

A Marvel in Silk Weaving.

STUART'S FAMOUS

Portrait of Washington

Reproduced in a Masterpiece of the Loom.

It takes three expert weavers two and a half months to weave a single copy. Only black and white silk is used, all the exquisite shading being obtained by the skillful use of the Triple Loom. It cost $8,000 to transfer the design from the Oil Painting to the Loom and to produce the first copy.

MAY MINORS.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

River rose at Umatilla 1.1 during the past twenty-four hours.

Business meeting of the Epworth League tonight at 7:30.

St. Paul's Episcopal Guild will meet with Mrs. T. A. Hudson tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The water is now within three feet of Prinz & Nitschke's basement, and they will move their goods out tomorrow.

Astoria reports the salmon as running well for the past two or three days. They should be here then about the first of June.

The public schools of this city will give very entertaining commencement exercises at the Baldwin opera house Saturday evening next.

One of Rudyard Kipling's greatest stories, amply illustrated, will appear in the June number of McClure's Magazine. There will also be a story by Octave Thanet.

Charles T. Powne declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States this morning, having heretofore been a subject of the good Queen Victoria.

B. S. Pague left San Francisco this morning to take charge of the Oregon weather bureau. This will be good news, for no one else has been able to handle weather in webfoot.

A few more days and the Chinese will have to get a move on, and at the same time the rats will come up town, a source of delight to the small boy and of terror to his larger sister.

Rev. S. M. Driver, formerly well known in Eastern Oregon, abandoned his wife and children at Placerville, Cal., absconded with a pretty widow and about $1,000 borrowed from his friends.

While handling wool at Moody's warehouse this morning a fellow workman accidentally struck Frank Egan on the hand with a hook used in handling the bales. The hook struck the back of his left hand, going clear through and making a very ugly wound.

Jerome Lauer this morning commenced work on his building next to Young's blacksmith shop. He intends opening a shop for the manufacture and repair of wagons and hacks. He will have a paint shop in connection with it, and as he is a first-class workman should have plenty of patronage.

The posse that went after Hawthorne, Rowe and others returned this morning, having seen nothing of their intended victims. A report from 8-Mile is to the effect that the gang was seen there yesterday morning, having camped there the night before. They left early, striking to the south, and according to this report are six in number.

Dr. Siddall has just returned from an extended visit to the Midwinter fair. While there he was a constant visitor to the State Dental University, and made a special study of crown and bridge work. He also obtained many useful pointers in other branches, particularly in saving teeth after the nerve has been exposed, without killing it.

E. C. Baker and wife of Nanaimo, B. C., canvassed the town Tuesday taking up subscriptions for an orphan asylum somewhere, and in spite of hard times secured quite a snug sum, at least Mrs. Baker says so. In the evening the lady delivered a sermon on the sidewalk in front of the Umatilla house, and thanked the people of The Dalles for their "splendid aid."

Wallace Semple Killed.

News reached the city yesterday evening that Wallace Semple had been killed about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, on Chenoweth road near Vanbibber's. He, with others, was working on the road under M. Doyle supervisor, and were engaged in widening the grade, which at that point is very narrow. Semple and Mr. Doyle's son had put in a blast, which failed to remove the rock, and they climbed up on top of the bluff and were drilling a hole down from the top. Semple was on top of a big rock, just above where the blast had been exploded. Their added weight and the jar caused by striking the drill caused the rock to slip, and Semple and Doyle were carried down with it and a large amount of loosened rock and earth, which completely filled the road. Doyle stopped in the road, but Semple was carried over it, and the bluff below, falling a distance of nearly fifty feet. He struck on his head and shoulders, his skull being crushed. Doyle escaped with a few slight bruises. Wallace Semple was an industrious man, aged about 30 years. He is a nephew of the McDonald brothers of this place, and leaves a large number of friends, for such were all who knew him.

A Little One for a Bit.

Tacoma is to have a "fair" and expects a portion of the Midwinter exhibit to be brought up. We do not blame Tacoma, but it strikes us the fair business is getting unfair. It is tapering, tapering down until in the natural course of events the last fair will be held at Celilo or Pasco. However we will agree to stand in and help boom it, if the managers will promise on their "honest Injun" never to allow any pictures, portfolios or other abominations to be sent out, save and except only the pictures of Col. Sinnott's hump-backed whale.

Water Marks.

The high water of the flood years is as follows: Of this date, 1880, 29.02; 1882, 20.8½. In 1876 the record was not kept by gauge, but on the 17th was within 8 feet of the company's old bridge, about 28 feet. The highest waters each year were: In 1876, June 23d, 51.3; 1880, July 23, 48.7; 1882, June 14th, 48.2; 1891, May 31st, 26.5.

Hon. Roswell G. Horr to Speak Friday Night.

Hon. Roswell G. Horr, ex-member of congress and now associated editor of the New York Tribune, will deliver an address on the political issues of the day, at the Baldwin opera house, Friday evening, the 25th. He has spoken at numerous points in the state and the local papers have for him only the highest words of praise. As a writer he has a national reputation and as a speaker few if any superiors. It will be, we think, the largest political gathering ever held in Wasco county. Quite a number will be here from Crook county, coming over a hundred miles by stage for the sole purpose of hearing him. Gilliam county will also furnish a goodly number, and Sherman county will be well represented.

Stock Thieves, Too.

Now that young Hawthorne and his gang have gone, there may be an end to horse stealing in this immediate vicinity. It is quite evident the boys expected to leave, and they were only waiting to get arms, ammunition, a good horse each and some coin. They now probably have all these things except the money, and a few good work-horses driven along to sell will supply that need. From The Dalles to Hood River nearly every man who had any horses on the range has lost some. Louis Davenport was out two, but one got away from the thieves and came home. They still have a big gray mare belonging to him.

Wool.

The wool press at Moody's is running steadily. Mr. George Green, one of the oldest and best known graders on the coast, is in charge of the work and the wool is being put up in better shape than ever before. Owing to the rains last week, which stopped the shears, there is but little wool coming in so far this week, but heavy consignments are expected. The price is unchanged, but the wool can be sold, and in this respect the season is better than last.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. C. Lucky is in the city.
Louie Davenport is in town from Mosier.
Hon. A. A. Jayne leaves for home this evening.

The Rev. Father Felix Bucher left this morning for Yaquina to take charge of that parish.

Misses Jeannette and Maie Williams came up on the Regulator last night from Portland.

Mr. Wm. Sanders departed this morning for Cleveland, Ohio, to be absent several months.

Miss Olga Hewitt, daughter of Judge Hewitt of Albany, is visiting her cousins the Misses Rowland.

Dr. D. Siddall, who has been absent for the past month at San Francisco, returned home last night.

Mrs. J. P. Stewart departed this morning for Portland, where she will visit with her son, Mr. Wm Stewart.

Mr. Short, representing Luce & Manning, wool dealers of Boston, arrived yesterday and is soliciting consignments.

Right Rev. B. Wistar Morris, of the Episcopal church, will be here Sunday and conduct services morning and evening.

Mr. T. F. Lyons, a graduate of the University of Michigan in pharmacy, and a former druggist of Walla Walla, having spent two years in the Golden state, is visiting friends in The Dalles, where he is glad once more to enjoy the healthful breezes of the mighty Columbia.

A party of tourist stopped off the through passenger train and took the steamer Regulator for Portland. They were Mr. W. Rea, jr., of Fargo, N. D.; D. Graham of Rushville, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rose and mother and Mr. Wm. J. Reed and mother from Pittsburg, Ind.
