JUNE JUNGLINGS.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

The Good Templars will have a basket picnic at 3-Mile grove on the Fourth.

Mr. Monroe Grimes shipped seventy-five head of beef cattle to Portland this morning.

The sugar famine which exists through the eastern part of Oregon also prevails at the Cascades.

License to marry was issued this afternoon to C. O. Horning and Miss L. M. Rand, both of Hood River.

The steam fire engine has been doing service this afternoon pumping the water from the cellar under The Dalles National bank.

Several big wagon loads of salmon were brought up from Stone's wheel this morning. The catch is still phenomenal and the cannery is running to its utmost capacity.

Beginning last Sunday the Northern Pacific resumed its through train service from Portland without transfer. It is the first of the three northern roads to get in running order.

This morning the district court was engaged in impaneling a jury in the case of the state against H. McReynolds, charged with larceny from a dwelling in Sherman county, and sent here for trial.

Another band of sheep on the way to Mt. Adams, are furnishing amusement for those who want them on the ferry-boat. This flock don't seem to know any more than the one that crossed yesterday.

Cascade Locks citizens are deserving of praise for their energy. They have built a good wagon road over the sliding mountain to Bonneville. It is this road over which the mails are now being hauled.

The jury in the case of the state against Walter Douglas were charged and retired to consult at 4 o'clock yesterday. At 3 o'clock this afternoon, not having agreed they came into court for instructions, and again went out.

The big logs that drifted into the streets during the flood are being cut for firewood. No doubt some of them came through from British Columbia without paying the tariff. However, our people don't care a cent, and can burn firewood imported from British Columbia, or anywhere else, without thinking it at all too rich for their blood. We are patricians in some things.

The jury in the case of the state against Walter Douglas retired last night about 9:30, and up to noon today had failed to arrive at a verdict. It is quite probable that this condition of mind will remain and abide with them and that they will not bring in a verdict.

After several months spent with little or no social pleasures, those who attended the dancing party complimentary to Miss Conroy of San Francisco at Fraternity hall last evening, were in the best of spirits and ready for an enjoyable time, which they most certainly had. There were just enough present to make dancing delightful, and with Professor Birgfeld at the piano good music was assured.

The little steamer Irma took her first load of mail this morning, leaving at 5 o'clock. She will run to Cascade Locks and the mails will be taken in wagons to Bonneville. Somehow the impression has gotten out that the mail will be carried only every other day. This is a mistake, for the contract calls for a daily mail. The Irma is a smart little craft, but we fancy it will keep her busy to make the round trip every day.

Union Pacific Repairs.

The Union Pacific road has been put in repair from Umatilla down to Willows junction, and the people of Heppner are again in communication with the East. It is expected that the road will be open from Portland to the Cascade Locks by Saturday night, which will help out wonderfully in making repairs from there to The Dalles, as it will enable material of all kinds to be sent to the front, and also by barges from Celilo to points along the line, which will enable the work of repairing to be carried on at several places simultaneously. Over 1000 men are at work between Bonneville and Willows. It is expected that the line will be in working order to the East by July 15th.

A Knotty Problem.

The problem of getting a solid track across and around the sliding mountain at the locks is one worthy of the steel of the civil engineers of the country. Just now the attempt is being made to put a grade along the face of the slide. This may stay for a few weeks but is liable to go out at any moment. The fact that there seems to be no other way of getting around it is the only reason this is being attempted. It may do for a temporary arrangement, but something more substantial will be required before the regular traffic of the road can be carried on.

'Novelty Tea.'

Dalles Lodge, No. 2, I. O. G. T., will give a 'Novelty Tea' at K. of P. hall next Saturday night. A very enjoyable program will be given. If you feel that temperance is a help to the community come and spend an evening with us. We promise you a good time. Admission, 25 cents, including lunch.

Eastern Oregon Crop Report.

The weather continues cool, partly cloudy, and a few light showers have occurred. The mean temperature ranged from 58 to 64 degrees, which is practically the same as last week. There has been an absence of warm afternoons and the nights continue to be quite cool.

The harvesting of rye is now in progress in the Columbia river valley, where also the barley will soon be ready to cut. Winter wheat is very promising. Spring sown and volunteer crops will make a good yield. In Wasco, Gilliam and Morrow counties the wheat prospects rival those of Sherman and Union. The hay crop is heavy. Some hay ranches and orchards were ruined for this year's crop at least by the flood in the Columbia. The fruit prospects are generally very bright, though the late frosts did do considerable damage.

'I have never seen better prospects for good crops' report several well known correspondents. To the south of the Columbia river valley the late frosts, extending up to the middle of June, did considerable damage, especially to vegetables. A Grant county correspondent reports 'the fruit crop very short, almost a failure. The hay crop is pronounced short. A green fly is damaging fruit trees. Squirrels are doing damage.' Generally through the interior the cattle are fat and the range feed is good. Snow fell to the depth of two inches on the 10th and 11th at Klamath Falls. Sheep shearing is practically completed and the wool is unusually clean, heavy and of long staple.

The Columbia and tributary rivers continue to fall and are slowly receding to within their banks. The waters yet continue to be high; but they are below the destruction point. The rivers will continue to fall, though the decline will be slow, not much over a foot during the next seven days.

Struck by Lightning.

Miss Addie Shaw, niece of Sheriff Ward came in from Antelope yesterday evening. From Mr. Ward we learn the particulars of an accident happening there a few days ago, as told by her. The victim was Mrs. Gleason, who was struck by lightning, but fortunately escaped with her life. A small thunder storm was in progress but not of sufficient violence to cause comment. Mrs. Gleason was engaged in her household duties about the kitchen stove when the lightning struck her but whence it came is a mystery. The bolt took effect near the right hip bone, burning the flesh in a round spot as large as one's hand, and from this running spirally to the left down the limb a streak an-inch broad was burned, to the foot. In passing off the whole side of the shoe was torn out. She was standing on a nail in the floor, at the time and the lightning melted this on its way out. Mrs. Gleason was confined to her bed at the time Miss Shaw left, but there seemed to be no doubt at that time, but that she would recover. This is the second person reported struck by lightning in Oregon this year, a rare occurrence indeed, but what makes this case remarkable is that there was apparently no loud thunder, indicating a close and heavy discharge of electricity.

A Small Fire.

Yesterday evening about 7 the alarm of fire was sounded, and in a moment half the town was running for the head of Washington street, where the Frizzell building was burning. It was occupied by Mr. Beck, and by the time the engines arrived was burning fiercely. The furniture and household goods were removed, but the building, though still standing, is a total loss. The fire caught from a candle which Mr. Beck's little boy left burning in a 'pin store' he and his sister had been keeping in the corner made by the ell outside the house. The fire department were pretty badly demoralized, a dispute occurring between Harper and Crate, who had the nozzle as to where the water should be applied. As a result a large portion of it was turned on one of the boys who was on a ladder, successfully and effectually extinguishing him. The department wants to have a meeting some night and settle the question as to who is to direct matters, especially the water.

A Burglar Around.

Last night between 10:30 and 11 o'clock Arthur Stubling, who delivers the Telegram, got through his work and went home. Late on account of the boat not arriving until dark, and it taking Arthur until nearly midnight to deliver the papers, Mr. and Mrs. Stubling have been in the habit of locking up the house and retiring, one of them getting up to let him in when he came home. This was done last night. Mrs. Stubling who got up, at once discovered the kitchen door was wide open, and as it had been bolted it was pretty evident that something was wrong. Arthur picked up a pistol and went to the back door, as he opened the screen door, a man jumped from the porch into the garden, and ran. Arthur fired but missed him. By this time Mr. Stubling had gotten out, and taking the pistol from Arthur he fired three or four ineffectual shots at the retreating burglar. About two weeks ago Mr. Stubling discovered a man in his garden about 10 o'clock in the evening. Thinking it might be some of the neighbors coming to the house he asked what was wanted and the fellow skipped. Charley feels highly flattered at the attention the burglars are paying him and expresses a desire to divide even if they find anything in his house in the shape of valuables, but would prefer to have his visitors come up and make search in the daytime.
