

ABOVE EVERYTHING ELSE,

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood. By this means, it reaches, builds up, and invigorates every part of the system. For every blood-taint and disorder, and for every disease that comes from an inactive liver or impure blood, it is the only remedy so sure and effective that it can be guaranteed. If the "Discovery" fails to benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

These diseases are many. They're different in form, but they're like in treatment. Rouse up the torpid liver into healthful action, thoroughly purify and enrich the blood, and there's a positive cure. The "Discovery" does this, as nothing else can. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness; all Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; every form of Scrofula, even Consumption (or Lung-scarfola) in its earlier stages; and the most stubborn Skin and Scalp Diseases, are completely cured by it.

ALWAYS OPEN—the offer made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's a reward of $500 cash for an incurable case of Catarrh. The only question is—are you willing to try it, if the makers are willing to take the risk?

THE DALLES, OREGON

OPPOSED TO CIVILIZATION.

Two Curious Tribes That Resist All Efforts to Improve Their Condition. Hundreds of steamers sail every year through the straits of Malacca bearing thousands of passengers, who never dream that just behind the mountains along the narrow Malay peninsula are two tribes apparently untamable, that have scarcely any intercourse with the rest of the world, and wish only to be let alone. They are known as the Semang and the Sakaï tribes, and are supposed, says the New York Sun, to be the aborigines of the Malay peninsula. Ever since the vessels of civilized nations have frequented those waters they have lived there, and they have no traditions as to ever occupying any other region. Once, however, they extended down to the coast, but the Malays drove them toward the center of the peninsula, where, in the virgin forests, they found shelter against the human enemies whom they fear much more than they do the wild beasts around them.

The Sakaï resemble negroes, and ethnologists who have seen a few of them wonder whence these black people with woolly hair, flat noses, and thick lips derive their physical characteristics. The Semang tribes on the contrary are copper-colored, with clear skins and brown cheeks and clear-cut features. The tribes speak different languages, but they have the same customs and live on the best terms with one another. There seems, however, to be very little intermarriage among them, and thus the types are kept distinct.

The Sakaï communicate from time to time with the Malays, but the Semangs never leave their mountains. They seem to have no idea of religion, and their imaginations are not at all impressed by natural phenomena. Within their circumscribed limits they are among the greatest of wanderers. They lead a thoroughly nomadic life. They rarely remain two days in the same place, and do not construct the slightest shelter except occasionally a roof of boughs to cover them for a few hours from a storm of unusual violence. Like some of the natives of Terra del Fuego they have no idea of building huts in which to live. They have no herds, and their greatest passion is the jealousy with which they guard their liberty and independence. White missionaries have made some attempts to gain influence over them, but have been wholly unsuccessful. No efforts to give them any of the notions of civilization have succeeded in the slightest degree. They have not assumed even those habits of civilization which prevail among their nearest neighbors, the Malays. They, however, have adopted some of the vices of civilization, among which is the tobacco habit. The weed does not grow in their country, and their occasional efforts to procure it from the coast are about the only relations they have with other peoples. Many of them speak a smattering of Malay or Siamese. Meyers d'Estrey is the only white man who is known to have lived even a short time among these very peculiar people, and about all the information we have concerning them has been supplied by him.

CROWING CONTESTS.

Music Furnished by Roosters Entered in a Regular Competition.

Recently there was a very interesting crowing contest between roosters in Belgium. The poultry raisers of the vicinity of Liege are such admirers of the music which their roosters furnish that they decided to hold a competition at Liege in order to prove definitely whose rooster was the champion crower. All the birds entered in the competition—and there was a great number—were placed in cages, one in each cage, with a trustworthy man in front of each to record the crowing. The contest lasted one hour, and the cock which crowed the greatest number of times in that period received a valuable prize. The winner of the prize crowed one hundred and thirty-four times, or more than twice a minute. The Youth's Companion thinks that anyone who has seen a young rooster mount a barnyard fence and crow until the housewife comes out and throws a milk pail at him will not be inclined to impeach the accuracy of this count, unless he thinks it is an understatement. It is possible that the Liege cocks were embarrassed by the strange surroundings and did not do themselves justice.

It Should Be in Every House

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpshurg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of "la grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cookeport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at Snipes & Kinersly's. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Snipes & Kinersly's.

MARRIAGES IN CHINA.

It is Not Absolutely Necessary for the Bridegroom to Be Present.

A Chinese engagement dates its beginning from the exchange of red cards between the parents of the contracting parties. These cards in many districts are immense documents almost the size of a horse-blanket. They are important for the reason that they are used as evidence in case of disagreements in the future. We seldom hear in China of broken engagements. Yet if a quarrel cannot be settled peaceably recourse is had to the law, and the judge usually imposes a fine upon the party who has broken the contract. The chief incident in a Chinese marriage is the arrival of the bride in her bridal clothes before the house of her chosen one. That is the de facto fulfillment of the contract. The wedding day is determined by the parents of the groom. The imperial calendar names the lucky days, and on such days the so-called "red celebrations" take place, both in the city and country. The same bridal clothes may be used several times. In district where it is customary to celebrate the weddings in the forenoon the weddings of the co-wives take place in the afternoon or in the evening, according to the Ostiatischer Lloyd. The Chinese thus hope to make them less important. That the chief part of a Chinese marriage is the arrival of the bride at the house of the groom is illustrated again by the fact that the sons are often married without being present at their own weddings. It is not believed to be fortunate to change the wedding day when once decided. If the future husband, there fore, happens to be called away on the wedding day the marriage takes place by sending the bride to his house.

Chinese law recognizes seven grounds for divorce from a woman—childless improper conduct, neglect of the parents of the husband, a tendency to steal jealousy and incurable disease. A natural consequence of the importance attached in China to male heirs is that where they are absent, the husband marries a co-wife. This, however, is not general, and is limited to families of wealth. The bad results of the system are recognized by the Chinese themselves. The practical Chinese therefore, have adopted a more simple way of obtaining heirs—the adoption of children who belong to side branches of the family. In this way the family line is kept intact. In the absence of male descendants in the side branches of the family, the sons of strangers are adopted. The Chinese prefer this method to marrying second wives.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr of 1255 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, but has not heretofore been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up into Wisconsin, and in consequence has had another attack. "It came upon me very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in-law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty-cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swellings extant. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

NEW MEXICAN RAILROADS.

By Which, When Completed, One May Pass from Ocean to Ocean.

The Jalisco Pacific Railway Company, which was recently organized in Mexico with a capital of $10,125,000 to build the extension of the Manzanillo & Colima railway from the latter point to Guadalajara, will continue the line to two points on the Mexican National railway. The portion of the line now in operation, which is owned by the Mexican National Construction Company, has proved eminently successful. The distance from Manzanillo to Guadalajara is 225 miles, and there are already 59 miles of railroad in operation, leaving 166 miles to be built.

Guadalajara, with a population of about 80,000, was formally one of the most prosperous trade centers of the republic, and the best-informed business men of the city believe that the completion of the railway to the Pacific ocean will restore its old-time commercial importance. With the completion of the Jalisco-Pacific to Guadalajara, it will be possible to cross Mexico by rail from Tampico or Vera Cruz.

THE DALLES

Wasco County, Oregon,

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.
