APRIL ANNOTATIONS.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

When calling up THE CHRONICLE ask for No. 1.

Mr. Wm. Farre of Dayville brought in the first load of wool of the season this morning.

The Congregational church and parish will hold their annual meeting in their vestry this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock.

The report that the John Day bridge has been washed out by high water is erroneous. The bridge is in good condition for the traveling public.

There was quite a frost and freeze in the country this morning. Ice formed an eighth of an inch thick. In some places the temperature reached twenty-eight degrees.

Patrons of the telephone when speaking should get very close to the transmitter. The difficulty of hearing increases as the voice is farther than one inch from the tube.

The McKinley Republican club of this city intend to give an interesting rally next Saturday evening. The boys are alive and hurrah for the state ticket and McKinley for the next president in good style.

Mrs. H. D. Harford, state lecturer for the W. C. T. U., will lecture in the court house on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Harford is the nominee of the prohibition party for state school superintendent and will have something to say about that office.

Senator Voorhees has kindly mailed us a public document containing an extended comparison of the tariff and customs act of 1890 with bill No. 4864, reported from the finance committee March 20th, 1894. The McKinley and Wilson bills are compared section by section and side by side.

The drama "Bread on the Waters" will be given by members of Harmon Juvenile Temple, No. 4, next Friday night. Great pains have been taken to make the play a success. Admission 25 cents, reserved seats 50 cents, children under 12 years 10 cents. Further notice will be given as to where the play will be given.

Mrs. Helen Harford, a state temperance worker and organizer, will lecture at the free reading room on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is hoped all friends of temperance and lovers of good order will accept the invitation of the local W. C. T. U. and come out.

Mr. Johns' Geese.

Mr. Frank Johns who died a few days ago, had a band of wild geese, which he had tamed and which were very fond of him. While he was suffering from his last illness, the geese seemed to know there was something seriously the matter with their master.
They were excluded from the room and one of them named Mary made such a constant and mournful noise that it was finally admitted. The geese jumped on the bed and began billing among his whiskers, and laying its neck along side of its master's with as great a show of affection as it was capable of. When Mr. Johns died it seemed the fowls were inconsolable. They jumped on the coffin, looking in all directions, but realizing he was inside, and apparently talking to each other about it, for they made a great deal of noise. After he was borne from the house they kept up their vigil, walking solemnly around where the coffin reposed, and still making those odd sounds which seemed like they were conversing with each other.
There is no doubt they were grief-stricken over Mr. Johns' death, though they may not have known that he was forever removed from the things of earth.
At any rate the event shows that geese are not the foolish animals they are popularly supposed to be, and that they have the faculties of memory and affection, along with the dog and the horse.

The Steer Case.

At the trial before the city council Saturday, or rather investigation, the evidence, with the exception of one witness, Mr. Myers, tended to show that the steer which was killed was vicious, obstinate and dangerous, and liable to kill somebody if not killed or firmly secured. It was shown that the second steer was taken three miles away from town and brought to the pound; the marshal advertised its sale by posting notices and at the end of five days sold it for a fraction over $13, the most of it going to pay impounding fees. Mr.
Harmon, the owner, was represented by H. H. Riddell, who demanded only the value of the two steers. The council was unable to decide the merits of the case, and a motion prevailed that the judiciary committee confer with competent counsel and report at next meeting.

Sheriff Sales.

Three sales were made by the sheriff today, as follows:
American Mortgage Co., vs. Geo. F.
Arnold; 120 acres of land on Chenoweth creek, $105, Robt. Livingstone purchaser.
Simon Mason vs. F. A. Douglass, property in Wamie, sold to Simon Mason.
Louis Klinger vs. A. Mowery, et al., 160 acres near Boyd, sold to Louis Klinger.

MITCHELL.

Weather extra fine—neither very warm nor so very cold.

Sheepmen find the weather highly favorable to their increasing flocks.

E. B. Allen has moved so near town you might give him the appellation, a suburban resident.

Gardening is being rapidly done, and as each tiny seed is tucked under its soil cover we smack our lips for what may be.

As usual we of this side were intelligently represented at the convention held in Prineville last week. A great deal of credit is due to our delegates.

Mrs. T. W. Gage, Mrs. Eugene Loony, and Mrs. Kemp Berry, who have been so seriously ill for the past three weeks and a month, we are pleased to say are improving. Their attendant physicians pronounce them out of danger.

A few timely hints addressed to the business portion of The Dalles if that locality wishes to handle the wool from this part of the country: S. F. Allen reports the road through the Curran creek and Cold Camp country entirely impassable for wool teams and unless some improvements are made, Arlington must from necessity, handle the wool from this and John Day country. That place will get the trade or a good portion of it.

Died, at the residence of Mr. Mansfield, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Butterfield. Mr. and Mrs. Butterfield had moved from Prineville about the 1st of April with their infant son, aged five months. On arriving at Mr. Mansfield's they stopped over night, or perhaps a day or two. On retiring at night the child seemed as well as usual and taking its nourishment with as much relish and in the usual quantity, but when the mother awoke at 2 o'clock in the morning her baby had gone, perhaps hours before and there was no hope of reviving the frown spirit. Weep not for those who are gone. Tender hands are ready to receive them.

Republican Speaking.

FAIRFIELD, Or., April 16, '94.

Editor of THE CHRONICLE:

There will be a political speech at Fairfield, March 28, 1894, under the management of the republican club.
All are cordially invited.

H. W. GILPIN, Secretary.

Notice.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to notify all persons not to trust or harbor my wife, Emily E. Pratt as she has left my bed and board without cause or provocation. I will pay no debt of her contracting after this date.
April 14th, 1894.

He Gave It Up.

The Boston Transcript tells how a teamster kept beating one of his horses unmercifully, and how the animal still refused to go forward. Unable to endure the sight of the lashes upon the horse, the lady of a neighboring house rushed out. "Oh, is there any need of whipping him so—is there any use in it?" she implored, timidly, patting the stubborn animal's head.
The teamster dropped his lash. "No use at all, ma'am," he said, in a tone of resigned despair. "I've licked him till I'm tired out, and it ain't a bit of use."

Good Templars.

The Dalles Lodge No. 2, I. O. G. T., gave their quarterly entertainment at the K. of P. Hall, Saturday April 14. It was well attended by members and friends of the order. The members of the Ladies Relief Corps attended in a body.
An excellent literary and musical programme was rendered by members and friends of the order; those worthy of mention being the solos by Miss Clara Moore, Hattie Oram and Mrs. A. Varney, and the "Mock Sermon," by R. L. Mc-Intosh. The members of the lodge extended their thanks to these friends for their assistance. Refreshments were then served, which consisted of sandwiches, coffee and cake, after which the rest of the evening was given up to other amusements and a good social time.
Our lodge now numbers about sixty members and is steadily increasing.

KNOW SOMETHING.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. A. H. Jewett of White Salmon is in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. John Horton went down on the Regulator this morning for a short visit in Portland.

Mr. G. D. Snowden returned Saturday night from a short visit in Portland. He was accompanied by his brother of Tacoma, who will visit in the city a few days.

Mrs. I. J. Norman leaves on the midnight passenger train for her old home in Aurora, Mo., where she will visit her relatives and friends. She will be absent about two months.

History of a Great Diamond.

The imperial treasury of Austria contains the Florentine diamond, one of the finest of the world, noted for its luster and brilliancy. It is said to be worth four hundred and fifty thousand dollars and has a romantic history. It once belonged to Charles the Bold, duke of Burgundy, who was rather careless in guarding his treasures. He went to battle one day with this diamond in his pocket, and the result was that he lost it. The diamond lay on the road and a Swiss soldier picked it up, and, looking upon it as a piece of glass, threw it down again, but as it fell the sun's rays caught it, and the soldier thinking it a pretty trinket, concluded to carry it along. Shortly after this he showed it to a priest.
The priest admired it and gave him two shillings for it. The priest sold it to a jeweler for two and sixpence, and a rich merchant paid the jeweler twenty-five hundred dollars for it. The merchant sold it to an Italian duke for one thousand dollars advance of his price, and the duke sold it to one of the popes, who paid sixty thousand dollars. After a number of other adventures it came into the possession of a grand duke, who married Empress Maria Theresa, of Austria, and through her it came to the imperial treasury.

Canine Protectors.

In an exhibition of trained wild animals now open in New York a number of large and very intelligent dogs are always introduced into the cage with the other beasts. This is said to be for the protection of the trainers, the quick instinct of the dogs enabling them to discover instantly any indication of a dangerous temper in the lions or tigers. If there were a likelihood of the men being attacked the dogs would rush upon the wild creatures and thus give sufficient warning to the trainers to retire. It is an exhibition in which the men in charge run a very serious risk.
