

KILLED IN THE NIGHT.

Cowardly Murder of a Prominent Lawyer.

SHOT WHILE ASLEEP IN HIS BED

One Negro Shot and Three Others Hanged by a Mob—Two Little Children Murdered.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 24.—Albert Beck, aged 50, a former law partner of Congressman Bynum, was found dead this morning with a bullet in his bowels. While the suggestion of murder has been made, his friends think he has committed suicide.

The coroner decided Beck was murdered. He was found on a bed, undressed, with a ghastly wound behind his left ear. The shutter had been sawed off so as to admit an arm, and blood was found in the yard. Bloody tracks led to the sidewalk. A strange revolver was on the floor, and Beck's revolver was in the drawer.

One Shot, Three Hanged.

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 25.—Four negroes have already paid the penalty for the brutal assassination of Manager Boyce, of the Baunn plantation, in Madison parish, Saturday. One was shot Sunday. During the night a mob gathered at the jail at Tallahas and forced open the door. Sam Slaughter, Tom Claxton and Dave Hawkins were led out and hanged to a balustrade of the court house. Their bodies were hanging there this morning. Another of the Claxtons and four of his pals are still in the swamp. The river and all avenues of escape, are closely guarded, and the ultimate capture of the five men is regarded as only a question of time. It seems certain they will be lynched.

Two Innocents Killed.

TUSKOGEE, Ala., April 24.—Mrs. George Sinclair left her home for a short visit, and when she returned she found her two little girls, aged 2 and 6 years, missing. A search resulted today in the discovery of their dead bodies in the woods near the house with their heads battered in. The little ones had wandered from the house and been murdered. In a mill pond near by was found the body of Horace Johnson, an insane negro, who, it is supposed, murdered the little ones and then jumped into the pond and drowned himself.

THEY STOLE A TRAIN.

Butte Industrials Outwit the Northern Pacific.

ST. PAUL, April 24.—The Coxeyites broke into the Northern Pacific round-house last night, seized an engine and train and started East at 40 miles an hour. There are between 400 and 500 men in this army. They have been camped at Butte, Mont., several days. While the leaders were trying to arrange for transportation the men concluded that if they wanted a train they must take it. At midnight they reached Boreman, where they stopped till the break of day, intending to resume their journey at once. Northern Pacific officials say there is nothing to stop them until near Livingston, where a washout will cause some delay.

The army was stopped at Livingston by a cave-in in a tunnel.

GREAT NORTHERN STRIKE.

The General Committee is Discussing the Situation.

ST. PAUL, April 25.—The Great Northern strikers' general committee is in executive session discussing the situation and will probably ask for a conference with the railroad officials.

About two-thirds of the men are opposed to arbitration, through President Debs and Vice-President Howard have used every argument to change their minds.

The Strike at Connellsville.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 24.—The prediction of the labor leaders that the entire region will be out in a day or two is being fulfilled. Men at a dozen works laid down their tools today, while at many other plants part of the men went out and others will follow tomorrow. They claim the whole region will be out in a day or two. No violence has occurred yet.

Gearin Again Appointed, Assistant. WASHINGTON, April 24.—Attorney-General Olney today appointed John M. Gearin and assistant district attorney for Oregon, to assist in the prosecution of the Chinese and opium-smuggling cases.

To Reduce the Wool Rates.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Power today introduced an amendment in the senate to the tariff bill, re-enacting the provisions of the McKinley law as they apply to wool, except that the rates are changed. The amendment approves of a duty of 6 cents per pound on wool of the first-class, 8 cents on the second, fourth, and third-class worth 9 cents, and 5 cents on third-class, excepting 9 cents of value. This is a reduction of about one-third from the McKinley bill, and Power says his reasons for reducing the rates are that he hopes to secure democratic support for his amendment.

WHERE THEY ARE.

The Different Sections of the Coxey Commonwealth Army.

Kelley's army, now the largest marching on to Washington, reached Walnut, Ia., yesterday morning. There were 23 companies and 953 men. Immediately after they arrived a row, developed into real mutiny, broke out between the Sacramento and San Francisco regiments. Jealousy was the cause. The upshot was the withdrawal of a portion of the Sacramento men because their leader, Col. Speed, had been court-martialed and reduced to the ranks. When they reached Atlantic last evening there were two distinct armies. It was stated last night that Speed and his men would attempt to capture a train and leave Kelley behind. Coxey rejoined his army at Frederick, Md., the home of Barbara Freitchie, and last night he and Brown addressed a large meeting. Fry's army is still in Terre Haute. There was a hitch between the army and the railroad company. The men declare they will walk no further. The New England contingent has reached Providence, and will today march to Scituate. Commander Clinton and his army of the Schuykill met a cold reception at Elliott City, Md. They were denied a place to pitch their tent and ordered to move on. They passed the night at Ashton. In Chicago Randall's commonwealth army is having a boom. Collections are brisk and recruits many. At Guthrie, O. T., several bands were organized. Because of the refusal of the railroad companies to furnish trains, they very sensibly decided to remain at home. Denver people have organized a Coxey home reserve. Its object is to bottom the movement. Late last night a story was sent out of the discovery of a plot to waylay and assassinate Kelly. As it was discovered in time, it failed.

NEWS NOTES.

The general debate on the tariff closed yesterday, and the bill will now be considered by paragraph.

Representative Jerry Simpson is reported much better.

It covers a good deal of ground—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And when you hear that it cures so many diseases, perhaps you think "its too good to be true."

But its only reasonable. As a blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength restorer, nothing like "Discovery" is known to medical science. The diseases that it cures come from a torpid liver, or from impure blood. For everything of this nature, it is the only guaranteed remedy. In dyspepsia, biliousness; all bronchial, throat and lung affections; every form of scrofula, even consumption (or lung-crofula) in its earlier stages, and in the most stubborn skin and scalp diseases—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Chronic nasal catarrh positively cured by Dr. Sage's Remedy. 50 cents; by druggists.

KEARSARGE'S CHAIN ARMOR.

How It Was Afterward Used to Protect a German Man-of-War.

The history of the Kearsarge has been so many times told, says the New York Herald, that it seems like "taking owls to Athens" to attempt to say anything about her. There is, however, an item of history connected with this famous vessel which, so far as I am aware, has never appeared in print.

A number of years ago while stopping in a little mountain town in Germany I became acquainted with Chief Engineer A. Gebhardsbauer, of the imperial German navy. He recalled to me that when the Kearsarge fought the Alabama off Cherbourg anchor chains had been placed on both sides of the Kearsarge in order to better protect the boiler and engines from the enemy's fire.

A long time after the battle, when the Kearsarge was lying off the Azores islands, the anchor chains which had done such good service were delivered over to the care of the United States consul at Fayal. They remained in the consular store house until July, 1870.

At this time, just at the outbreak of the Franco-German war, the German wooden frigate Arcona arrived at Fayal. The Arcona was one of the old type of wooden war vessels. Mr. Gebhardsbauer, who was chief engineer of the Arcona, was ordered by her commander to rig up something to afford protection for her engine in case the Arcona should fall in with a French ship, it being the intention to proceed to Germany at once.

In a search for material in the storehouse of Mr. Dabney, the United States consul, he found the old anchor chains of the Kearsarge and immediately secured them. They were placed on the Arcona exactly as they had been on the Kearsarge, and in a short time she was ready and sailed for the Fatherland.

The Arcona met with neither adventure nor trouble of any kind on her homeward voyage, but she remained in service, and the chains were kept on her until the close of the war, afterward being turned over to the navy-yard at Kiel as old iron. They were still there in 1888, and several incidents made by the shot from the Alabama could still be seen in them.

The log book of the Kearsarge does not show that the chains were disposed of as I have stated. No mention whatever is made of the disposition made of them. Further, the records of the state department contain nothing on the subject.

The facts remain, nevertheless, and now that the old ship has gone it would seem highly proper that everything in the way of relics of her should be in the possession of this government. Portugal courteously returned the gun "Long Tom" of the brig Armstrong and Germany would undoubtedly do the same with the armor of the Kearsarge.

Neal Dow as a Fireman.

When Neal Dow was chief of the Portland volunteer fire department, says the Boston Globe, some of his men complained about the strictness of his discipline. One of them appealed to the mayor once, saying: "Mr. Dow is altogether too strict. At the fire the other night he ordered me to go between two buildings, and their walls were likely to fall at any moment. I wouldn't go." "And what did Mr. Dow do when you refused to obey?" asked the mayor. "He was fool enough to go himself."

Not Altogether Harmonious.

The choir was singing a new arrangement of the beautiful anthem, "Consider the Lilies." The pure sweet voice of the soprano rose clearly and distinctly in the solo:

They tol-ol-ol not,
They toll not,
Ny-y-ther do they spin.

She panned and the tenor took up the strain:

Neo-ee-ther do they spin,
They tol-ol-ol not,
They toll not,
Ny-y-ther do they spin.

The tenor ceased, and the basso, a solemn, red-haired young man, with a somewhat worldly looking eye and a voice like a foghorn, broke in:

Nay-ay-ay-ther do they spin,
They tol-ol-ol not,
They toll not,
Ny-y-ther do they spin.

Then the voices of the three were lifted up in semi-chorus:

Ny-y-ther do they spin,
Neo-ee-ther do they spin,
Nay-ay-ay-ther do they spin.

They tol-ol-ol not,
They toll not,
Ny-y-ther do they spin,
Neo-ee-ther do they spin,
Nay-ay-ay-ther do they spin.

"Brethren," said the gray-haired, old-fashioned pastor, when the choir had finished, "we will begin the service of the morning by singing the familiar hymn: 'And am I yet alive?'"—Chicago Tribune.
