THE ELECTIONS AND THE CAUSE.

The landslide continues. Astonishing as were the democratic defeats in the state elections of last fall, they are thrown into the shade by the results of local elections this spring. It is needless to recapitulate details which have been told in many columns of telegraphic reports during the past months, and have been obstinately brushed aside by democratic bourbons with the pretence that "mere local elections" mean nothing. No reader who is not wilfully blind can have failed to see that these elections show heavier majorities against the democratic party than were disclosed last fall. The reaction not only continues without abatement, but since November there has been a material increase in the number of former democrats who, for one reason or another, have turned against their party, swelled republican majorities, and in many strongholds brought about republican victories for the first time in off. many years.

It is foolish to say that this is merely the fruit of unthinking dissatisfaction because times are bad. The alleged cause does not fit the facts. Times are undeniably less bad than they were last November. But the dissatisfaction has plainly and greatly increased. The improvement in business has not been great, but there has been enough of it to give work to many thousand persons who sought it in vain last year. A mere unthinking displeasure, based only on conditions without regard to causes, would have abated. But the displeasure manifested at the ballot-box has materially increased. Neither can this accumulating avalanche of displeasure be attributed to misconduct of democratic local governments, though reaction against the rings and their crimes has swelled republican majorities in many places. The landslide appears as well where there have been no rings to rob the people and no election crimes to rebuke.

After the tremendous defeat of last November the half-dazed advocates of free trade explained that the people were only disgusted because silver repeal would have come and continued victories for tariff reform, they labored to believe, if congress had only done in August what it did in October. Neither publicly nor in the privacy of their own chambers have they now the impudence to attribute the swelling displeasure of POTTED PLANTS, ROSES, &c. the people to a pretended cause which passed away five months ago. Among the dangerous tendencies of the Pansy Plants and Forget-Me-Nots, democratic party which the people undoubtedly do perceive and resent is the desire to please the ignorant and thriftless by debauching the currency, and as this tendency not only delayed repeal, but has since caused three-quarters of the democrats in congress to vote for the Vacuum bill, sound business men may well refuse on that account to trust such a party any longer. But the most striking characteristic of the great reaction is that it comes, not from the comparatively small number of men engaged in trade and finance, but from the workingmen and the farmers, who are the millions.

fruits-when it comes. The democratic theorists have been amazingly mistaken thus far as to all the consequences. Even they will eventually see that the closing of mills and mines by the thousand, and the reduction of a fifth in the wages of labor, will not permit a prosperity comparable to that of 1892. It is a question for the people, and they will answer it .- New York Tribune.

Even the smallest states are heavy borrowers, Belgium having added almost as much to her obligations as Spain, while the Roumanian debt has been augmented to the extent of 701,-000,000, and that of Greece to the extent of 270,000,000.

MEPHISTOPHELES IN CANADA. Odd Superstitions of the Peasantry About His Manners and Customs. In the legendary lore of Canada the devil plays a prominent part. He does not appear as the strong angel, who fell through pride, the enemy of God, but as the medieval devil of monk-ish legend, the petty persecutor of man, says a writer in Popular Science Monthly. In the rural districts of Canada Satan is supposed to be very active. His company may be looked for on all occasions. The accidental appearance of a little child in the room often betrays the presence of the evil spirit, as the poor innocent is sure to bewail itself vigorously. The Prince of Darkness may be met at a ball in the guise of a handsome young man who excels all the rustic gallants in appearance. He wears gloves to conceal his claws, and disregards the trammels of conventionality by keeping his hat on his head to hide his horns. He selects the prettiest girl in the room as his partner, but his choice is usually the village coquette, whose ceal his claws, and disregards the usually the village coquette, whose wanity or levity has exposed her to the evil influence. In the midst of the gayety a piercing cry is heard. A strong odor of brimstone becomes perceptible, and the attractive cavalier is wafted out of the window, carrying with him some useful domestic utensil, as, for instance, a stove or the frying pan. The girl may escape with a sharp scratch of a claw, particularly if she should happen to have a cross or a crueifix.

Canadian rustics never answer "Entrez" when a knock is heard at the vanity or levity has exposed her to the

THEDALLES

Wasco County, - - - Oregon, The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future. The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon. Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
