

LOOK AT THE SIZE of the ordinary pill. Think of all the trouble and disturbance it causes you. Wouldn't you welcome something easier to take, and easier in its ways, if at the same time it did you more good? That is the case with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's method, and they give help that lasts. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

"If we can't cure your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing, we'll pay you $500 in cash." That is what is promised by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Doesn't it prove, better than any words could, that this is a remedy that cures Catarrh? Costs only 50 cents.

ANCIENT GOLD-WORKERS.

How the Knowledge of Mixing Metals Was First Obtained.

There is a papyrus which gives recipes for various alloys used in the manufacture of cups and vases, and making gold and silver ink, for gilding and silvers, and for testing the purity of precious metals. Other recipes, says the Edinburgh Review, teach the method of falsifying them by adding baser metals—an operation called diplois, or doubling, for the mass of the gold and silver was doubled, while their color remained unchanged, and, as the compiler of the manual remarks, a skilled workman would find it difficult, or even impossible, to detect the fraud. The recipes which require most frequently describe various modes of preparing asem, a word which originally meant a natural alloy of gold and silver known to the Greeks as electrum. It was at first looked upon as a distinct metal, was considered sacred to Jupiter, and was designated by the sign of that planet, but at a later period the name was applied to all alloys, and M. Berthelot remarks that in this fact seems to lie the explanation of the origin of alchemy. Both gold and silver could be extracted from genuine asem, and it seemed as though it could be changed at the will of the operator into either one or the other; it could also be made artificially by mingling gold and silver, or closely imitated by some of the numerous alloys, eleven or twelve varieties of which are described in the papyrus of Leyden.

A Terrible Revenge.

An Italian who had a pair of showy black eyes and was excessively vain of them permitted himself in a peculiarly outrageous manner to insult a defenseless young Englishwoman who had recently lost her husband. An American painter slapped his face and received his challenge. In the heat of the fight the American was a proficient, and, as swords were chosen, I asked him, writes Henry Harland in the Idler, on the night before the meeting what he was going to do with the little beast. "Not kill him?" "Oh, no, I shan't kill him." "I don't want to soil my hands with his dirty little life. I think I'll just put out one of his handsome black eyes." The next morning in a wood near Viroflay the men crossed their swords, made a few feints and passes, and then, before they had been at it a full half minute, the Italian gave a scream. Sure enough, the American had pinked him in the eye.

AGES OF EUROPEAN RULERS.

The Oldest Is Pope Leo, and the Youngest Is King Alfonso XIII.

The Almanach de Gotha for 1894 has buried in its numerous finely-printed pages some interesting facts as to the ages of European sovereigns. The oldest of all is the pope, who is in his 84th year. Next comes the grand duke of Little Luxembourg, who is 76. The king of Denmark and the grand duke of Saxe-Weimar are 75; Queen Victoria and the grand duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, 74. There are six other sovereigns who are older than 70; eleven who are between 60 and 70, and five who are between 50 and 60. Eleven are between 40 and 50, two between 30 and 40, and two more between 20 and 30. The youngest three sovereigns are King Alexander of Serbia, 17; Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, 13, and King Alfonso XIII. of Spain, 7 1/2. Queen Victoria has had the longest reign—fifty-six and one-half years. Emperor Franz Josef has reigned forty-five years; the grand duke of Baden, forty-one years; the grand duke of Oldenburg, of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, and of Saxe-Altenburg, forty years each. Fourteen of the sovereigns of Europe have reigned fewer than ten years. During 1893 three new sovereigns ascended the throne. They are Prince George of Schaumburg-Lippe, Prince Frederick of Waldeck and Duke Alfred of Coburg, better known as the duke of Edinburgh.

SLAVES IN NEW ENGLAND.

The Beginning of Traffic in Human Chattels in the Eastern States.

In the sixteenth century the system of slavery was fast disappearing from western Europe as being inconsistent with their duty for Christians to hold Christians as slaves. But this charity did not extend to heathens and infidels! In the latter part of the seventeenth century the African slave trade was considered the most profitable part of British commerce. New England naturally followed the lead of older countries, and her exchange for humanity of rum, molasses and other commodities acceptable on the Guinea and Gold coasts began.

In 1638, says Harper's Magazine, Samuel Maverick, of Massachusetts, bought African slaves, and in 1650 "a neeger mayde 354" appears in an inventory in Hartford. Ere long every well-to-do family had its quota of negroes for necessary domestic service and labor on the "plantation" of the northern agriculturist, not in large numbers, as later, on the cotton plantations of the south, but one or two, or even seven or eight in a family.

The slaves imported were of various colors, tribes and physiognomies. Some were jet black, with features approaching those of the European; some were of a tawny yellow, with flat noses and projecting jaws. These latter, coming from the delta of the Niger, were noted for an indomitable capacity for endurance, and therefore esteemed the best slaves. A few were Mohammedans, among whom were occasionally found persons of some education, who knew Arabic and could read the Koran. But the great mass were pagans, in a condition of gross barbarism.

A Brief Census.

There was an energetic landlady, a widow, in a large boarding-house in New Hampshire, and her brother, who was a widower, joined in the business enterprise.

It so happened her first guests were a young widow and her father, who had recently buried his second wife. The associated charities sent out an agent to investigate a case of distress in that neighborhood, and it chanced this was the first house she lit upon. "Of whom does your family consist?" she inquired of the mistress. "All remnants," was the prompt reply.
