The Miners' Strike General Throughout the Country.

HUNDRED AND TWENTY THOUSAND

An Earthquake in Greece Destroys
Whole Cities and Causes Great Loss of Life.

CHICAGO, April 31.—A summary of the coalminers' strike tonight shows that the officers of the Mine Workers' Association did not go far amiss in their calculation as to the number of men who would obey the order to go out on strike. From reports received up to midnight it is safe to say that over 120,000 are out, and the probabilities are that all those who are not will be added during the next week, when those who were lukewarm today are advised of the general walkout. The miners of Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, West Virginia and a part of Indiana, struck work to a man, but those of Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Colorado are still holding back. The leaders of the strike are very sanguine of victory, notwithstanding the claims of the operators that they have enough coal to last until the workmen are starved into again taking up pick and shovels.

EARTHQUAKE IN GREECE.

The Shocks Continued Until Noon Sunday.

ATHENS, April 22.—The earthquake shocks that began at about 7:30 o'clock Friday evening continued with more or less frequency until noon today. All last night the oscillation of the earth was noticeable and the people of this city were in a state of semi-panic.

The villages of Atlanta, Larymin, Prokina, Malesinza, Mazi, Pella and Martino are in ruins. Serious damage has been done at Chalis, and several villages on the island of Euboa. At Thebes 500 houses fell. The city is in a state of panic and destitution. The terrified people rushed in crowds away from Thebes, believing that the end of the world had come. The government has sent a warship to Thebes with 500 tents, a large number of surgeons, a detachment of engineers and supplies of food. In three villages, Malesina, Prokina and Martino, all in the province of Locris, 129 persons were killed. The mayor of Larymini telegraphs that a heavy shock occurred at Prokina while vesper services were being held in the parish church. The walls of the church fell, burying all the worshippers in the ruins. Scarcely a person in the church escaped without injury. Thirty were taken out dead. Houses were thrown down in other parts of the village and the money loss is great, some of the villages being practically ruined. At Malcoina houses tottered and fell, as though built of cardboard. In this little village 60 persons were killed. In some cases entire families—fathers, mothers and children—were taken from the ruins dead. At Martino 39 persons were killed. Here, as at Prokina, the parish church was the scene of a great number of fatalities. In the vicinity of Athens the fatalities were less numerous, but the property damage is great.

THE TOTAL DEAD.

The total number of deaths thus far reported is 160, but there is scarcely any question that this number will be augmented when the more remote villages are heard from. As this dispatch was being sent from Athens, a sharp shock was felt that for a time caused consternation in the telegraph office.

Dolph's Bill Defeated.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Dolph tried to have called up in the senate his bill to reimburse settlers $1.25 per acre on lands within the forfeited railroad grants. His motion was defeated 25 to 19, a party vote. All the republicans voted for it, and all the democrats and Peffer against it. This means the defeat of the bill for this session, for the democrats and populists are opposed to the payment of any money to these settlers and placing them on an equality with other settlers.

Gold Reserve Decreasing.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—The net gold in the treasury at the close of business today was $103,673, 528, and the cash balance $131,348,741. Information received at the treasury indicates there will be another heavy payment of gold next Saturday, which possibly may reach last week's shipment of $4,200,000. It is expected, however, that no more than half of the amount will be taken from the subtreasuries, the banks furnishing the rest. Nevertheless, the gold supply in the treasury is decreasing week by week until it has reached a point where the $100,000,000 reserve is liable any day to be again encroached upon.

CONSPIRED AGAINST MGR. SATOLLI.

Bishop Corrigan to Be Arraigned at Rome on Most Serious Charges.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The Herald says: The trouble which began in this diocese of the Roman Catholic church several years ago and which originated with the Rev. McGlynn's disobedience, not yet ended. It is revived in a new and more startling form. In fact, the Herald has been informed that the Most Very Rev. Bishop Corrigan is to be arraigned in Rome on most serious charges. The substance of the charge is conspiracy to destroy the influence of Mgr. Satolli, the apostolic delegate. Mgr. Satolli has for some time past been working quietly but steadily to obtain the evidence against the head of the diocese.

Conspiracy in Brazil's Revolt.

NEW YORK, April 21.—A Herald's Rio special says the government has not notified the diplomatic corps that the republic is at peace. The action of congress on the question of the state of siege is awaited with anxiety. Some of Da Gama's personal papers recently captured were found to contain documents showing the complicity of British and Portuguese officials with him to restore monarchy and expressing full sympathy with the rebel cause. The government organs openly charge the two governments with aiding the revolt.

KEEPS HIS POLITICS A SECRET.

The Prince of Wales Treats All Classes with the Same Tact.

Of all tactful royal personages there is no one that shines more brilliantly in this particular than the prince of Wales, whose unquestioned power and predominant influence in English society and over English life are entirely owing to the delicate tact with which they are exercised. How exquisite is this tact may be gathered, says a writer in the New York Tribune, from the circumstances that although the prince is approaching his sixtieth year and has been the most conspicuous public figure in English life for the past four decades—always in full glare of the prying gaze of the people, and without scarcely a day's privacy—yet up to the present moment no one, not even among his dearest friends, possesses any inkling as to the true character of his political sympathies. He is equally courteous and gracious to Lord Salisbury and to Mr. Gladstone. He has both tory and liberal statesmen to stay with him in the country at Sandringham; he has even shown marked civility to Irish home rulers, so much so, indeed that, there are some people on both sides of the Atlantic who fondly imagine that the prince is almost a Fenian. No one, however, knows anything on the subject "for sure;" and hence, when the prince comes to the throne, he may be expected to figure as a model of all constitutional monarchs, holding an impartial balance between the two great political parties, and being absolutely free from any suspicion of inclining more to the one than to the other. And were the prince to die before succeeding to the throne he will be remembered both in England and on the continent as the man of the present era who was distinguished among all his contemporaries for possessing in the highest degree that most indispensable of all virtues, namely, tact.

SHOT AND ROBBED.

The Boldest Crime Ever Committed in Portland.

Charles B. Malarkey, an assistant in the office of his father, Charles Malarkey, county treasurer, was shot down Saturday afternoon in Portland by a murderous assailant, the vault robbed of all its valuable contents, and two hours before the atrocious crime was discovered, the thief and would-be murderer escaped.

The time of the shooting was about 1:30 p. m. after the young man had come from dinner. A stranger came in while he was alone in the office and asked to have a $20 gold piece changed. Malarkey went to the vault, opened it, got $15 in gold and $5 in silver, and had turned around to walk back to the counter, when he was surprised to see the man inside the railing, close behind him, and he was ordered to throw up his hands. The boy tried to rush past the robber when he was shot. The bullet entered his right breast above the nipple and ranged outside of the ribs to the front of the shoulder blade.

It was nearly two hours after the shot before the deed was discovered. No one entered the treasurer's office until about 3:10 o'clock when the boy's father arrived, and not knowing anything about the tragedy, almost stumbled over the body of his son. The young man lay on his back in front of the vault, his feet toward the open doors. His father thought that he had fainted, and hastily kneeling by his side said:

"What is the matter, my son?"

"I'm shot, papa," was the reply.

Scarcely believing what he heard, Mr. Malarkey said, "Oh, I guess not—but who shot you?"

"I don't know who he was," said Charley, "but he robbed the vault."

Meantime Mr. Malarkey had opened the young man's coat, and found his clothing saturated with blood. He shouted for assistance, and in a very short time the whole building was in an uproar of excitement. Surgeons were sent for, and the wounded youth was removed to his father's residence.

Charley briefly related to his father the facts of the case, and gave him a description of the robber. Mr. Malarkey made a hasty examination of the vault, and almost at a glance could see that all of the cash tills had been emptied, but none of the checks or valuable papers had been removed. The robber evidently knew his business, for he carefully avoided taking anything that might lead to his identity.

The amount stolen is not exactly known, but is somewhere between $1,000 and $2,000. The wound is not thought to be fatal.

It covers a good deal of ground—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And when you hear that it cures so many diseases, perhaps you think "its too good to be true."

But its only reasonable. As a blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength restorer, nothing like "Discovery" is known to medical science. The diseases that it cures come from a torpid liver, or from impure blood. For everything of this nature, it is the only guaranteed remedy. In dyspepsia, biliousness; all bronchial, throat and lung affections; every form of scrofula, even consumption (or lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages, and in the most stubborn skin and scalp diseases—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

NEWS NOTES.

The railroad companies refuse to transport General Kelley's industrial army out of Omaha. He has 1,000 men.

Representatives Hermann and Ellis will not go to Oregon to take part in the campaign, neither will Senators Dolph and Mitchell. In the house the river and harbor bill may come up any time, needing the representatives' attention, and the tariff in the senate will hold the senators in Washington.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Los Angeles, bound north from Newport, Cal., and way ports to San Francisco, ran on the rocks at Point Sur lighthouse, 30 miles south of Monterey, between 9 and 10 Saturday night. The passengers and crew took to the boats, and the steamer sank within a few minutes. So far as known four lives were lost. The captain, who had retired, had given orders to the third mate to call him when a certain number of revolutions of the wheel had been noted. The mate failed to do so, and the steamer went upon the rocks at 9:15, and in 10 minutes she sank.

Idolotrous Arizonans.

There is a small tribe of Indians in southern Arizona who are idolotrous. They are in reality sun worshippers, but make small images out of clay with faces supposed to represent the sun, although bearing little if any resemblance to it. They do not associate with other tribes, and are very rarely seen by white men. The idols have large round bodies and heads, with eyes and mouth and ears, beams radiating from the eyes over the face. The Indians have these in their rude houses or wigwams, and at certain seasons they hold a sun dance, which is with them a religious ceremony. They have no other form of worship, although a few of them were at one time induced to abandon their idols by the works of the Jesuits.
