WOOL AND SUGAR

Tariff Bill to Be Defeated by Sugar.

HE WAS FOUND TO BE A WOMAN

Havemeyer Admits that He Was Running the Senate for the Sugar Kings.

Voting on the Wool Schedule.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—When the tariff bill was taken up in the senate today Dolph resumed his speech against free wool. He began with a sarcastic reference to the impatience manifested by Harris, the democratic manager, because the bill was not pushed through with "indecent haste"; recalled the resentment shown by the Tennessee senator, when others displayed impatience at the delay in the case of other bills, notably the federal election bill and the bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. On the latter occasion when he (Dolph) remarked that he was tired of the prolonged contest, Harris curtly told him to sit down. Dolph's observations about silver brought Stewart to his feet with a free silver argument. Carey declared that if Brice and Palmer had been half as industrious in their demand for wool as the two Louisiana senators in their fight for a duty on sugar, the wool industry would have been saved; had Kyle and Allen made a manly fight for a duty on wool, it would have been retained. "If we vote for a duty, is not that all we can do?" asked Kyle.

"If you would refuse to vote for the other provisions of the bill," said Carey, "you could force abandonment of free wool."

"I think the senator is mistaken," responded Kyle. "He will find, when the final vote is taken, that we do not hold the balance of power."

KYLE DEFINES HIS POSITION.

Kyle then defined his position on the subject of free wool. He said he had taken little part in the discussion of the tariff bill, but since it had been charged that the members of the populist party in the senate were siding with the democrats on this question, at the expense of the people of the states, he would make a statement. He recognized the importance of the wool industry. In his own state there were 750,000 sheep. From the Mississippi to the Rockies, sheepraising was a vast industry, and it would be a great injustice to strike it down. But he was not prepared to say that free wool would destroy the industry. Speaking for himself, alone, he was not afraid of placing wool on the free list. The advantage that would accrue to the farmer from the reduction of the price of clothing would more than compensate for any reduction in prices of wool that might follow the free listing of that product. He believed that wool could be raised on the broad prairies and mountains of the West as cheaply as in any other place. The opinions of the republicans to the contrary notwithstanding, the states of the Northwest advocated free wool.

FIRST VOTE ON THE WOOL SCHEDULE.

Peffer offered these modifications to his proposed amendment for a duty on raw wool:

Where the McKinley law levies a duty on first-class wool of 11 cents, he proposed a duty of 5 cents; where the McKinley rate was 12 cents on second class wool, he proposed to change it to 6 cents; wool of the third class worth 13 cents or less is to pay 15 per cent duty ad valorem, and wool worth over 13 cents is to pay 25 per cent, bearing in place of the McKinley bill 38 per cent, a 50 per cent duty.

A discussion followed, in which Morrill, Cullom, Vest, Sherman and Aldrich took part. Teller offered as a substitute for Peffer's amendment the McKinley classification and rates. It was defeated by a strict party vote, 29 to 39. Allen, Kyle and Peffer voted with the democrats against it, and Stewart in favor. Power of Montana offered another substitute, which was defeated by the same vote. The vote then recurred on Peffer's amendment which reduced the McKinley rates an average of about 50 per cent. The three populists voted with the republicans, in favor, but it was lost, 33 to 35. An amendment by Sherman, increasing from 15 per cent to 30 per cent the duty on wool in form of slubbing waste, mungo, shoddy, noils, or other waste product, was lost, 29 to 34. Peffer then offered an amendment to place all articles of manufactures composed wholly or in part of wool, hair of goat, camel or alpaca, on the free list. After some discussion this was laid aside, and, on Cockrell's motion, the bill providing for the deficiency in appropriations for the government printing office was passed, and then, after a brief executive session, the senate adjourned.

The Entire Bill in Jeopardy.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The Herald's Washington special says: President Havemeyer's frank admission that he came to Washington to control the legislation of congress, with a view to protecting the interests of the sugar trust and making money by such legislation, when taken in connection with the visible result of his mission, as embodied in the Gorman-Brice sugar schedule, is appalling to democrats who have the best interests of their party at heart. It means that, in some way not at present quite clear, the president of the sugar trust obtained such absolute control over the democrats in the senate as to enable him to dictate to them precisely the legislation his organization wanted. Representative Bailey's declaration that he would stay here until November to defeat the schedule, after the revelations that have been made before the senate committee, meets the approval of many other democrats in the house. The feeling against the senate which this mysterious power of the trust has made is so intense that many democrats think their party would be in a better condition if it should go before the country without having passed a tariff bill of any kind, than to attempt to apologize for the Gorman-Brice-Havemeyer sugar schedule.

Senators Allen of Nebraska and Lodge of Massachusetts are apparently the only members of the investigating committee who are desirous of compelling Mr. Havemeyer and Mr. Searles to go into full details in regard to the contributions by the trust to campaign funds. Allen insists that if these witnesses do not answer the questions put to them by the committee they shall be certified to the district attorney for indictment, just as was done in the case of the newspaper correspondents, who declined to give sources of information given them in confidence. An important fact to the people is that the adoption of the Gorman-Brice schedule will advance the price of every pound of sugar consumed in the United States, and they want to find out who is responsible for imposing this heavy burden upon them for the benefit of an institution, the president of which admits that he has been able to control absolutely the price of sugar sold in the United States, and has cleared from $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 in profits in three years.

The Man was a Woman.

ALBANY, Or., June 15.—In the quiet little village of Sweet Home, twenty miles east of this city, there has developed a sensation attending the death of a citizen there. For many years Otto Lubker and another German have been living quietly together as bachelors. A few days ago Mr. Lubker's partner died, when it was discovered his companion was a woman. She had been living as a man and performing manual labor for years. Even Mr. Lubker declares he was absolutely ignorant of the fact. Both were hard-working and industrious Germans. She was buried at Sweet Home, leaving unsolved the mystery of her strange life.

Croker in Europe.

QUEENSTOWN, June 15.—Richard Croker, of New York, with his two sons, arrived here this evening on the Umbria. To a reporter Croker said he did not come to Europe for his health. He would have started early, but the illness of a relative detained him. Asked in reference to the investigation of the New York city police department by a committee of the state senate, he said he had not been summoned to appear before the committee, but he would be glad to give the committee any assistance in his power should they desire it. He said he was out of politics now and did not propose to take any part again in the administration of Tammany hall. In reply to a question why he had not announced in New York that he was about to leave for Europe, he said he did not suppose the public attached any importance to his movements. Mr. Croker proposes to go direct to Paris. His stay in Europe will be for an indefinite period.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

How sad to our hearts are some scenes of our childhood.

As our recollections present them to view: The use of the switch that was brought from the wildwood. And various punishments most of us knew. But saddest of all is the thought of the pill box. That mother brought out then she thought we were ill. Of the gripping, the aching, the twisting and torment. Wrapped up in the horrible old fashioned pill.

Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, but has not heretofore been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up into Wisconsin, and in consequence has had another attack. "It came upon me very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in-law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty-cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swellings extant. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. Simon Goldbaum, San Luis Rey, Cal. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.
