JUNE JUNGLINGS.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

High water views, 15 cents each at Gilhouses's.

Another foot will put the water on the postoffice floor.

There was a lively row on Second street yesterday afternoon.

Has anyone heard anything about an election to occur Monday?

From present indications The Dalles will go prohibition Monday.

Wanted, by a lady a position as clerk in store. Inquire at this office.

Down by the U. P. coal bunkers the tops of the coal cars are just visible.

The situation is aptly described by a profane friend as being h-1 at half-mast.

The bridge trestle across Mill Creek is loaded with cars, and is settling in places.

The water measured three inches higher at noon than at 6 o'clock this morning.

Winans Bros. have lost every fish-wheels but one, and that is badly wrecked.

For night calls Dr. J. Sutherland will be found at room 37 Chapman block until further notice.

Sidney Young has moved his stock and tools to his residence, where he will carry on his business.

N. Harris is moving his big stock out in boats, a proceeding that many others will yet have to follow.

At noon First street was out of sight, being under water from Mill Creek to the grade at the East End.

Mr. McNerny has a lot of big boats carrying goods out of his store. The water is at the top of his counters.

The man with the longest legs now wears the broadest smile, because it is farther from his body to the street.

Every available team in town and many from the country are at work moving goods and household effects.

Nearly all the residences on Third street west from Court will have to be abandoned, and many are already moving.

Monday's issue of THE CHRONICLE will be somewhat reduced in size as we had to abandon our press, and will be printed in the old school house. We propose to stay with it if we have to go to Cloud Cap with our material.

Stoneman & Fiege have moved their lock into the next building to O. D.
Taylor's residence opposite the Methodist church.

The Hood River Glacier and Antelope Herald are the only papers in the county that are not run out by high water.

Keller still holds the fort in his bakery, but if he doesn't get a move on soon he will find his "bread cast upon the waters."

Mr. Lucas Henry, populist candidate for legislature, came in from the Antelope country yesterday. He reports the Deschutes very high.

The United States land office will have no business, unless it opens up the swamp and overflowed department. It is up to its expectations in that.

The only mails we have had for a week is one from Hood River this morning, and some paper mail that came down Tuesday and that consisted of three papers.

H. H. Riddell has moved into the upper story of THE CHRONICLE building and will hold down the situation until further notice. Ta-Ta, brother, we will see you later.

An iron pot floated up the street to our office door this morning, which convinced us it was time to move. Iron pots floating up stream indicate extremely high water.

The First National bank is putting in a false floor and will remain open until the water strikes its vaults. Six or eight inches more will compel it to close up until new quarters can be procured.

The Umatilla house put in another false floor last night, which is its limit for the lower story. Should the rise continue the range will be moved up stairs, and business kept on just the same. Judd Fish says he is in it to stay as long as the roof is dry.

Second street presents a busy scene today. Herbring, Pease & Mays, Rorden, Farley Mays & Crowe, and in fact all are moving out or putting stock above their different guesses for high water mark. We hope they are high enough, but have lost confidence in the river.

The floods are not confined to the Columbia, but have extended all over the coast. The Fraser is higher than ever known, while the Sacramento and streams of Southern California are raging. Three persons were drowned in the streets of Los Angeles. In Colorado every stream is a torrent.

This morning the water had taken possession of Third street from Court west. The only spot on Second street visible at the same time was from THE CHRONICLE office to Pease & Mays corner. Everybody is busy caring for goods and raising stock on platforms.
It is probable all will yet have to move.

Up to 6:30 last night the bulkhead at the locks had not gone out. By almost superhuman efforts the bulk head was raised about four feet, and it was considered that yet three feet of a rise could be stood. The back water is now only 12 feet lower than the water above the dam and even should it go out, which now seems improbable, the damage will not be so great as was anticipated.

BORN

At Winans, Sunday, May 28th, to Mr. and Mrs. Wils. Winans, a daughter.

A Plucky Company.

The D. P. & A. N. Co. have exhibited an amount of pluck and energy that deserves the highest praise. They have spent money lavishly to keep their route open, even going to the expense of regrading a portion of the O. R. & N. portage and moving the track back. It is on account of this latter work that the Regulator did not go down this morning, as the work will be completed today and the steamer will clean out her boilers and make the trip tomorrow. Owing to the trouble in making the transfer yesterday the boat did not leave until 6:30, and darkness coming on she tied up at Hood River. This was necessary on account of the heavy drift which could not be avoided in the darkness. She left at 4 o'clock, arriving here at 6, and bringing quite a large number of passengers.

In getting off last night with fast freight and baggage a combination of fnodes of travel was used—going first in a boat, then wagon, then car, then back to wagon, wagon back to flat car, and pulled this with horses to the boat, and through water almost to the top of the car. A flat boat will be put in place today and transfer can be made direct to car.

Not the Columbia.

We were disposed to doubt the correctness of our telephone dispatches concerning the Snake and Columbia being at a standstill, but the Oregonian confirms it. A comparison with its reports of Thursday and Friday shows that at up-river points there was no raise. At Riparian it gives the stage for both days as 22 feet, at Umatilla for both days 30.5.
At the same time the mark has steadily lifted from 52.6 Wednesday, to 53.3 Thursday, 54.1 Friday and 55 this morning. The flood has not passed up-river points and can only be accounted for by the Deschutes and the tremendous flood of the John Day which is said to be no longer a river but that the valley is filled with water. We confess our inability to believe the John Day could raise the Columbia to the extent it has raised but if our telegrams and those of the Oregonian are correct, it can be accounted for in no other way. If this be so, and one small tributary can make this raise what will the coming flood of the Columbia do?

Residence Burned.

Sunday morning a house belonging to Wm. Boorman, occupied by Scott Boorman, caught fire about 7 o'clock, either from a defective flue or from a spark, and in a short time burned to the ground. The neighbors gathered very quickly, but the fire had a good start and was beyond control. The larger portion of Mr. Boorman's household goods were consumed, and quite a number of fine apple trees in bearing were killed. The loss will reach from $500 to $800: no insurance. Glacier

This Makes Us Smile.

The Union Pacific line between Booneville and Umatilla is in a deplorable condition, but Superintendent Baxter is indefatigable in his efforts to secure a resumption of travel. It is hoped that the transfer arrangement would be completed yesterday, but the task proved impossible, and it is possible that some time today the arrangements for a river service will be completed. A steamboat has reached Umatilla from the upper Snake river, which will be used to carry passenger as far as Celilo. Between that point and The Dalles it is expected to have the line of railroad in working order. A boat service between The Dalles and Portland will also be used, the transfer around the cascades being made on the old portage road on the Washington side, formerly used by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company.

The line of road between this city and Bonnetville will also be repaired in a day or two, and trains run regularly.—Oregonian.

We are getting out this issue as the water comes in on us. A force of men are moving out our stock type and material, and hence we can gather but little news. In fact there is none to gather, there is nothing but water and plunder, moving and coats, gum boots and lumber, and over and above all an anxiety as to the outcome. First street is a river, Second a canal, and Third a lake and still it comes. Dispatches to the Oregonian show the streams above as coming rapidly and the prospect now is for several feet more of a rise.

Arrangements are being made for a meeting on the summit of Mt. Hood, on July 19, for the organization of an Alpine Club. Only those who are present at the organization will be accepted as active members. A banquet will be spread on the summit at the time and every endeavor made to have the occasion a pleasant one. The club will be known as "The Mazamas."—Glacier. If the river continues to rise all The Dalles will join as charter members.

PERSONAL MENTION.

B. F. Laughlin arrived from Portland this morning.

Mr. Peddicord, populist candidate for the legislature, is in the city.

Mrs. D. M. French and daughter Bessie arrived on the Regulator this morning.

Hons. M. V. Harrison and E. B. Dufur, came up on the Regulator this morning, as did Mr. Brock of Sherman county.

TWO STANDARDS.

The Captain's Little Practical Joke on His Passenger.

Jokes of a "practical" order are usually dangerous in one way or another, but a story is told of one harmless joke which illustrated the power of imagination in an amusing way some years ago.

At the time when most of the North river sloops came in at Coenties slip, the Levant, a packet from Fishkill anchored off the Battery to wait for a change of tide. A passenger who had been for the first time in his life on a sailing vessel, and who had been anxiously begging to steer the craft, not noticing that the vessel was at anchor, was told at last that he might take the helm.

He obeyed the summons with alacrity, and listened to the captain's cautions in regard to keeping clear of other vessels and so forth, and then the captain went below.

The tide was rushing by at a great rate, and the amateur helmsman felt much gratified with the progress his craft was making as he looked down at the water.

In time, however, an investigation of the surrounding landscape led to a slight feeling of dissatisfaction on his part, which steadily increased as time went on. At last the captain appeared again, and inquired gravely how he was getting on.
"Well," replied the amateur, with a dubious smile, "I appear to be gettin' on first-rate by water, but plagues slow by land, if I'm any judge, captain."—
