AN EXPENSIVE LIGHT.

What It Cost an Inevitable Smoker to Ignite His Cigar.

Inevitable smokers acknowledge that the habit is a most expensive one, but it is seldom that a light for a cigar costs a smoker a fortune, as in the story told by the author of "Glances Back Through Seventy Years." He was an inveterate smoker, having contracted "a diseased habit of puffing away at a cigar every moment he was not eating or sleeping." He smoked only the very best brands, and in those careless days spent, as he says, more for cigars than it afterward cost him to live.

"Well, one afternoon a day or two before 'Palmer's Life' was published, I had been to a prize cattle show at Chelmsford, and then to dinner with the Royal Agricultural Society; and on arriving in town by the last train, as I was walking homeward, my cigar unfortunately went out and, much to my annoyance, I discovered I had no fuses about me. The streets, too, were deserted, so there was nobody from whom a light could be obtained.

"On descending Ludgate hill I noticed that the glass of the gas lamp perched high against the wall just within Belle Sauvage yard was broken.
There being a slanting ledge at the lower part of this wall I placed my foot on it and, springing up, succeeded in lighting a paper spill which I had im-provvised, but in my rapid descent one of my feet unluckily caught the edge of the curb and I dislocated my ankle and broke the small bone of my leg.

"Quick as thought I wrenched the ankle into its place again, but it was not so easy to unite two pieces of fractured bone, so I hopped to a neighboring post and there awaited the protecting peeler's periodic round.

"He came at last and charitably put me into a cab, and accompanied me home. I was carried upstairs, a surgeon was sent for and the broken limb was set. Then I was put to bed and told I should have to remain there a month or more.

"It was while I was fretting under this involuntary confinement that my partner in 'Palmer's Life' paid me a sympathetic visit and bought me out of the speculation for a mere song, without of course saying a word to me of the phenomenal success our joint venture had already met with.

"Owing to this circumstance I have always reckoned that the going out of my cigar cost me about fifteen hundred pounds, which actuaries tell me would, with compound interest added, have amounted to some six thousand pounds at this date. A sum sufficient, I fancy, to buy up all the 'partagas imperiales superfinos' in the world."

How Navajos Produce Dyes.

The Navajos produce the brilliant red of their blankets from bayeta, a bright scarlet cloth made in eastern cities and raveled by the Indians for the yarn. Their gray is the natural color of some of their sheep; so are their white and black. They produce a deep yellow from the alder boiled in water and afterward mixed with impure native alum. A dull red is produced from alder bark. Black is also obtained from the aromatic sumac, yellow ochre and the gum of a species of pine. The last dye is essentially an ink. Most of these dyes are produced by elaborate and laborious processes, but the Navajos also use dyed wools made in eastern mills.

Every tree has "reserve buds," which develop at the point where a limb has been cut off.

The orange grows wild all over tropical Asia, and is everywhere regarded as indigenous.

A Lender.

Since its first introduction, electric bitters has gained rapidly in popular favor, until now it is clearly in the lead among pure medicinal tonics and alteratives—containing nothing which permits its use as a beverage or intoxicant, it is recognized as the best and purest medicine for all ailments of stomach, liver or kidneys. It will cure sick headache, indigestion, constipation and drive malaria from the system. Satisfaction guaranteed with each bottle or the money will be refunded. Price only 50c. per bottle. Sold by Snipes & Kinnersly.

PLANT CURIOSITIES.

The hop grows wild in Europe from Norway to Italy.
The "four o'clocks" open regularly at four, rain or shine.
The roots of a tree are often as extensive as its branches.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth Co., Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Fort Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says a neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me, he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakely & Houghton,

MEXICAN HANDICRAFT.

Wonderful Skill in Fashioning Gems Into Curious Shapes.

It is recorded of the Mexican lapidary to whom was entrusted the fashioning of the exquisite wedding-gift of Cortez to his wife in 1520 that he was a workman "unusually gifted with a delicate sure touch, wonderful skill and unparalleled ingenuity."

The first of the five famous emeralds forming the ring was in the form of a rose; the second, that of a horn; the third was like unto a fish with eyes of gold; the fourth was like a little bell, with a fine pearl for the tongue. On the rim of this tiny bell was inscribed, in Latin: "Blessed is he who created thee." The fifth emerald, the one of greatest value, was fashioned like a little cup, with a foot of gold, and four delicate gold chains were attached to a large pearl as a button. The edge of this cup was of gold, on which was engraved, in Latin: "Internatus mulierum non surrexit major"—Among those born of woman none greater has arisen.

It is recorded that for just one of these precious gems the almost fabulous sum of forty thousand ducats was offered, and declined by Cortez.

The sole relic (that can be identified) now in existence of the incredible wealth of ancient Mexico is a gold goblet with the sides rudely repousse, with the representation of a human head, upon one side in full face, on the other in profile, and on the third the back. This wonderful piece of ancient handicraft seems to be of pure gold.
It was brought from Mexico and purchased at Cadiz by Edward Earl of Oxford.

It is stated that it was once the property of Montezuma.

This goblet stands four and a half inches in height; its diameter of lip measures three and a quarter inches.
Its weight is said to be a little over five ounces.

Two of Queen Victoria's Fads.

Queen Victoria's conservative fondness for the things she is used to is shown in the fact that the little ivory paper knife with which to this day she cuts the pages of her new books was in her possession when she was a little princess. The cabins of the royal yacht are still brightened with the same old-fashioned rosebud chintz which her dead husband liked. The queen has a particular love for fresh air and sits in rooms so cold that no American woman could endure them.
A fortnight ago she had her summer garden tent taken out of its winter quarters and sat in it in the garden for two hours or more for several consecutive days, signing official documents.

Beware of Treatments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J.
Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

esteem in which that remedy is held

CHINESE PUNISHMENTS.

A Horrible Phase of Justice Among the Mongolians.

In December, 1891, I was in Canton.
One afternoon I visited the principal law court. Two prisoners in chains were introduced—one an old man, too infirm to walk, the other a youth, tolerably vigorous, but abject and forlorn in demeanor. The presiding mandarin appeared, sat down and sipped his tea, while an official pattered out a long oration, presumably an indictment, for the prisoners proceeded, as I understood, to plead "not guilty." What followed, says a writer in the Spectator, was this: The old man was held up—not held down—while two stolid Chinamen flogged him with long, pliant canes above the knees. The youth was divested of his chains, which were then piled up in front of him. Upon these he was compelled to kneel, while his feet, hands and pig-tail were all attached by a cord to a post behind him and tightly secured.

The cries of the victims and the complete composure of the spectators were alike disgusting. I said as much to my guide, whom I generally regarded as an amiable being. His reply was:
"This very interesting. I never seen this before," though I have no doubt he had. The explanation of the dreadful scene—excuse there could be none—was that, by the law of China, no man can be executed until he has confessed his guilt. These two individuals had been convicted beyond doubt of heinous crimes, but they refused to confess.
The alternative before them was execution or death by torture, and apparently they preferred the latter. The ceremony I witnessed was to be repeated de die in diem until either life or resolution gave way. How the end came, of course, I never knew.
