JUNE JUNGLINGS.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

District court opened this morning to complete the May term.

J. P. McNerny is putting his stock back in the old stand today.

Two of our young friends went fishing up Mill creek yesterday, and caught something like 300 trout.

The Regulator took down a hundred head of beef cattle and twenty tons of other freight this morning.

The militia company from Centerville arrived at Rockland at noon, and went into camp there, instead of coming to this side.

A Good Templars lodge was organized at Fairfield last Saturday evening by State Deputy R. L. McIntosh, with thirty charter members.

A wagon loaded with wool upset last evening a short distance beyond the old powder house. Some work on that grade is evidently needed.

Congressman Ellis has had a bill establishing the Handley survey as the north line of the Warm Springs reservation, passed by the house.

The Living Issue, published at John Day, Grant county, is now a dead issue. It suspended in order to end its suspense, with the issue of the 14th.

Two companies of militia, one from Goldendale the other from Centerville, are expected in today. They will go below in the morning to take part in the state encampment.

It is a foregone conclusion that The Dalles will not have a celebration on Independence day. This being the case, the opportunity of the patriotic will be to take in the celebration at Hood River.

When court opened this morning, Walter Rowe was arraigned and given until tomorrow morning to plead. The balance of the morning was devoted to motions, demurrers and other dilatory proceedings.

Mr. A. Bettingen, sr., has painted and repaired the store room occupied by Maier & Benton, and it is now one of the neatest business places in the city. Messrs. Maier & Benton will have their stock back in it in a few days.

The old high foot-way to the boat landing is emerging from the flood apparently in pretty good order. The old roadway and bridge down the incline are badly wrecked, and will probably not be repaired until the Baker or some other U. P. boat is put on the river.

A special venire was issued this morning from the district court, and under it the following gentlemen were summoned as jurors: Frank Vogt, E. N. Chandler, I. N. Sargent, John Farrot, G. W. Rowland, J. G. Koontz, J. E. Barnett, W. H. Butts, J. M. Smith, T. Harlan.

We understand the steamer Schaeffer will be put on the lower river in connection with the Dalles City today. This becomes necessary on account of the large amount of salmon to be handled. She will carry the heavy freights up, thus permitting the Dalles City to give quicker and better service.

As an evidence of the abundance of salmon in the river, a story is told that one of the owners of a fish-wheel at Cascades allowed the wheel to run all night. In the morning he discovered his wheel and scow sunk, so many fish had been dipped up that the scow was overloaded and went to the bottom.

The cases of Walter Douglas and H. D. McReynolds, brought here on a change of venue from Sherman county, will be heard this term of court. Up to 3 o'clock the time of the court was taken up with demurrers, motions, etc., but it was expected that a jury would be impaneled for the trial of Douglas whose case will be taken up first.

Mr. W. H. Lewis will have charge of the work of repairing the railroad between this place and Celilo, and expects to put 200 men at work just as soon as they can be hired. The company will push this piece of work, as when completed it will give it a through connection without the eighteen miles of staking now necessary, and will enable it to handle express, mails and fast freight.

A Horrible Accident.

A dispatch to the Oregonian from Seattle Friday, says: "Amanda Hildebrandt was burned almost to death by the overturning of a piano lamp at the Rainier school exercises tonight. The rooms were full of children, but no other casualties occurred."

Miss Hildebrandt was a remarkably bright young lady and former resident of this city, where she has a large circle of friends. She was very energetic and studious, graduating at the Wasco Academy here in 1886, after completing a three years' course in two years. The terrible accident that has befallen her, sends a chill of horror through the entire community. She died Saturday night and was buried today.

Alumni Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the alumni of the Wasco Independent Academy this evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of S. L. Brooks. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance is to be considered.

By order of the president.

H. H. RIDDELL, Secy.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Man, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Center Ridge Notes.

Crops are looking excellent and the farmers are jubilant over their outlook. This is our last day of school and the children have exerted their utmost energies under the kind supervision of Mr. P. Underwood.

Mrs. Crawford, formerly teacher of Summit Ridge school, has been dangerously ill, and the trustees had to resort to the energies of Miss Hattie Stirnweis. Misses Lily and Inez Phipps expect to depart to the Willamette valley shortly to resume their studies. We wish them prosperity and happiness.

Mr. Fritz Clausen sold his herd of cattle at a good figure, which indicates that they were in fine condition. He is also remodeling his residence at a great expense, and he hopes soon to boast of having one of the finest mansions in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willard depart for Hood River for a few days on business and pleasure. Mr. and Mrs. James Underhill will accompany them. We wish them a pleasant trip.

Mr. D. Bradley has been taking some very fine views of the work of our late cloudburst.

An entertainment was had at the Union schoolhouse on the 22d inst., in which the children participated, and a pleasant and enjoyable time was had, everybody being delighted at the efforts of its teacher, Miss Roberts.

Of Other Days.

"Bill" Taylor, an old-time "print" from Nevada, came down on the Almota yesterday on his way home to San Francisco. Bill is indeed a character. Years ago, when the writer was a youngster, he knew Bill down on the Comstock. That was a palmy day for printers. Work was plenty at a dollar a thousand, and copy was furnished by Mark Twain, Dan DeQuille, Fred Hart, Johnny Mahanna, Harry Mighels, Sam Davis, Archie Forbes, Otto Greenhood, and a dozen other brilliant fellows that made the old Territorial Enterprise the best paper in all the world. Charley Goodwin put some of the best English and most touching, in the editorial pages, Dagget and Clagget, always readable, aided in giving copy, and it was the happiest family of printers and writers ever gathered. Bill Taylor is one of the few left, and we are glad to know that while a short time ago he was down on his luck, the old man returns home with a cheerful bank account, big enough to let him spend the balance of his days without a care. He told us he was going to take a rest, and the roving disposition of the man can be seen when we add that he intends to rest by going around the world, and make about half the journey on foot.

Real Estate Movements.

The following deeds were filed for record today:

- D. L. Cates to Alice Cates, lot 1, block 2, Laughlin's addition to Dalles City; consideration $1.
- L. Neff to Minnie C. Neff lots 1, 2, 7 and 8, block 8, second addition to Hood River; consideration $1.

Some Salmon.

The run of salmon is still very heavy at the Cascades. After the last load leaves for the steamer Dalles City from Mr. Stevensen's wheels he allows the wheels to run a short time before lifting them, and gives the fish away to the farmers and all others who care to have them. We are told that there is at times forty or fifty small boats waiting for the free run to commence, and that all of them get all the fish they want. Small boats from White Salmon and Hood River go down after their quota and are satisfied. As soon as this is done the wheels are lifted as the fish cannot be kept if caught. Mr. Stevensen is shipping from thirty to forty tons a day to the cannery, and is clearing from $1,500 to $2,000 per day.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. D. W. Bailey of Portland is in the city.

Mr. George Sellinger is up from Mosier.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Sibley went below this morning.

Mrs. T. W. Sparks returned to Portland this morning.

Mr. George Crosfield of Grant was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Gilmore, the Centerville merchant, is in the city.

Mrs. Tim Baldwin went down on the Regulator this morning.

Mr. Charles Durbin arrived in from Antelope at noon today.

Mrs. J. M. Gulliford and two daughters of Prineville left for Portland this morning.

Hon. J. C. Leasure of Pendleton was among the passengers bound for Portland this morning.

Mr. Walter Moore and wife returned from Portland Saturday and left for home, Moro, this morning.

Misses Maie and Pearl Williams and Virginia Marden were passengers on the Regulator this morning, bound for Clatsop beach.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Bentley with a couple of selling-liquor-to-Indians prisoners in charge, passed through on his way to Portland this morning.

Miss Gertrude French came up from Portland Saturday evening, being sent for on account of the illness of her grandfather, Mr. J. F. Magee.

Mr. J. Ward, superintendent of construction for the Union Pacific, is in town and will organize forces for repairing the road as rapidly as possible.

Col. Pike is over from Goldendale on his way to the state encampment. The company from Goldendale arrived at Rockland this afternoon, and went into camp.

Mr. W. J. Baker, president of the Hood River Fruitgrowers' Union, came up from that charming little town Saturday night to do service for his country on the jury. D. S. Crapper came with him.

Superintendent Borie came down on the Almota yesterday. He tells us that hereafter that steamer will make two trips a week, leaving Celilo Tuesday and Friday mornings at 6 o'clock, returning Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Mr. A. W. Patterson, of the Heppner Gazette, came down on the Almota yesterday, bound for Portland. He was one of the lucky ones in the coach that upset. That is he was in when it upset, but he soon found himself out.

DIED.

In The Dalles, Saturday, June 23d, James Francis Magee, aged 83 years, 2 weeks and 1 day.
