It causes every organ into natural action, promotes all the bodily functions, and restores health and vigor.

For every disease that comes from a torpid liver or impure blood, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, or Scrofulous affections, the "Discovery" is the only remedy so certain that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

AR is perfectly, permanently, positively cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. The proprietors of this medicine prove that by their offer. It's $500 cash for a case of Catarrh which they can't cure.

SMUGGLING ENCOURAGED.

Customs Officials Who Are Too Lazy to Examine Travelers' Trunks.
One of the most humorous phases of passing through the custom house is connected with the fact that its officials often seem to reserve their gravest displeasure for the very honest people. A writer in the Outlook says that she had bought a dress pattern of loden, a sort of woolen goods made only in the Tyrol, and packed it in the top of her trunk for the inspection of the Italian officials. One after another the trunks were unlocked and closed again until nothing was left but an unpretending little straw one which had been overlooked.

"You have nothing in it—nothing, signora?" asked the officer.
"Yes, I have," was my unexpected reply. "It is just here on top."
I opened the trunk and displayed my uncut goods. The train whistled, officials grunted, people jostled past us and glared at me. I knew he wanted to say: "Why do you bother me by declaring it?"

He wrenched the loden out of the trunk and started toward the inner office, bidding me follow. There I was greeted by another official in these words, spoken with excitement and much gesticulation:
"How is this? Just now at the last moment and the train ready to go. How is this?"

One man was weighing the goods, another poising a pen in his hand, and half a dozen looking on.
"Why is this?" repeated the chief officer. "Why do you declare this at the very last moment?"
"Perhaps it would have been better if I had not declared it at all," I said, in my suavest tones.

"But to come at the last moment."
"Surely it is not for my pleasure, Mr. Officer, that you ransacked my trunks," I reminded him.

Then he looked at me with the air of childlike helplessness so characteristic of Italians.
"But there is no time now to look over your other baggage and see what else you have."
I laughed.
"I put this on top and declared it," I said. "There is nothing else, I assure you. But be tranquil; next time I pass the frontier I will smuggle everything and declare nothing. I promise never to put you to so much trouble again."

A quiver of a smile crossed his lips, but he growled:
"But the train is waiting."
"Yes," I replied, "and it must still wait until you are pleased to return my goods and allow me to relock my trunk."

The end of it all was that I was bowed out of the office after paying one dollar duty on a four-dollar piece of goods.

NOT AS GOOD AS HER MA.

The Opinion of an Austrian Princess on a Circus Rider's Feat.

Nearly everybody knows that the eccentric empress of Austria carries her fondness for hunting to such a pitch that up to recent years she used to brave the terrible fits of mal de mer that are caused by the Irish channel for the sake of enjoying the superb hunting that can still be found in the Emerald Isle—one free joy not yet hunted out of it by the ubiquitous and iniquitous Sassenach. But it is not generally known, says the New York Journal, that the first lady of the land in Austria is also a fancy rider, used to have a private arena, and when in playful mood would give exhibitions of startling equestrian skill to a select circle of more or less discreet friends. One day when her little daughter Stephanie was on a visit at the home of a noble in another part of the empire it occurred to her hosts that perhaps a circus that was performing in the neighborhood would afford the infant princess a novel delight. They took the child, and were astonished at the profound gravity with which her little eyes watched the performers leaping through hoops of colored paper, turning somersaults or riding two horses at once.

"Well," said one at last, "what does our little princess think of it?"
"Not much," replied the child, shaking her head sagely. "My ma can do those things a heap better." Then, with an air of profound conviction: "My ma's a born circus rider."
Imagine, if you can, Austria's etiquette, and then imagine the thrill of amazement and horror which the child's remark produced.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.
As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Namby Tamby.
The term "namby tamby," which has come to be applied to a person of vacillating character, as well as to weak literary productions, was originated by the poet Pope. He applied it to some puerile verses that had been written by an obscure poet—one Ambrose Phillips—addressed to the children of a peer. The first half of the term is meant as a baby way of pronouncing Amby, a pet nickname for Ambrose, and the second half is simply a jingling word to fit it.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth Co., Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Fort Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says a neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me, he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakely & Houghton, druggists.
