammation, and kindred ailments, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

THE FRUIT GROWERS.

A Most Entertaining Program Furnished Last Evening.

Address of Welcome and Response--A Refined Paper by Mrs. Brooks and a Practical One by Mr. Dosch.

The court house was filled last evening by citizens to greet the thirty-fifth quarterly session of the Oregon State Horticultural Society at The Dalles.

The session was opened by a brilliant orchestral selection by The Dalles string band. This company of musicians plays superbly, and will rank high among the orchestras of the West. Our Portland visitors expressed themselves as delighted with the several selections given last evening, and as surprised as delighted.

Dr. Cardwell of Portland, president of the society and Hon. John Michell of The Dalles were escorted to the rostrum by Mr. E. C. Sanders, introducing Mr. Michell, who gave the address of welcome in place of Mayor Krefz, who was unavoidably absent. The address was a kind welcome from the city, and an appreciative expression of the good work done by the horticultural society throughout the state. The address was also replete with a mention of our soil, climate, and productiveness, and pardonable local pride because of these characteristics.

In answer, Dr. Cardwell said he felt highly complimented by the expression of welcome and good wishes and the presence of so many citizens at the meeting. He said the fact that we had a generous soil was sufficiently advertised at the great world's fair, and the successes of Oregon so gained were due in great part to the efforts of our own townsmen, Mr. Emile Schanno, who deserved honorable mention for indefatigable and painstaking work. Our fruits were the wonder and admiration of all beholders, and Oregon took eighteen prizes and medals. In the rivalry of the states as to which could produce the largest perfect apple, Oregon captured the honor. He closed with sincere thanks for all said and done to make the meeting a success.

Mrs. A. P. Brooks read an essay, having for its subject, "Make the best of your surroundings." She used as a text the Latin phrase "Non cuius homini contingit adire Corinthum," supplemented by "Dum vivamus vivamus," or reduced to English "It is not the fortune of everyone to go to Corinth," and "While we live let us live." In support of her text the lady argued that if we make the most of ourselves, our own home is elevated, and in that way our neighbors, until like the morsel of leaven the whole is leavened. She spoke of the tendency of our home people to send away for things which should be purchased at home, and to slight home manufacturers in favor of foreign made wares. In like manner by sending children away for an education our home institutions languish. Leaving this practical subject she spoke of the industry of the beautiful, which did not need to be the work of one of the world's masters, but that the humblest flower, penciled with God's own hand, conveyed a lesson, and "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." Of the influence of flowers to noble mankind and to make human nature gentler and sweeter, the lady gave ample demonstration. She closed with a reference to our own wild flowers, "which woo us with their beauty to love them, and the poor little children may gather them in clusters, and their golden or crimson hues shine just as brightly, or in their whiteness teach lessons of purity full as well as though they were inmates of the conservatory."

Everywhere about us they are glowing. Some, like stars, tell us that spring is born. Others, their blue eyes with tears o'erflowing stand like Ruth amid the golden corn. After another beautiful selection by the String Band, Mr. Henry E. Dosch, of Hillsdale, read a paper on the subject of "The Nicaragua Canal and Its Probable Benefit to the Oregon Fruit Grower." As representative of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, he attended the Nicaragua canal convention at New Orleans in 1892. In this capacity he had two objects in view--one to present in its true light our varied resources, the other to learn what possible benefit it would be to our people. As producers of raw material the Pacific coast possesses unquestionably the most varied, richest and most abundant supply offered by any other geographical area of equal extent. Besides metals, cereals and fruits, we have millions of acres of forests, and those of the East are dangerously denuded. With cheap transportation we may flood the East with all these products, besides delicious, pure and cheap wines. What we want is a short cut waterway connection. This is the completion of the Nicaragua canal, the missing link, this natural maritime highway. Our products in the order of their importance are wheat, lumber, fruit, and comprehensively fish, wool, cattle, hides and rich minerals. To ship a carload of wheat from Portland to New Orleans costs at present 45 cents a bushel. By the Nicaragua canal it would not cost more than 12 to 15 cents a bushel. Railroad freight on 1,000 cases of salmon to New York is $700; complete the canal and the rate for a like amount would be $200. A like benefit was detailed by the speaker on evaporated prunes and other products. He spoke of how it would benefit the small grower and bring fifty buyers to our doors where there is now one. "Every man, woman and child," said Mr. Dosch, "is directly or indirectly interested in the completion of this canal and we should never cease talking it until it becomes an established fact. Our representatives in congress should be urged to give it their untiring support." He impressed the audience with the nonsense of the claim that there can ever be an overproduction; and concluded with statements of the necessity for this canal project by such prominent Americans as Gen. Grant, Presidents Harrison, Cleveland, Hayes and Senator Morgan.

The paper of R. D. Allen was postponed until this evening. The table in front of the speaker's stand was occupied with a collection of choice apples, donated by Messrs. Baker and Southworth, also by two models of fruit dryers, Mr. Chrisman's being accompanied by a display of the dried product after leaving his dryer.

WEDNESDAY.

The various visiting members of the society were driven in carriages this morning to the fruit farms of 3-Mile and Mill creek and practical instruction given in grafting and other subjects. At the afternoon session, Mr. S. A. Clarke, of the committee attending the Spokane convention, spoke as follows:
