THE STATE TICKET.

The republicans of the state have good reason to feel elated this year, for it is a certainty that victory is theirs. With the widespread dissatisfaction as to the nation's finances and the democratic party's mismanagement and incapability, dissatisfaction as to a president not only not in sympathy with the people, but his own party as well, it only remained for the republicans to nominate a good, clean ticket to march forth to a victory which will sound forth to the country as the trumpets before Ninevah. That has been done. The state ticket is composed of men whose private life is blameless, who have become distinguished throughout the state for valuable services heretofore rendered, who are honorable, trustworthy and efficient. W. F. Lord has a long and useful record as a soldier, jurist and statesman; Harrison Kincaid, for secretary of state, is well known as an editor and writer; R. E. Wolverton, for supreme judge, is a man of spotless character, great fairness and unquestioned MRS. C. L. PHILLIPS ability; C. M. Idleman, for attorneygeneral, though a young man, is fast rising to the heights of his profession, and his nomination is a fitting recognition of the worth of the young men of the party; for state treasurer nothing need be said of Phil Metschan, he will poll a larger vote than ever; G. M. Irwin, for superintendent of public instruction, is a veteran educator, and a republican and patriot of the old school; W. H. Leeds, for state printer, is thoroughly competent to fill that position, and the fact that he has managed his own business so successfully insures an economical and capable officer for the state. The candidates are about evenly divided, as to localities. The ticket cannot breed an iota of dissatisfaction among the republicans of the state, who should vote the ticket this year as one man.

The democratic party were put in control of the national government by the votes of a majority of the citizens in rating tariff reform. It was the first time the party, which believes in a re duction of the tariff and a tariff for revenue only, had been in entire centrol of the senate and and house of representatives with a member of the party in the presidential chair for over twentyfive years, and yet what has the party done? Nothing, absolutely nothing exeept talk. The promised action for which the democratic party has been put in power to bring about has not been carried out, nor is there a prospect that it will be carried out. It begins to look as though the democrats intended to let the McKinley bill stand un-good prospect of deteat.

It takes quite a blink to accompany the gulp of the democrats in ratifying Cleveland's nomination of a negro for register of deeds in the District of Columbia.

Democrats in congress have finally recognized the value of czarism as a stimulus to rushing through business. Absenteeism of democratic representatives in congress has done more than republican triumph at the polls to endanger democratic supremacy.

Cleveland is a presidential possibility for the populists in 1896. Anyone who renounces the old parties or is removed by them is eagerly picked up by the third party and trained into service. At any rate that is the only way Cleveland, Pennoyer, Waite, et al, can ever get the nomination for anything again.

A CAMEL IN GRANITE.

One to Be Found in Arizona That Is a Perfect Likeness.

One of the most curious rock forms tions in the world is to be seen in Arizona. It is a short distance east of the stage road between Tucson and Oracle, and stands on a knoll several feet above the surrounding sandhills. When first seen the effect is startling, and the mind has to get over a shock before the peculiar object can be comof one piece of granite.

This curiosity, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch, is of colossal size, but perfeetly proportioned. It is about sixty feet high and very wide and smooth There are very few fissures on the surface, and they, strangely, are in the proper places to form features. The only real projection from the surface is exactly placed for an eyebrow. The two humps are plainly to be seen, and the neck is curved beautifully. The rock is really a solid piece rising from the ground, but the effect of legs is produced by a clump of dark-colored brush that grows beside the stone. The white stone shows plainly on both sides of the brush, and the effect of the legs is unmistakably produced. The strangest part of it is that it looks like a camel from all sides and at all times of the day or night. There is no disguising the resemblance.
