A HOODOO YEAR.

This has been a hoodoo year. From midnight of December 31st, when it kicked up its infantile heels and tried to put its little big-toe in its mouth, it was a captious, capricious, cantankerous infant. It lay awake to cry of nights and had more trouble cutting teeth and getting weaned than any of its illustrious predecessors. It has been subject to colic, and had to have its nasty little pug nose held to make it take medicine administered by this administration. It has devastated us with fire, drowned with flood, swept with cyclone, struck with lightning, and d-d with a democratic congress. And it isn't six months old yet, either.

We believe it has done its worst. The floods are about over, the season of cyclone the same, good crops are growing, and congress is approaching adjourning time. Carlisle will probably cut loose from Cleveland, and Gresham wants to be senator from Illinois. There is promise of a good many things, but we cannot believe that 1894 is going to reform, at least short of a death-bed rementance.

"IT CAN'T BE DID."

The Athena Press advises its readers to "hold their butter." This may be all nine acres already occupied, through right in Athena, but some butter we have seen in Oregon; nay! some we have not seen, but only become cognizant of its presence, not through the eyes, but the nose, would bother its own creator to hold! A healthy roll It can't be held, because it can't be of their functions. downed. It is enough to behold it. Verily the glory of a man is his strength, and the glory of a woman is her hair; but the glory of Oregon butter, in the full pride of its mature years, is both. As a genuine amateur butter, some of the two-pound rolls can give a billy-goat odds, and knock him out.

Athena people may hold their butter, but the average farmer, if he knows when he's well off, will hire a middleman to hold his for him.

It has been claimed for years that salmon would not bite in Oregon. Yet for years they have been taken with a hook at Oregon City, in the Sandy at Hood River and doubtless at other places. At the same time it is claimed

We cannot agree with them. There was an old party died in Oregon June 4th, but it was the other party, and his name was democracy. The populist vote, according to the returns, has nearly doubled in two years, the democratic vote in the same time been divided by two. What the populists may do in the next two years we do not pretend to say, but surely a party that adds 80 per cent. to its vote in two years is neither dead nor dying.

C. F. STEPHENS

THE CHRONICLE was established for the express purpose of faithfully representing The Dalles and the surrounding country, and the satisfying effect of its mission is everywhere apparent. It now leads all other publications in Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam, a large part of Crook, Morrow and Grant counties, as well as Klickitat and other regions north of The Dalles, hence it is the best medium for advertisers in the Inland Empire.

The DAILY CHRONICLE is published every evening in the week Sundays excepted at $6.00 per annum. The WEEKLY CHRONICLE on Fridays of each week at $1.50 per annum.

Next week the senate will, in all probability, pass the tariff bill as amended by it. Dolph, Quay, and the others who had serial speeches running through this volume of congress, will rest up their thinkers. Brice, Gorman and the democrats will get the sugar scraped off, and then the fight on the tariff bill will commence. The confer-ence committee from each house will Staple and Fancy Groceries, meet and disagree. The house will stand pat on the Wilson bill, and refuse to budge an inch, and the whole "bilin" of democrats will be glad of it. Failing to carry out the pledges of the party, congressmen will prefer going before the country for reelection without a tariff bill than with one. The McKinley bill will remain the law until a republican -congress changes it.

The Oregonian this morning comes out in a new dress, and one we confess we do not like. Whether it is our perwerted taste or just because any change in the old stand-by is offensive to oldtimers, we don't pretend to say. The type for the telegrams at least is set by machinery, and the balance of the paper has a new dress to make it correspond. It gives the paper rather a pale look, the face of the type being somewhat lighter than the old, but it is a clear, clean print and more easily read. It is no doubt an improvement, but it pleases not our eyes.

We have a great big nickel that we have not yet had time to otherwise dispose of, that we will risk on the hazard and die of a wager to the effect that the railroad will be repaired and trains runming the whole length of the Union Pacific before the Baker is brought over the cascades, or is in the middle river. That is when we expect the Baker up.

Some of our exchanges, in speaking of the recent republican sweep in this state, say the populist party is dead.

Wasco County, - - - Oregon,

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cas-cades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its pos-sibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these orner stones she stands.
