THE EVIL STAR.

A bloody star seems to be in the ascendancy. It is an era of destruction and combativeness. By some malign influence the people of earth seem to have been suddenly converted into a race of Ishmaelites, with every man's hand raised against his brother. Nor is the strife confined to conflicts between the lawless and the upholders of the law. Down in Texas yesterday a fight was precipitated between the civil anthorities and the regular troops over the arrest of a drunken soldier, and a pitched battle ensued. The Coxeyites and the marshals are having their spats all over the country. The strikers and the local police authorities are slaying each other in the mining districts. Turbulence and violence prevail in all the European countries where the presence of standing armies is not sufficient to quell the insurrectionary spirit. Individuals who have no provocation to quarrel with others shoot themselves. Suicides are the order of the day. And thus wherever we look we see the same general manifestation of combativeness and destruction. Astrologers attribute it to the malign influence of some evil star; Bible students say it is the sign of the approaching end of the world; partisan politicians lay it all to the policies of the opposition party; the populists hold the Wall-street goldbugs responsible; the Oregon republicans say that Pennoyer did it with his Christmas letter; and so it goes, everyone with a theory and none of them able to give a rational explan ation. For our own part, we believe it all results from the inherent cussedness of human nature. Human depravity is the evil star now in the ascendancy .-Telegram.

There will be republican speaking at the hall Friday evening, May 11th. John Michell and others will address the people concerning republicanism.

Misses Anna Frazier, Nellie Hudson, Hattie Stirnweis and Mr. Waldo Brigham left for The Dalles Tuesday to attend the teachers' examination.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights there was a heavy frost, which has killed considerable of the small fruit in some sections. Ice the thickness of window glass covered the standing water.

S. B. Johnston lost a fine horse the other day. It was found dead in its stall. The cause was supposed to have been heart disease, as the animal was apparently in good health a short time before.

The latest tad has struck the gentlemen of our berg in the form of an antimustache mania. It has seriously affected G. W. Johnston, our druggist, W. L. Vanderpool and A. Howil, while several others are threatened, and it is feared E. S. Hinman and Waldo Brigham will succumb to the terrible malady. When unfortunate enough to meet any acquaintances they bashfully hang their heads, and no wonder. We pity them. They cause us to mentally compare them to the peacock which was punished for his vanity by being robbed of his feathers. We imagine they anticipate becoming recruits for Coxey's army, and are thus preparing.

who up to that time had been a poor farmer struggling to support a big family. Now he is one of the solid men of work to systematically train a whole drove of hogs to hunt down and destroy the reptiles. In a little while he had his swine as thoroughly trained in their part as setter dogs are drilled to This remedy is becoming so well point quail. He first cleared his own farm of a vast quantity of big ones, and then he began to hire out his hogs to his neighbors who were snake-afflicted. The fame of those razorbacks spread all over the land and people whose places were infested with rattlesnakes and men who were clearing up new land sent for Jones' hogs.

This is no romance, for I talked with Jones himself and he told me all about it, and exhibited his book of engagements, which also contained a record of all the snakes slain for the last twelve months. I have every reason to believe he was stating the facts, for he gave me a warm invitation to visit his place and promises to give an ex-hibition that would demonstrate the skill of his sunke-killers."
