JULY JINGLINGS.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

This is St. Platypus day. The river is on a stand today at 39.5. Don't forget the Novelty Tea tonight, K. of P. hall.

County Clerk Kelsay took charge of that office this morning, with A. G. Johnson as deputy.

More than 400 sacks of wool were received at the Wasco warehouse today, about 160,000 pounds.

Sheriff Driver took possession of the books, papers, business and prisoners of the sheriff's office this morning.

The D. P. & A. N. Co. will carry passengers on the Fourth the round trip to the Cascades for $1 and to Hood River for 75 cents.

A dead horse in the water down by the coal bunkers is liable to lift the latter if he gets any stronger. It should be sent out to sea, and sent soon.

It is quite probable there will be no mail up tonight, unless it came up from Portland to the Locks yesterday, as the Union Pacific is not turning a wheel.

Mr. A. W. Patterson of the Heppner Gazette, is in the city. He tells us privately that he is not staying on account of the strike, but because he is infatuated with the place.

Sunday night a light sprinkle of rain fell which has continued nearly all day. The street sprinkler gets a rest, and the pedestrian picks up any desired quantity of Columbia river mud.

Through the kindness of Messrs. Sinnott & Fish the Smith Bros. have secured the dining room of the Umatilla house, for the night of July 4th and will give one of their old time parties.

Henry A. Brainard of San Francisco has sent Mr. Emil Schanno a lot of lady bugs, with instructions to put them on a tree infested with San Jose scale. It is claimed for them that they will exterminate that pest in short order.

The Baker was reported at the locks yesterday evening, which report was also denied. Another report is that she will be brought up today. This story is getting to be a genuine horse-chestnut, but if she can be brought up at all the water is at the right stage for it now.

The strike is on here, the firemen refused to work, even on the engines engaged in the work of repairing the lines.

The Union Pacific has one advantage over its competitors, at least for this part of the road. Its employes may strike, but they can't tie it up.

Mr. F. Chase brought us some specimens of cherries raised on his place on 3-Mile that are simply perfect. They are of the Royal Ann, Black Republican, Murilla and an unnamed variety. They furnish proof conclusive that this section is adapted to the growing of that kind of fruit as well as nearly all others.

Brigadier-General Otis, commanding the department of the Columbia, and Mayor Tully McCrae arrived here Saturday from Walla Walla, having completed a tour of inspection of the department. They were guests of the Umatilla house yesterday, and left by the Regulator for Vancouver this morning.

Hon. A. A. Jayne began the work of his office early, commencing at Mr. Wilson's request Saturday, by impaneling the jury in the case of the state against Maloney and Snelling. Eleven jurymen were secured Saturday afternoon, at which time the panel was exhausted and a special venire issued. The case is on trial today.

Recently we have been shown pear limbs taken from orchards near here which were afflicted with blight, the leaves being dead. Mr. Schanno tells us he sent some apple limbs similarly affected to a horticulturist in Portland who says the blight was caused by sudden falling of temperatures, followed by bright sunshine, or else, that there is too much water in the ground. The latter cause would be removed by under-draining.

Harvesting will commence in this and Sherman county this week. Several would have commenced today had the weather been clear. The volunteer will be cut first. Reports from Sherman county are to the effect that the very lowest yields of volunteer will not go below ten or twelve bushels to the acre, and the yield of fall and spring sown, both, will run from twenty to forty bushels. Sherman county will have two million bushels of wheat, alone.

The Burglar Fled.

Saturday night or Sunday morning, somewhere about midnight any way, the residents on Third, near Liberty, were aroused by a series of screams in a feminine voice, commencing in high C and running up to the fifth added line and then over the roof. Windows were raised and heads protruded therefrom, and soon Mr. W. S. Myers, Judd Fish and other neighbors had gathered at Mrs. Forward's place, where the trouble seemed to be. They had dressed hastily and were not in costume for an evening party, even of the kind; for some were in pants and slippers, while the ruffled pajama was all that others could boast. The trouble was caused by some bold tramp, who deliberately undertook to break in the door. Mrs. Forward looked out the upper window, and when she ordered the tramp away he replied with an oath that if she did not let him in he would smash the door, and then she screamed.

When the neighbors arrived she was of course much excited, and insisted to Mr. Fish that the burglar was still around. "Madam," said the imperturbable Judd, "when you screamed the second time he lit in Sherman county, and is now on the North Platte." No loss; no damage.

The Divinest Thing in Childhood.

The very finest expression on the face of a child or infant seems to me to be that of open-eyed and often open-mouthed curiosity and wonder. The objects of nature charm and entrance the soul, which for the moment becomes almost one with the face. This divinest thing in childhood, which only bad school methods can kill, which prompts the primeval experiments of infants in learning to use their senses, limbs, and minds upon nature, is the root of the spirit of research, which explores, pries, inquires so persistently, and often so destructively in older children, and comes to full maturity in the investigator behind the telescope or microscope, in the laboratory, seminary, library, or on exploring expeditions. At its best, this spirit of research has awe and reverence enough in it to give it a high and positive religious character, and the best and most characteristic feature about the new movement in higher education I am trying to describe is that its upward tendencies can best be characterized by the word "research," a word, alas, now more often praised than understood.—President G. Stanley Hall, in the July Forum.

A Sneak Thief at Work.

Saturday night some petty thief entered Mr. J. E. Barnett's residence between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning and got away with sixteen dollars. Entrance was made through a window, and the thief got away without being discovered. The money was taken from Mr. Barnett's pants pockets, and in the morning that garment was found in the kitchen door which was open. Tracks were found under the house and the imprint of hands and knees where the robber had hidden behind one of the posts on which the house rests. The thief was both considerate and careful for he left both Mr. and Mrs. Barnett's watches, and other jewelry which was lying on the bureau.

Repairing the Railroad Track.

About three hundred men are now stopping at Arlington with quite a lot of teams, also a work train. Arlington has more appearance of a mining camp than the quiet city it was two weeks ago. The empty houses are being used for sleeping quarters. The hotels are doing a rushing business. The saloons of an evening remind one of the days of '49.

While every person is anxious to have the road put in repair as soon as possible, the residents would be glad to keep the crowd here. Arlington is the only place where accommodation can be had nearer than The Dalles or Umatilla, and we presume the men will be kept there until the repairs are completed.

Oregon Again Ahead.

Under date of June 20th, the San Francisco Chronicle says: "The following young men from the Pacific coast will receive honors at the commencement of Notre Dame University tomorrow night: Bachelor of law, Roger B. Sinnott, The Dalles, Or.; Francis D. Hennessey, Portland, Or.; Michael McGarvey, Los Angeles. Sorin gold medal for Christian doctrine, J. B. Murphy, Port Townsend, Wash.

She Has Failed, so Far.

The steamer Baker has been trying to get over the rapids at the cascades all day, and has broken several cables in doing so. Shortly before 4 o'clock she parted a line, after getting half a length out of the canal, and is now lying back in the shelter of the locks. Opinions seem to differ widely among those watching her, the majority being of the opinion that she cannot make it.

COMMITTEE.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freemyre House, Middleburg, N. Y. on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many a bruise or sprain. This same remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

Pallor, languidness, and the appearance of ill-health being no longer fashionable among ladies, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is most largely resorted to as a tonic-alterative, nervous, stomachic, and builder-up of the system generally. This is as it should be. Ayer's is the best.
